RAIL BILLS NEAR A VOTE

SENATE MEASURE TO AVERT A STRIKE GIVES WAGE CONTROL TO U. S. COMMERCE COMMISSION

Washington, Sept. 1.—Bills to avert the railway strike actually were put on their way to passage today in both houses of congress.

Under a special rule providing for a vote not later than 4:30 this afternoon, the house took up the Adamson eight-hour day bill, approved by President Wilson and accepted by brotherhood leaders as a satisfactory settlement.

The senate committee reported a similar bill, which, however, contains an important provision empowering the interstate commerce commission to fix wage schedules on interstate railways.

It provides that the eight-hour day shall become effective January 1, 1917, that the present pay for the ten-hour day shall apply to the shorter day, that over time shall be paid pro rata, but adds that within not less than six months and not more than 12 months after its passage the interstate commerce commission shall assume jurisdiction of the question of hours and wages and that they shall be subject to petition for change from either the employers, the employes and the public.

Text of the Provision.

"That the interstate commerce commission shall have the power to fix the hours of labor and prescribe just and reasonable wages for all employes of the railroads. * * * The rate of wages and the hours of labor provided for in this act shall remain fixed for service and pay until changed by the decision of the interstate commerce commission, which within a period of not less than six months nor more than twelve months from the passage of this act, shall determine what are just and reasonable wages and what shall be the hours of labor for all employes of the roads above mentioned.

"The interstate commerce shall have the power from time to time to change the hours of labor and the rate of wages for all employes of the railroads. * * * Either in whole or in part, prescribed by it on its own initiative on the petition of the employes, of the managers of the railroads, or of the public."

Possibility for Hitch.

The possibility for a hitch seemed to be in this added provision, which is being studied by the leaders. The committee eliminated the proposal that on the report of the eight-hour day the interstate commerce commission "shall consider an increase of freight rates to meet such additional expenditures by the railroads affected as may have been rendered necessary by the adoption of the eight-hour day."

Neither of the two pending bills contains the Canadian commission plan, which the labor leaders oppose, and neither contains the government operation provision. President Wilson is willing to let those features wait until after enough legislation to avert the strike has been enacted.

Republicans to Have Bill.

Senate republicans decided today to frame a bill of their own and offer it as a substitute for the administration plan. A committee was appointed to draft it. No serious opposition to the administration plan was expected, however.

Senator La Follette, quitting the political campaign suddenly, returned to the capital today to take a hand in the legislation. He said he could not tell what his attitude toward the pending bills would be until he had investigated them.

The time for passage of the bills is so short that a filibuster might seriously interfere with the program. Democratic leaders, however, do not expect one and were confident the program would go through in time.

President Wilson told members of the cabinet at today's meeting that there was every prospect that the legislation would be passed by both houses of congress before tomorrow night.

Gives Power to Fix Wage Scales

With a provision authorizing the interstate commerce commission to fix schedules of wages on railroads, the senate interstate commerce committee today favorably reported the eight-hour day bill.

The Adamson bill was favorably reported by the house interstate commerce committee which amended it to make the eight-hour provisions effective January 1, next, instead of December 1, and so as to exempt electric railways.

The bill was immediately reported to the house which met at 11 o'clock. Meantime the rules committee held a meeting and without any changes, favorably reported the Kitchin rule providing for two hours of general debate on the bill and a vote on the bill and any amendments in the house at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Members of the rules committee said that under that rule the bill could be passed by the house shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Republican senators in a conference today decided to draft legislation of their own to offer as a substitute for that proposed by the democrats to avert the threatened strike.

Senator Norris, the first to leave the republican senate conference, said each member would be left free to act as he thought best. He said the conference had been devoted largely to explanations of the deliberations of the interstate commerce committee by Senators Cummins and Brandegee, who are members. Personally Senator Norris said he favored passage of the eight-hour bill, with a provision that the interstate commerce commission have power to regulate wages of all employes on all interstate carriers from presidents down, as well as rate increases. He said he saw no reason why the commission should not consider the added burden put on the carriers by the eight-hour day bill in considering requests for advanced freight rates.

Efforts still were being made to induce the brotherhoods to call off the strike order but they were standing firm not to do so unless the eight-hour bill becomes a law before Saturday midnight. They felt something might arise to defeat the measure and that they must guard against it by having the strike order stand.

Brotherhood leaders declared after a conference with Senator Newlands and others at the capitol that the eight-hour bill was certain of passing.

The senate interstate commerce committee got to work early on its bill for an eight-hour day and an investigating commission. In the house the rules committee assembled to report a special

HUGHES WILL VISIT THE G. A. R. VETERANS

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—The fiftieth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and the reunions of its auxiliary organization will come to a close today. A visit from Charles Evans Hughes, the republican presidential nominee, the election of national officers and their installation and the annual "camp fire" of the national association of ex-prisoners of war were to combine to make this one of the big days for the civil war veterans.

Mr. Hughes is to arrive here at 5:50 o'clock this afternoon. He will speak before 350 business men at a dinner and later make an address at convention hall, where reservations have been made for the Grand Army members.

Boston has been chosen as the meeting place for the Grand Army encampment next year.

GREEK LEGATION DOES NOT BELIEVE REPORT

Washington, Sept. 1.—Reports of the abdication of the Greek king were discounted today at the Greek legation because, it was declared, the dispatches came from Saloniki, which is controlled by the allies, and through the British censorship at London.

It was thought strange that the king should have seen the French, English and Russian ministers only yesterday if he planned abdication. Though commercial dispatches are received here from Athens almost daily, nothing political has come through for six weeks. Yesterday a commercial dispatch came from Premier Zaimis on a minor matter.

THREE ARE DEAD IN AMMONIA EXPLOSION

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—Three men are dead and a fourth is in a critical condition as the result of ammonia explosion in a downtown meat market here today. More than a hundred gallons of ammonia were released when the explosion, the cause of which was unknown, completely wrecked the private refrigeration plant.

The dead are G. W. E. Neuer, one of the owners of the market; Al Bergman, and Michael Yehl, engineers. Ernest Neuer, another one of the owners, may die.

CONSTANTINE QUITS THRONE

GREECE IN THROES OF A REVOLUTION

Today's War News Given in Summary

The abdication of King Constantine of Greece is reported by the official representative at Saloniki of the British press. He cables to London that the king has abdicated in favor of Crown Prince George and that former Premier Venizelos, leader of the party which favors intervention by Greece with the entente allies, will be the power behind the throne. The correspondent regards it as uncertain whether the entente allies wish the assistance of Greece.

The surrender of three Greek garrisons in Macedonia to a committee, the nature of which is not indicated clearly, is reported from Saloniki. Other dispatches say there has been fighting between Greek regulars and volunteer forces. French troops are reported to have interfered to prevent serious disturbances in the Saloniki region.

Rumanian troops are continuing, apparently without serious interruption their invasion of Hungary. Official announcement was made at Bucharest that the advance is being carried on successfully in all directions and that the important industrial center of Petroseny, and Tarlunge valley near Kronstadt, have been occupied. Dispatches from Austrian army headquarters have indicated the decision of the central powers to evacuate part of Transylvania in order to shorten the fighting front.

The French war office announced today that with the exception of artillery actions at various points there had been no heavy fighting in the last 24 hours. Apparently the forces on both sides are awaiting the readjustment of political conditions in the Balkans.

Bulgaria's expected declaration of war on Rumania is announced at Saloniki, according to an unofficial dispatch from that point.

On the Frenchfront fighting has died down although the artillery was very active last night in the Somme sector.

London, Sept. 1.—King Constantine of Greece has abdicated, according to the British official press representative at Saloniki.

The press representative says the king has abdicated in favor of the crown prince, with Venizelos as the power behind the throne. The new policy, he reports, will be to work with the entente allies. According to this information, Premier Zaimis will remain at the head of the government.

The correspondent questions whether the entente allies desire the active assistance of Greece.

Garrisons Surrender.

The surrender of several Greek garrisons to a commission which has taken over the administration of part of Greek Macedonia is reported in a Reuter dispatch from Saloniki.

According to this dispatch the garrisons at Saloniki, Vodena and Fort Little Karaburn have surrendered to the commission.

Various rumors are in circulation here in regard to the situation in Greece. Reuter dispatches from Saloniki say there has been fighting between the Greek garrison at Saloniki and Greek volunteers recently organized to assist the Greek regulars who are resisting the

Interior of Building is Redecorated for First Time Since 1904.

During the month of August, when the Fort Wayne public library was closed, the entire interior of the building was redecorated and repainted, and Friday morning, when the doors were again opened the walls and ceiling, as well as the woodwork, presented a very pretty scene. This is the first time since the building has been standing that the interior was repainted.

The decorations are very neat, but very simple. Only two tints of paint were used, yet it appears very artistic.

The large oak railing on the third floor which heretofore had been painted white to imitate marble, has been restored to its original color. The south portion of the hallway on the third floor has been partitioned off and converted into a small room, where the government publications are to be kept.

The following notice is posted on the door of the library: "By order of the board of public health, all children under sixteen years of age will not be allowed in the public library or the south side branch until the schools reopen. Borrowers of books who come under this rule must have their books returned by older people."

WAS PLAYMATE OF GARFIELD.

Indianapolis, Sept. 1.—James H. Baldwin, 81, a pioneer of Indianapolis, is dead at his home here. Heart failure was the immediate cause of death. Mr. Balwin, a former merchant, retired years ago. He was a charter member of the Indiana national guard, only four charter members now being alive, and also one of the first members of Scottish Rite Masonry in this state. He was post noble grand master of the I. O. O. F. Among his boyhood playmates were James A. Garfield. A widow and five chilren survive.

WIFE HANGS SELF TWO WEEKS AFTER HUSBAND.

Greensburg, Ind., Sept. 1—Two weeks after Nathan Snullen hanged himself, his wife, Anna, 55, was found hanging in the basement of the home of Charles Goebel, a relative, early today. Since her husband's death she had been worrying and was to have been taken to a sanitarium today. She was heard in her room a few hours before her body was found.

STRANGE FLOWER IS DRAWING ATTENTION

The rare night-blooming cereus plant at the home of Mrs. J. Sion Smith drew crowds of neighbors in the Lakeside district to the Smith home, 1125 Elmwood street, Thursday night, to see the first bloom of the plant for this season.

The plant blooms about every three years. There are several blossoms this season on the plant, which is rarely found outside of the southwest. It is a native of Mexico. Three buds are expected to bloom Friday night.

The large flowers, which are lily shaped, open only after darkness falls. They fade with the first streaks of dawn. They are much larger than a lily and of pure white. Far back in the funnel of the flower is to be seen two dainty formations shaped like a star and a cradle, which are held to be delicate symbols of the birth of the Christ child.

TENSION OF THREATENED STRIKE KEENLY FELT HERE

Tension of the threatened railroad strike is keenly felt in Fort Wayne. Delay due to a strike would mean hardship in many lines. Supplies have been shut off because big shippers have cornered cars in anticipation of the hold-up.

Fear that the railroad tie-up would paralyze the city is causing the purchase of supplies at advanced prices where possible.

Work of improving Fort Wayne streets, and paving work being carried on all over the city, will stop next week in case of the strike. Materials cannot be brought to the city because freight cars are being used by the biggest shippers of the country to rush their goods over the land before the strike breaks. Word from the quarries and store houses is that no cars for shipping can be had.

The supply of concrete on hand will last but three days if the strike comes, City Engineer Randall gave out Friday. Crushed rock cannot be had from the quarries of Bluffton, Montpelier or Hartford City, and gravel cars are even inaccessible.

If the strike is delayed and threatening clouds continue to hover over the country, the disaster to small shippers and to contractors depending upon Indiana resources for their materials will be as great as if the strike is actually called, Randall believes.

Coal dealers of the city say that their advanced orders for coal are being held up for the same reason, that cars are not to be had. The fact that fuel prices are raising is not due to the threatened strike, dealers say.

GIRL AT GARRETT IN ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 1.—Miss Madge Quinn, of Albion, 23 years old, was found unconscious last evening in the lavatory of the interurban station here from the effects of inhaling chloroform apparently with suicidal intent. This morning she was very much improved and denies most emphatically that she had made any attempt to end her life.

Miss Quinn has been in Garrett for two or three days and has made several unsuccessful attempts to purchase chloroform from local drugstores. She had sent several small boys for it only to be turned down. Last evening, however, she called at the office of Dr. M. E. Klingler and asked to be treated for asthma. While the doctor was in an adjoining room Miss Quinn took from one of the shelves a six-ounce bottle containing chloroform and left, going direct to the interurban station two doors away.

Some time later attaches of the station detected the odor of chloroform and the night marshal was immediately summoned. Miss Quinn was found in the women's lavatory. She was unconscious and wrapped around her nose was a handkerchief saturated with chloroform. In her purse were found several morphine tablets, a hypodermic syringe, and a bottle containing adrenolin chloride, frequently used in the treatment of asthma.

Miss Quinn is a daughter of Mrs. Mary Lang, of Albion. Her father resides in Kansas, the parents separating some years ago. While she denied this morning that she had attempted suicide she admitted that she had been extremely despondent.

WHIRLWIND FINISH FOR AUGUST FIRES

Twenty of the Twenty-Four Calls Received Since Middle of Month.

August went out in a blaze of petty fires, for the average of fire calls during the past five days has been three alarms per day. Fire loss for the month is $1,440, with but $200 loss before August 18. Nearly all the fires were late in the month.

Loss of $1,000 to the Central foundry, 1921 East Wayne street, when the big shaft was burned by a malicious hand, it is thought, is accountable for the total damage of nearly $1,500. There were three false alarms during the month.

Fire loss during August in 1915 was but $572. Fifteen runs were made during that month. In 1914, two years ago, there were twenty-one calls and total loss of $32,924. A building on Holman street, belonging to the Brown Trucking company, burned at a loss of $14,000 during August, 1914, and the warehouse of the Paul Manufacturing company, corner of Harrison and Sixth streets, was damaged to the extent of more than $17,000.

LAD OF FIVE YEARS DIES OF INJURIES

Delay R. Burd, of Near Hicksville, Was Struck by Piece of Wood.

Delay R. Burd, aged five years, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Burd, residing near Hicksville, Ohio, died Friday morning at the Lutheran hospital from injuries received when a piece of wood fell on him nearly two weeks ago. He underwent an operation at the family home a few days after the accident and Wednesday he was removed to the local hospital, where he submitted to another surgical operation.

The surgeons found that the large piece of wood had been the cause of rupturing a blood vessel in the little boy's abdomen.

No one was near when the accident occurred. The lad was piling up wood near his home. Screams were heard and when his father arrived at the scene a large piece of wood was lying on top the little boy.

JUDGE FINDS RED LIGHTS.

Judge Richard Erwin, 1010 Lake avenue, started from his front door Friday morning and found two big lanterns blinking their bright read danger signals in the misty dawn. He has asked police to help him find where the lanterns were procured. The judge has been informed that the red lights were on the porch from midnight till Friday morning.

SAY NEW LAW WILL TOPPLE

Roads Confident It Cannot Stand the Test of the High Courts.

WILL NOT ACCEPT WITHOUT A FIGHT

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Counsel for the various railroads are said to have informed the presidents of the roads that the Adamson bill is patently unconstitutional as being confiscatory and class legislation.

"Our lawyers," said F. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, "informally and individually, have expressed the opinion that the Adamson bill if passed will crumble at the first legal blast. If the bill passes the president our counsel will confer formally as to legal procedure. It is illogical to assume that the railroads will abandon their principles merely because they are attacked by congress instead of directly by the brotherhoods."

Will Not Stand Test.

R. H. Aishton, president of the Chicago and Northwestern, said the railroads would obey the law, but that he did not believe it would stand the test of the courts. A statement was issued at publicity headquarers of the railroads that preparations for strike next Monday were proceeding without regard to prospects of congressional action.

Officials of the four railroad brotherhoods began massing their forces here today to direct the impending strike. G. A. Gregg, vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, arrived from Roanoke, Va., and James Murdock, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Trainmen, and Timothy Shea, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen are to reach here later today. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad was notified today that the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors on the section of that system between Chicago and the Missouri river had voted not to strike.

Will Demand a Test.

There was every indication today that the railroads would decline to accept without a test in the United States supreme court the eight hour bill designed to prevent the rail strike.

The plan today as a result of conferences last night among presidents of a number of leading railroads was that no claim of unconstitutionality would be interposed, but should the measure be enacted it will be studied by the railroad lawyers and if they deem it advisable they will make a test case in the courts.

"If the men accept the measure it probably will mean the postponement of the strike," was the statement of E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe. "Such action, however, will mean but a

Pittsburg, Sept. 1.—In order to advise officials of the railroad brotherhoods in the Pittsburg district should a strike be called and to preserve perfect order three of the higher officials of the trainmen's organizations opened headquarters today and will keep in close touch with the numerous locals here.

BUILDING PERMITS SHOW CITY'S BOOM

Ninety-one permits showing building operations to the extent of $259,940 for the month of August makes a gain of nearly $100,000 over the same month in 1915. The figures as compiled by Andrew App, deputy building inspector, show an increase of nearly a million dollars in the first eight months of this year over the same period of 1915.

Records show that 577 permits have been granted this year compared with 511 permits in 1915. Cost of building in 1916 is $2,187,401 compared with $1,318,245 for the first eight months a year ago. Thirty-seven more permits, and $83,410 expended in the issuance for the month of August

A REAL BARGAIN

I have a strip 90x300 feet in McKinnie Park Place, (the grove). This lies a little more than a square from the end of the new extension of Hanna street pavement from Rudisill Boulevard to McKinnie avenue, (now ordered by the council.) This piece of ground is beautifully wooded with fine large forest trees. The ground faces 90 feet on Hanna street and 90 feet on Monroe. This can be made into four fine lots 45x145, or can be left for large residence grounds. Less desirable lots without trees in that locality are now selling for $250 each, and as this part of the city is growing fast, you can see that this property will grow. The owner of this has special reason for selling and will let it go at less than it cost a few weeks ago.

SENATE MEASURE TO AVERT STRIHE

rule and have it ready for the public when it met at 11 o'clock, providing for a vote on the Adamson bill not later than 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The Adamson bill has been approved by the president and the heads of the railway brotherhoods have said that its passage by both houses of congress will be considered a satisfactory settlement.

Barring unforeseen complications it seemed assured today that congress would act finally before Saturday night and in time for the brotherhood heads to call off the strike set for 7 o'clock Monday morning.

May Be Passed Today.

Measures which will result in rescinding orders for a railway strike next Monday may be passed by the house and senate under special rule today and within twenty-four hours may be on their way to receive President Wilson's signature. Both houses had under consideration virtually identical bills establishing an eight-hour day for trainmen in interstate railway commerce and providing for creation of a commission to study the effect. President Wilson was on hand to press for their immediate passage. He set aside the morning for a personal visit to the capitol to focus the administration's influence in behalf of his proposals.

Some republican opposition was looked for, particularly in the house, but it was believed by congressional leaders this would be insufficient to prevent passage. In the senate there was pronounced feeling that the entire program proposed originally by the president should receive immediate consideration. The house was to meet at 11 o'clock and vote finally on the Adamson bill, introduced yesterday with approval of the administration, at 4:30 in the afternoon. The senate was to convene at 10 o'clock to take up the bill on which the interstate commerce commission worked throughout the night, after an all-day hearing.

What Bills Provide.

Both house and senate bills would provide for payment of prorata wages for time over the eight hours and both, which have the investigating commission of three members, appointed by the president, report its recommendation in from six to nine months after the law becomes effective. This date is set at December 1 by the house bill and January 1 by the senate bill. The senate measure also would exempt railroads less than 100 miles long and electric and interurban lines. The house would allow $25,000 for the commission and the senate $50,000.

President Wilson arranged to leave at 3 p. m. for his summer home at Long Branch, L. I., where he will be notified of his nomination tomorrow and a special messenger will be dispatched to him with the bill when it is passed.

Brotherhood leaders have reaffirmed their intention of considering proposals of the eight hour bill a satisfactory settlement, and have promised to call off the strike if it is enacted before tomorrow night. Speaker Clark believes congress can adjourn by Wednesday if the strike legislation is disposed of tomorrow.

President Wilson went to the capitol shortly after 9 o'clock to confer with senate and house leaders on legislation to prevent the threatened strike. He planned to urge as much speed as possible in the consideration of the legislation.

Senate Takes Recess.

When the senate convened a recess was almost immediately taken until 1 p. m. to permit the interstate commerce committee to continue its work of drafting the strike prevention legislation and permit republican members to confer on the proposed bills.

President Wilson spent almost an hour conferring with democratic members and then returned to the white house. Definite abandonment of the plan to attach the railroad strike legislation to the pending bill to enlarge the interstate commerce commission was agreed to by the senate committee. The president explained his presence at the capitol by saying, "I am just keeping the threads together."

Kern Outlines Plans.

Majority Leader Kern said after the president's visit the democrats would concentrate on the eight hour bill and put over the rest of the railroad legislation until next week. Many democrats felt there would be little disposition among the republicans to filibuster against the eight hour bill in view of the present situation. The senate committee determined there was too much opposition to the interstate commerce commission enlargement bill to risk attaching it to the emergency legislation. As the bill stood this morning the senate committee had agreed that the new commission should "consider an increase in freight rates to meet such additional expenditures by the railroads affected as may have been rendered necessary by the adoption of the eight hour day and which have not been offset by administrative readjustments and economies, should the facts disclosed justify the increase."

Some Opposition Expected.

Some members were seriously inclined to the belief that such definite direction regarding the rate question would provoke opposition in the senate by the progressive republicans particularly which would make quick passage of the bill impossible.

Senator Newlands said the committee also was considering including a provision to empower the inter-state commerce commission to fix the schedule of wages upon railroads.

"We will have to do this some time and might as well do it now," he said. He also was inclined to urge the committee to include in the eight hour bill some features of the proposed amendment to the arbitration act which would prevent future strikes during investigation. There seemed to be little prospect that the committee would agree to that because of the certainty that it would provoke opposition.

Wilson is Convinced.

President Wilson, it was said, had become convinced that the only thing that could be done at once was the passage of the eight hour bill and had urged that the senate bill adhere as closely as possible to the Adamson bill in the house. As agreed upon today the senate bill would make the eight hour basic day effective Jan. 1, 1917, and apply to railroads of one hundred miles or more in length, exempting electric and street interurban railways.

By 1 o'clock the bill was expected to be ready for the senate. While the house rules committee was working the house inter-state commerce commission met and favorably reported the Adamson bill.

Expect It to Be Called Off.

A. B. Garretson, spokesman for the railroad brotherhoods, held a brief conference with President Wilson today. When the left the white house he refused absolutely to say why he had called. The president kept the cabinet waiting while he talked with Mr. Garretson.

White house officials said Mr. Garretson had called to give the president "some information." Mr. Garretson refused to say whether he discussed the calling off of the strike. There was every indication, however, that the administration expected the strike to be called off before Sunday morning.

Bulgarians in Macedonia. French troops intervened to suppress the fighting and the garrison finally surrendered and marched out of Saloniki.

On its face this dispatch indicates that a revolution is under way in Greece but the message is worded so vaguely, probably on account of the censorship, that no definite conclusions can be drawn. There have been various indications since the entrance of Rumania into the war of political turmoil in Greece, owing to the conflict between the neutralists represented by King Constantine and those who desire to intervene in the war with the entente allies, led by former Premier Venizelos. An Athens dispatch received yesterday predicted that Greece would abandon neutrality within the immediate future. It has been represented that King Constantine was finding his position difficult on account of the growing strength of the pro-entente faction, and it was reported from Saloniki in a dispatch filed on Tuesday that the king had fled to Larissa, where he was under the protection of German soldiers. This report, however, was discredited in official circles in London.

There is in existence in Greece a committee representing the liberal or Venizelist faction, and it is possible that the Greek garrison surrendered to this or some similar body. The committee was appointed on Sunday, on the occasion of the demonstration of 50,000 Greeks before the residence of M. Venizelos in Athens and was instructed to present to the king resolutions warning him not to interfere in the coming elections and to prepare the army for a possible rupture of existing conditions.

The part of Greek Macedonia in which the forts mentioned are located is in northern Greece, close behind the front on which the entente allies are fighting the Bulgarians and their allies. Vodena is on the railroad line between Saloniki and Monastir, an important means of communication for the entente allies. It is forty-five miles west of Saloniki. Fort Little Karaburun is on the Gulf of Saloniki, about ten miles south of the city.

Ward Price, to whom the dispatch telling of the abdication is credited, is the official British press representative designated by the government to act for all British publications in that area. Nevertheless his dispatches are subject not only to the Greek censorship but to the French military censorship which controls all lines of communication from Athens. The fact that both censorships, as well as the British censorship in London have permitted this dispatch to come through is significant.

On Tuesday Mr. Price sent from Saloniki a report that King Constantine had fled from Athens to Larissa. This dispatch was discredited in London official circles. Doubt also appeared to be cast on its correctness by dispatches filed from Athens Wednesday, one of them telling of coming meetings between the king and the entente ministers and others having to do with the illness of the king, who recently underwent a slight operation. It is possible, however, that the king may have departed secretly from Athens, as reported by Mr. Price and that his absence was concealed from the newspaper correspondents there.

DECLARES WAR ON RUMANIA.

London, Sept. 1.—(1:25 p. m.)—Bulgaria has declared war on Rumania, according to an official announcement made at Saloniki, as forwarded by Reuter's correspondent there.

Five successive attacks were made by German troops last night on British positions on the Somme front. The war office announced today that the Germans penetrated the British defense on a small frontage at two points between Ginchy and Highwood.

GERMAN AIRSHIPS SHOT DOWN.

Paris, Sept. 1.—Four German aeroplanes were shot down yesterday on the Somme front and another was captured, the war office announced today. French artillery was very active during the night in the Somme sector.

Competent authorities estimated that about 500,000 Germans have been disabled in the Verdun region alone since February 21, the beginning of the great German offensive. The total number of wounded prisoners taken in the Verdun sector and in the neighborhood of the Somme exceeds 43,000.

RUSSIANS MAKE CAPTURE.

Petrograd, Sept. 1.—(Via London, 2:46 p. m.)—In the course of battles yesterday on the western Russian front, says the Russian official statement of today, the Russians captured 289 officers and 15,501 men. Of this number 2,400 were Germans.

RUMANIANS FORGE FORWARD.

Bucharest, Aug. 30.—(Via London, Sept. 1, 7:45 a. m.)—Rumanian troops invading Transylvania have occupied the important industrial center of Petroseny and the Tarlung valley, near Kronstadt, says the announcement of the Rumania war office.

GERMANS MAKE GAINS.

Leopold, of Bavaria, Directs German Armies on Russian Front.

Berlin, Sept. 1.—(Via London, 5:33 p. m.)—German troops on the Somme front in France yesterday as the result of a counter attack, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters' staff, regained the ground they previously had lost near Longueval and Delville wood.

In today's German official statement Prince Leopold, of Bavaria, appears as the director of the German armies on the Russian front, which had been controlled by Field Marshal von Hindenburg before he was appointed chief of the imperial general staff.

Preparations Go Forward.

Preparations of the railroads for operation of trains in the event of a strike, went on today, notwithstanding the proposed legislation at Washington. Employment agents are busy hiring men for the railroad companies and advertisements appeared in newspapers in many cities, soliciting applications from experienced engineers, conductors, brakemen, firemen and switchmen.

The embargo on freight announced yesterday by every trunk line in the country was not materially changed today, with the exception of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, which modified the embargo on perishable freight. Instructions went out from the general offices at Topeka, Kan., last night to accept shipments of perishable merchandise to arrive at its destination later than Sunday. Livestock shipments are expected from the new order.

Food prices in this city, with a few exceptions, have not been materially affected as a result of the threatened tie up of the transportation facilities of the country.

FOOD PRICES LEAP UPWARD.

New York Gets Bitter Foretaste of Strike Conditions.

New York, Sept. 1.—The ultimate consumer got a bitter foretaste of strike conditions in a sharp advance in prices of food. Dealers attributed the raise to embargoes on perishable products put into effect last night by several railroads and prospects of a serious shortage of supplies as soon as the strike is called. These freight embargoes will be extended tonight and tomorrow night according to notices issued by the railroads unless the strike menace disappears before the end of the week.

At the big public markets here garden products advanced ten cents and dairy products reached new high records. Butter went to 35½ cents a pound, 7¾ cents above the quotations of last year at this time and the highest price in the last twenty-five years.

Seek Means to Check It.

The New York city authorities are considering means to check exorbitant prices and although doubt as to their legal rights in this it has been suggested that the board of aldermen establish a price fixing commission. Action was delayed in the face of news from Washington indicating more cheerful prospects in the railroad situation.

Congressional leaders have in their possession today messages forwarded by three prominent New York organizations opposing "hasty action" to prevent a strike. The chamber of commerce has sent a resolution declaring that emergency legislation passed in advance of complete study "will be fraught with far-reaching and incalculable danger to the whole body politic." The merchants' association protested against action until congress obtains full information. The bankers' association sent a protest against action by congress fixing rates of wages and working hours of railroad employes.

No statements have come from railroad headquarters here regarding the employment of strike-breakers but according to the agencies which have been mustering these emergency workers, there are several thousands of them already in the city. Railroad officials say they are flooded with applications for jobs from former employes.

PASTOR WOULD HAVE CHURCH ROOF GARDEN FOR USE IN SUMMER.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 1.—A church with a roof garden, including flowers, comfortable chairs, lights, and only the sky overhead is the dream Rev. Harry V. Foster, of Dundee Presbyterian church, Omaha, cherishes as the ideal church of the future.

"If churches would build roof gardens for use on summer evenings, ministers would not be preaching to empty pews and moving picture houses would not be doing so thriving a business," he says.

Rev. Foster favors building roof gardens over the Sunday school and study rooms rather than over the main auditorium. When the project of a new proposed $80,000 church comes up among his parishioners, he says he stands pat for a roof garden.

"Hotels and apartment houses are looking after the comfort of their patrons with roof gardens. Why not the churches?" he asks.

Rev. Foster is a lover of baseball, golf and tennis; a horticulturist and gardener of some note, and an expert on chicken raising.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DUKE WAS GIVEN AN IMPOSING FUNERAL

Paris, Aug. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The Duke of Rohan, killed in the battle of the Somme, has had one of the most imposing funerals seen in France during the war. It was not only a tribute to the heroic young nobleman, but a public recognition that the sons of the old nobility of France are fighting for the republic with the same ardor that the old nobility fought for the kings.

The Rohans are among the famous old fighting families of France. They fought at the siege of La Rochelle. They were among the musketeers of Louis XIV. One of them was known as the "Young Hero" in the seven year war. Another became a bishop and built the famous palace at Strassburg, which is still an architectural wonder. But while aristocrats, they shared the views of Lafayette and other French noblemen, admiring republican institutions, and the present generation of the family has been one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the republic.

The young Duke of Rohan first showed his republican sympathies by becoming a member of the chamber of deputies. But he was no sooner elected than the war broke out, and he entered the republican army as a second lieutenant. One day when home on leave he visited the corridors of the chamber and heard a deputy spouting politics to a circle of listeners. The duke murmured dissent to some of the political statements, whereupon the deputy angrily exclaimed:

"This war has brought a great many strangers to the surface. I do not know this strange young man who dissents."

"I am sorry you do not know me," said the duke. "Le me introduce myself as one of your colleagues of the chamber of deputies, member for L'Aube. If you have not seen me there, it is because I have been at the front and have not set my foot in the chamber since the war began."

A little later the duke returned to the front, where he is credited with one of the notable dare-devil undertakings of the war. While out reconnoitering as a cavalry lieutenant, he arrived along with his orderly at an inn where a hundred Prussian soldiers had taken possession and were having a drunken orgie. Warned by a peasant, the duke would not turn back. Entering the place brusquely, and speaking in German, in imperative tones he commanded the party to surrender, as the house was surrounded on all sides.

Surprised by the sudden apparition, interrogated by a firm voice of command, and hearing the orderly with his horses outside, the revellers resigned themselves, gave up their arms and submitted as prisoners, until a French cavalry patrol, warned of what had occurred, arrived to escort the hundred prisoners of a single hero.

This is the story, as told of the young Duke of Rohan, and passing current as one of the realties of the war. That it is authentic is evident from the fact that it won him the Legion of Honor and placed the stamp of government recognition on the audacious achievement.

PRINCE MAHIDOL COMES FOR MEDICAL EDUCATION, NOT FOR WIFE.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 1.—His Royal Highness Somdet Chao Fa Mahidol, Krom Khun Songkla, 24 years old, an Oxford graduate, has come to the United States to round out his education. Interpreting his many-word title, he is Prince Mahidol, of Siam, third brother of King Chawfa Maha Vajiravudh, and one of the many grandsons of the late sovereign, Chulalongkorn.

The prince speaks half a dozen languages fluently, including English and German. He is smiling and dapper, inclined to be democratic.

"I am not looking for an American wife," he announced. "I am going to look over a dozen American universities and then specialize in tropical diseases."

The extent of polygamy is being cut down in Siam, he said, there being fewer harems. He is opposed to the plural marriage system and, like his brother, the king, has developed bachelor ideas.

He has a large, independent income, part of which is derived from the rental of a number of small islands, on which sea swallows make nests of an edible nature.

The prince will visit western cities in a private car before going east.

1. Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me.
2. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.
3. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also.
4. And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know.
5. Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way?
6. Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.
7. If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him.
8. Phillip saith unto him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us.
9. Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father?
10. Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works.
11. Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake.

Mr. Fairbanks Accepts

Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks has never been regarded as a statesman with any propensity whatever for "rocking the boat," and his address in formal acceptance of the republican nomination for the vice presidency, delivered at Indianapolis, Thursday, will not in any sense prove an inspiring clarion call to his party. It wholly lacked snap and that quality which we have come to call "ginger." It followed closely the beaten paths of old-time political leadership, offering a semblance of impressive profoundity which was general in character and not too pronouncedly committal rather than the program of the progressive thought of the day as it applies to governmental affairs. Doudtless Mr. Fairbanks reasoned that, as Mr. Hughes has been chosen as the republican pace-maker, there was small occasion for the second-place man on the ticket to indulge in any bursts of speed, and his sense of propriety precluded an attempt to dim the glory of his chieftain by any more effulgent or attention-compelling utterance. At any rate, he gave us nothing of that sort.

Mr. Fairbanks devoted no small part of his address to the tariff question, arguing for the restoration of the republican policy of protection in its old-time altitude and attempting to demonstrate that the Underwood tariff, the Wilson administration and democracy in general had proven a most egregious failure. This was by no means an easy or a particularly desirable task, but Mr. Fairbanks essayed it. He is plainly dissatisfied with the president's Mexican policy, but here again is noticed, as in the case of similar addresses from other republican sources, a painful absence of constructive program offered as an alternative.

Mr. Fairbanks is an able man with long experience in public life. He was a candidate for the republican presidential nomination, and he yielded to take the second place on the ticket only under much duress. He very gracefully and very appropriately conceals the keen disappointment that must have been his in being denied the leadership which he so much desired, and which his friends—particularly his Indiana friends—labored so diligently to secure for him. Mr. Fairbanks' speech of acceptance, however it may be received by his party and by the public generally, does not do him justice. He could have made a much better one from the eminence of a presidential nomination, which he ardently sought, than from his position in comparative retirement on the tail of the ticket.

The unhappy spectacle of a frenzied mob seeking to take the law into its own hands—to wreak summary vengeance upon some wretch whose hideous crime has inflamed public indignation to a point beyond restraint—is not altogether a novelty in this country. Such things have occurred, occasionally. But for that lawless gathering to turn in its ferocity against its own sworn servant of the law, who in thwarting its efforts by spiriting away the object of its wrath until judgment could cool and reason reign again was clearly performing his sworn duty is simply incredible. Yet that is precisely what happened in the enlightened and progressive and law-abiding city of Lima, Ohio, the other night. Sheriff Sherman Eley barely escaped with his life. He was subjected to serious violence, to threats of lynching, and most brutally mauled and tortured for the sole reason that, in accord with his high conception of official duty, he sought to maintain the majesty of the law and to prevent the placing of an enduring stain upon the name of his city and his state. When those who constituted that mob at Lima come to their senses they must feel impelled to hide their faces in utter shame. When calmer moments permit them to see the henious character of their own conduct, they will see, too, the splendid heroism, the dauntless courage and the superb citizenship of Sheriff Eley. Whether it will ever be possible to make adequate reparation for the treatment to which he was subjected, is extremely doubtful. But Lima owes it to its self-respect to make the attempt, at least, and the first logical step to be taken is the application of punishment of the sternest character to the assailants of Sheriff Eley.

One of the favorite relaxations these days among the politicians is the registering of guesses on the November result, and a recent estimate of "doubtful" states putes these in the list: Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, New York, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico and Wyoming, with a total of 155 electoral votes. This is the time, also when one guess is entitled to about as much credence as another, so if the list doesn't suit you, feel perfectly free to fix up your own.

Still, it's rather cheering to be told that there's one railroad line that hasn't been worrying over the prospects of a strike. The line extending from Huntington to Portland is just moving along in happy unconcern. Its trainmen number but three and its motive power consists of the sum total of one gasoline motor car. This road is in position to simply defy trouble to touch it.

And just in case that in the stress of working every moment of the time at his job, President Wilson may have neglected to take note of the fact, he will be told tomorrow that he has been renominated.

E. A. K. HACKETT.

(Muncie Press.)

The entire newspaper fraternity of the state will join with the people of Fort Wayne in expressing regret for the death of E. A. K. Hackett, veteran publisher of the Fort Wayne Sentinel, which occurred following an operation in St. Joseph's hospital at Fort Wayne Monday afternoon.

Mr. Hackett was a credit to his chosen profession and to the state of Indiana. In addition to conducting one of the cleanest newspapers in the state, he was noted for his work of philanthropy and his genuine Christian character. His works of charity were not confined to Fort Wayne alone, but were known elsewhere, even too, where he spent a portion of the time in his later years and was especially interested in the welfare of boys and young men. In addition to his newspaper Mr. Hackett was the publisher of numerous hymn books and other religious works. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and prominently connected with the Winona assembly.

Mr. Hackett was the real type of self made man. He started life as a printer and gained success through hard and honest effort. He was born in New Bloomfield, Pa., sixty-five years ago and after receiving a common school education became a journeyman printer, working in a number of Pennsylvania towns. Later he came to Indiana and with his savings purchased a half interest in the Bluffton Banner. In a few years he purchased the other half interest in the paper and in 1880 he went to Fort Wayne and bought the Sentinel. His fortunes gradually rose with those of his paper and his home city, until he became one of the most influential and highly respected citizens of his section of the state. Mr. Hackett will be missed by Fort Wayne.

AN INDUSTRY WITH A STOUT GRIP.

(Toledo Blade.)

The freight bill on the food and munitions they buy in America bears heavily on the shoulders of the entente powers. But it is noticeable that, with all their seizures of private property, the commandeering of private energy and the fixing of prices on commodities privately handled, these powers leave the shipping industry severely alone.

The carrying trade has long had much to say in the government of Great Britain. For many years, it managed to prevent parliament from interfering with a lucrative business in overloading old ships and sending them to sea, heavily insured, in the almost certain prospect that they would never come back. The industry managed to whitewash the ownership of the Titanic. It has kept people from protesting against freight charges four to six times heavier than they were before the war. And as what Britain says goes with its allies, the British shipping trade loses no sleep over worrying about interference.

Whatever criticism may be made of American industries, it may be said that not one of them is so powerful as to dictate to the government, so strong that it is immune to attack.

NEW CHARITY HEAD NAMED

Indianapolis, Sept. 1. — The executive committee of the Charity Organization society has announced the appointment of Eugene Cary Foster, former assistant superintendent of Lakeside hospital, Cleveland, O., to succeed Charles S. Grout who retired recently as general secretary of the local organization. Mr. Foster formerly was superintendent of the Cleveland Associated Charities and was recommended by James F. Jackson, under whom he received his training, and by Francis H. McLean, general secretary of the American Association of Societies for Organizing Charity.

Mr. Foster was selected after the committee had investigated a number of applications and it is believed that he is the best fitted for working out a general scheme for more harmonious work and a more thorough co-operation among Indianapolis charities. He will take up his duties here about Oct. 1.

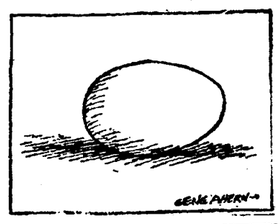
AIN'T NATURE WONDERFUL?

Unnatural History, by Eugene Ahern.

THE EGG.

An egg is an egged-shaped object.

It is kept in this shape by a shell, but after the shell is rent asunder the majority of eggs are in an awful shape.



Columbus got into an argument with some boneheads and asked them if they could stand an egg on its end.

Being boneheads and unable to think (like politicians) they didn't know how.

So he just took the egg and broke one end and stood it up.

Ah! ha! now we know how Chris found out the world was round. That egg was one of those eggs that didn't improve with age and Chris hot-footed down to the beach, hopped into a launch and chugged and rowed and sailed trying to get away from the horrific aroma of the egg.

Before he knew it, he had sailed clean 'round the world and came back on the other side of his native spaghetti land. Hurry up, George, produce the needle!

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Perosns and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Rev. Stephen A. Northrop will return from his Michigan vacation tomorrow evening.

M. M. Mintch has sold his fruit stand at 172 Calhoun street to W. M. Cutler, who assumes charge at once.

The new Arcade building will soon be completed. Mr. Beaver informs us that eight of the rooms have already been rented.

The citizens of Lakeside want some enterprising grocer to establish a stand in that suburb. Here is a chance for some energetic person.

Georgia Dignan, the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Dignan, of East Wayne street, is still missing. The girl has been very successful in keeping her whereabouts a secret.

The freight brakemen and conductors on the Lake Erie & Western struck at Lafayette again last evening and have notified the men at Peru, Lima and Indianapolis of their action.

Last evening Harry Wiebke opened the Board of Trade cafe to the public. A large number of people dropped in during the evening to admire the new place and the general opinion was very complimentary to the proprietor.

Howell Rockhill and Louis Heilbroner left yesterday afternoon for Sturgis, Mich. Mr. Rockhill goes to make arrangements for exhibiting Red Bell and Strathae at the race next week, while Mr. Heilbroner will complete arrangements for the pool privileges at the same meeting.

A tract of land bordering on Pontiac and Oliver streets has been fenced in at the expense of Henry M. Williams and the ground will hereafter be given to the use of a public park. The ground is dotted with elm trees and a pagoda has been erected at the expense of Messrs. J. H. Grier and J. W. Hayden. The lots which constitute this "breathing spot" are owned by Messrs. Williams, Grier, George W. Wilson, Mr. Siemon and the Nuttman estate.

My 4th Anniversary

A Promise and Its Fulfillment

I felt mighty good when my patrons and friends called to congratulate me on my Fourth Business Anniversary.

But what pleased more than the congratulations was the statement: "You're on the right track, Israel, stick to it."

It has cost me something to maintain the high standard of doing business to which I pledged myself when I came here FOUR YEARS AGO.

I could have "pulled off" a lot of "manufactured" sales and taken in a few more dollars, but I couldn't conscientiously do it.

I promised a SQUARE DEAL to the public; I promised them the BEST CLOTHES at $10, $15 and $20; I promised them a SAVING of $5 to $10, and I've FULFILLED MY PROMISE.

Remember me for "Your Next" Fall Suit and Overcoat—I am showing a COMPLETE LINE NOW.

ROOSEVELT IN NEW RAP AT HYPHENISM

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 1.—Theodore Roosevelt renewed his attacks on the Wilson administration in his first speech of the 1916 campaign, given here last night, summing up the previous arguments which he has advanced against continued tenure of office by the democrats.

Col. Roosevelt devoted most of his speech to denunciation of President Wilson's Mexican policy, declaring that the much-vaunted "peace" with that country had cost more American lives than the entire Spanish war. "The latter," said the Colonel, "brought honor and glory to the nation whereas the former has buried it in shame and dishonor."

Attacks Preparedness Motive.

The speaker declared that only as a final political expedient had the administration launched a preparedness campaign. He reiterated his advocacy of the "big stick."

"It should be a cardinal rule of conduct in international, as well as individual affairs," he continued, "never to hit if hitting can possibly be avoided, but never under any circumstances to hit soft. Mr. Wilson has been engaged in continual hitting. But he has always hit soft."

Roosevelt insisted that the president has failed to perform his duty in the matter of rights of Americans and that only once did he make a show of force, that in the case of Hayti, of whom no one was afraid.

Fling at Hyphenism.

In taking a fling at hyphenism and the plots which have had their inception in the United States, the speaker declared that divided loyalty was impossible. Any organization of American citizens which acts in the interest of a foreign power is guilty of moral treason to the republic, he said. "It is because of such action that I condemn those professional German-Americans who in our politics act as servants and allies of Germany, not as Americans interested solely in the honor and welfare of America."

Americanism is a matter of spirit of the soul, of the mind, not of birthplace or creed, he said.

In advocating the election of Mr. Hughes, Roosevelt compared the promises of Mr. Wilson, which, he said, had never been carried out in deeds, and the career of Mr. Hughes, whose public life, he declared, is a guarantee that all his words will be carried out in deeds.

HOW TO GIVE GOOD ADVICE.

The best way to give good advice is to set a good example. When others see how quickly you get over your cold by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they are likely to follow your example. This remedy has been in use for many years and enjoys an excellent reputation. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

HARVARD PLANS NIGHT PRACTICE.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 1.—The Harvard football system, already one of the most efficient sporting organizations in the college world, is calling upon science to make the work on the gridiron even more efficient. The athletic association is considering lighting the stadium so that practice can be held at any time in the afternoon or evening.

The preliminary estimate calls for lamps supplied with strong projectors, at ninety feet above the ground and 200 feet from the center of the field, estimated at 3,000,000 candle power. The illumination will be so high as to allow punting and forward passing.

REFUSE OFFER.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 1.—Offers for the purchase of Rodgers Hornsby, Frank Snyder and Jack Miller have been received by President Britton, of the St. Louis Nationals, in the last few days, but all have been refused.

President Weeghman, of the Chicago Cubs,, telegraphed to Britton an offer for Hornsby but Britton telegraphed back a refusal to sell.

"There's no chance for any club to get any of our players," said Britton in discussing the numerous offers he has received. "If other teams can use them I am sure we can."

MORE WALKS ORDERED.

Twenty-One of Them Are Ordered at Meeting of Board of Works.

Building of twenty-one sidewalks, all of cement, were ordered by the board of works at the regular session Thursday night. Remonstrance was offered to only one of the proposed improvements. As a result of the petition against the action, the sidewalk will not be built on the south side of Harmon street, from St. Marys avenue to its eastern terminus.

Grading of Meridian street, from Huffman street to the second alley north and of Gumpper avenue, from Calhoun to Webster streets, were ordered by the board.

Petition was filed for the installation of cement sidewalks on both sides of Lantz avenue, from Tennessee avenue to Delaware avenue.

Use of the city grounds on North Clinton street for the purpose of holding a carnival, during the week of September 11 was granted the Loyal Order of Buffaloes.

Britain has 80,943 Red Cross workers.

READY FOR JACK FROST.

By Betty Brown.

The flat fur color of Louis Fifteenth style, with outstanding neckline, looms up at all the fall fashion shops, but right beside it, much in the spotlight, is the fur scarf of the long-haired pelt—the fox, marten and Kolinski leading the others.

Only the graceful draped fur scarf can give a smart street suit a final note of elegance. This sketch from Fashion Art proves the point. The costume is of the new Pontine, a double-faced fabric, silk or satin on one side and glazed leather on the other.

The following from the Delphos Herald will be of local interest: A wedding which comes as a surprise to the bride's many friends in Delphos, was solemnized in Fort Wayne, Ind., on Friday evening, August 25, Mrs. Alice J. Frost, formerly of Delphos, becoming the wife of Mr. J. J. Lee, master car builder in the Fort Wayne shops. The wedding was very quiet and the bride's friends in Delphos will be pleased to learn of the marriage. The wedding took place at the United Brethren parsonage in Fort Wayne, Ind., at 8:30 o'clock, Rev. J. W. Borkert officiating. But very few of the friends of the bridal couple knew of the wedding, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee are now receiving the congratulations and best wishes of their friends. They will be at home to their friends after the first week in September, in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Misses Blanche Van Buskirk and Ruth Blackwell very delightfully entertained about twenty friends Tuesday afternoon at the home of the latter on East Woodland avenue in honor of Miss Juanita Whicker, who leaves next week for Chicago, where she will take a higher course in vocal music. Progressive bunco was enjoyed, the prizes going to Cyril Schafer, Lela Lewton, Edward Killian and Rudy Rables. Roop Family Reunion.

With smiling skies and other conditions ideal, the Roop family reunion, planned a year ago to be held at Robison park, Aug. 31, was a great success Thursday.

All forenoon delegations kept arriving from Bucyrus, McClure, Napoleon, Delphos, Van Wert, Willshire and Convoy, Ohio, and from Decatur, Churubusco and Huntertown, Indiana, and promptly at 12 o'clock noon the entire crowd was comfortably seated around a very long table ladened with the choicest of the farm, when Evangelist C. V. Roop invoked the blessings of the bountiful Father upon all present and also the absent ones and gave thanks for the feast of plenty.

The people who gathered at Robison park have a great history, being the descendants of Frederick Roop, a pioneer of Huntington county, Pa., who came to this country from England one hundred years ago, and his five sons, who were given the old fashioned Biblical names, Joseph, Samuel, Amos, John and Jacob, early in the nineteenth century, immigrated to western Ohio and were among the first pioneers of that section.

Rev. Carl Vernon Roop, Dayton, Ohio, was re-elected president for the ensuing year, with Mrs. O. Roop, Bucyrus, Ohio, vice president; Floyd Acker, Decatur, secretary; A. L. Roop, Fort Wayne, treasurer; Alphus Roop, Decatur, historian, to be assisted by Mrs. Sarah Gump, Churubusco, and Mrs. Rosa Acker, Decatur; James M. Roop, Convoy, Ohio, committee on grounds, and S. A. Acker, Decatur, committee on entertainment.

A report today showed that three Roop descendants are now college presidents and that practically all of the professions and vocations of life find Roop descendants engaged therein, in an endeavor to emulate their forefathers and thereby cultivate the family tree.

Mrs. Sarah Gump, of near Churubusco, was the oldest one present Thursday, she being eighty-four years old, and she gave a most excellent talk and family history, which was enjoyed by all, and despite her advanced years she is very agile and a most entertaining story teller and fully expects to attend many more such reunions.

All had words of praise for beautiful Robison park and the enjoyable day spent together, and adjourned at 5 o'clock p. m. to meet again at Steele's park, Decatur, Ind., the last Thursday in August next year.

Little Lassie Now Wears Gay Stripes

By Betty Brown.

Just like Big Sister's sports suit is the gayly striped frock of blue and white linen which a certain Little Kindergarten Person will wear when school begins.

It is made as simply as a mother hubbard, but the empire belt gives it the dignity of a really, truly dress. A belt of white patent leather may be used instead of the striped belt.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BLOUSE WITH NOVEL FASTENING

WHAT is a blouse without buttons? It's an unusual model which gives a splendid opportunity for one to use original ideas for holding the garment together. In this instance ribbon has been successfully used to carry out the idea.

Pussy willow blue and white taffeta has been employed to fashion the blouse. This style of blouse is very much in favor for wear with fall suits and is an excellent type for the business woman.

White organdie has been used to make the collar and deep cuffs. While there are no buttons to fasten the blouse, there are four of them to ornament the collar and hold it securely to ribbon.

SATIN AND NET

IF YOU wish to give an individual air to your evening gown, wear over it a cape of net. That is the point which gives character to the frock here shown. Another salient feature is the fact that the gown has a high cut in the back and is extremely low in front. Rows of pearl beads do much to ornament the cape, and their weight prevents it from flaring about in an annoying manner.

Flesh-colored satin is the material chosen for the frock. Satin, by the way, bids fair to be the favorite material for evening frocks. Since tunics are fashionable, it is quite natural that this satin gown should be made with a skirt having a long pointed overskirt. The sides of the tunic are edged with white net.

THE LEADING COLORS

IS THERE any doubt in your mind as to the leading color for fall and early winter? If so, listen, also look about you, for a little observation will show that purple is the shade at the top of the favorite color list. The Tyrian, or royal, purple is confined to sports cloths and trimming touches, but beautiful rich shades of raisin, plum, violet and many unnameable tints are seen in whole gowns, suits and separate coats.

Blues, of course, are among the "best sellers." A storm blue with a gray tinge is something new.

Reds will be seen in trimming touches and in darker shades for frocks and coats. A new red is called "bivouac," because it is supposed to resemble dried blood. Rather a horrible association, but a beautiful color!

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Iron-Rust Stains

Sprinkle the stain with salt and moisten with lemon juice; then lay it in the sun. This method is slow, but is less likely to affect the goods than some stronger applications.

Renovating a Brass Bedstead

Will you please tell me if I could clean or enamel over the imitation brass on my beds, which is very much tarnished? BUSY.

Yes, you should be able to enamel the bedsteads. You may have to use a coat of shellac first.

USES FOR RAFFIA

RAFFIA is a very pleasant material to work with. In the first place, it can be secured in such cheerful colors and in the second place it works up quickly. Have you ever thought of embroidering a pillow in raffia? It has been done and the result is most successful. It is best to use a conventional design for the purpose since it is more in keeping with the material. Let coarse linen or denim be used for the cushion cover, the loose mesh of each facilitates the pulling thru of the raffia. In doing the work be sure to tie all knots on the wrong side of the material. The result would not be so satisfactory were you to run the starting thread over material to be covered by finishing embroidery stitches. Such a cushion would be appropriate for a den, for a porch or for a bungalow.

Another attractive article to be made with raffia is a raffia-covered coat hanger. This work is very simple to do, as it means simply the wrapping of the wire hanger and the weaving of strips of raffia to fill in the space between the wire. Straw-colored raffia works up effectively. Brilliant solid colors are also attractive, as are also combinations of colors.

Hangers of this description are more practical than those covered with ribbon or silk, because they can be kept clean and sanitary.

YOUR HANDS

IF YOU want your hands to be soft and white, even tho you do your own housework, you should protect them as much as possible while doing your duties. If possible, wear gloves when sweeping, dusting or scrubbing. Many women wear rubber gloves when washing the dishes, but there are others who say that they cannot do the work satisfactorily with gloves on the hands. These women are urged to use lukewarm water and a mild soap. In fact, it is a good idea to use a soap shaker to make the suds, so that the hands will not have to be in the water any longer than is absolutely necessary. A dish mop is another convenience which will prevent the hands from becoming rough.

When the dishes are all washed and dried, the hands should be washed thoroly and dried very carefully. The juice of a lemon, some cold cream, almond lotion or an oatmeal paste should be well rubbed into the hands.

The woman who does her own housework should never think of retiring at night before paying special attention to her hands. If they are properly nourished and the nails are kept in a good condition, one need never be ashamed to display the hands at the card club or over the teacup.

A BIRTHDAY REMINDER

FOR a child or even a grown-up who is willing to be amused try this scheme for a birthday reminder. You may buy this little contrivance already made or you may try your own hand at fixing it up. It is nothing more than a round candy box painted to represent a birthday cake. Instead of candles, rolled bits of paper, on which are written amusing mottoes or birthday wishes are thrust thru holes in the box lid. There can be as many candles as you wish, unless the number is too great. For the mottoes use some of those to be found on birthday postcards, or, if you can, make your own. This idea could be carried out likewise for a birthday party, having the "real" cake in the middle and at each guest's plate a tiny round box painted with water colors to resemble a cake, with one rolled-paper candle on which is written a "fortune."

TO PROTECT THE SHOULDERS

WHAT do you throw over your shoulders when you shampoo your head? You should really have something there, for it isn't very pleasant to have the wet hair dangling about. A combing jacket is worn by many persons during the process, but quite a few women do not possess such a thing. A splendid substitute is made by taking two towels, turkish or crash, and knotting the corners of two ends together. In case the opening thru which the head is to pass is not large enough the towels should be joined directly over the shoulders.

HERE'S BILL WHICH MAY AVERT STRIKE

Text of Adamson Measure Which Congress Plans to Rush Through.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The text of the Adamson bill, which brotherhood leaders said could avert the nation-wide railway strike, if enacted by Saturday night, follows in part:

Section 1.—That beginning December 1, 1916, eight hours shall, in contracts for labor and service, be deemed a day's work and the measure of standard of a day's work for the purpose of reckoning the compensation for service of all employes who are now or may hereafter be employed by any railroad, which is subject to the provisions of the act of February 1, 1887, "an act to regulate commerce," as amended, and who are now or may hereafter be actually engaged in any capacity in the operation of trains used for the transportation of persons or property on railroads, from any state or territory of the United States or the District of Columbia, or from one place in a territory to another place in the same territory, or from any place in the United States to an adjacent foreign country or from any place in the United States through a foreign country to any other place in the United States.

Section 2.—That the president shall appoint a commission of three, which shall observe the operation and effects of the institution of the eight hour standard work day as above defined and facts and conditions affecting the relations between such common carriers and employes during a period of not less than six months nor more than nine months, in the discretion of the commission, and within thirty days thereafter such commission shall report its findings to the president and congress. That each member of the commission * * * shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the president. The sum of $25,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary be, and hereby, is appropriated out of any money in the United States treasury not otherwise appropriated to be immediately available and to continue available until the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, for the necessary and proper expenses incurred in connection with the work of such commission, including salaries, per diem, traveling expenses of members and employes and rent, furniture, office fixtures and supplies, books, salaries and other necessary expenses, the same to be approved by the chairman of said commission and audited by the proper accounting officers of the treasury.

Section 3.—That pending the report of the commission herein provided for, and for a period of thirty days thereafter, the compensation of railway employes subject to this act for a standard eight hour work day shall not be reduced below the present standard day's wage, and for all necessary time in excess of eight hours such employes shall be paid at a rate not less than the pro-rata rate for such standard eight hour work day.

Section 4.—That any person violating any provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars and not more than one thousand dollars or imprisoned not to exceed one year, or both.

CONSTIPATION THE FATHER OF MANY ILLS.

FRANCE FAVORABLE TO GREAT PROJECT

Will Join England in Construction of Tunnel Under Channel.

Paris, Aug. 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—France has taken all the necessary steps to enter into negotiations with England to build jointly a tunnel under the English channel to connect the two countries, the long-talked of project which the war has revived because it has demonstrated as nothing else could the value of the tube to both countries.

Had the tunnel been in existence during the present conflict it would have been of immeasurable value to England and France for the transportation of troops and supplies and would have liberated French and British war vessels from one of their biggest tasks.

The plans were outlined by Mr. Sartiaux, chief engineer of the Nord Railway company, who is one of the strongest advocates of the project. He said:

"The tunnel will cost 16,000,000 pounds, half of which would be borne by England and half by France. Each country would bore one-half of the tunnel. Well, Britain is spending just now 6,000,000 pounds per day and France 4,000,000 pounds, so that two days' wartime expenditure of both countries would more than cover the cost of making the tunnel.

"It is proposed to make two tunnels, one for traffic from France to England, another for traffic from England to France. Some people seem to think a cross-channel tunnel might be a danger, because it might fall into the hands of the enemy. To capture the French end would not be an easy task. The mouth of the tunnel on French soil would be ten miles from the coast, and in order to reach it the enemy would have to capture Calais, and negotiate three intervening hills of an average height of 150 feet.

"The tunnel on the French side would begin its journey under sea at Sangatte. In my belief it would be impossible for an enemy to reach the mouth of the tunnel and get at the electric plant. The motive power could be instantly suppressed and the tunnel immediately rendered useless by filling it with poisonous gas.

"One can hardly exaggerate the services the tunnel would have rendered to England and France had it been in existence when hostilities broke out. During the twenty hours of daily use (for four hours must be deducted out of the twenty-four for upkeep and repairs, etc.), between 100 and 120 trains could have been sent in each direction.

"At 500 tons per train that represents 50,000 to 60,000 tons a day each way, much more than is necessary.

'Apart from the diminution in delay, risks, losses, and difficulties of every nature, the British fleet would have been liberated from one of the heaviest parts of its task and free to serve the cause of the allies in other directions."

PLAN WELCOME FOR HUGHES.

Kansas Republicans to Honor Nominee at Topeka.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 1.—Extensive plans were made for the reception of Charles E. Hughes here today. A large committee of prominent Kansas republicans was named to meet him upon his arrival this afternoon and conduct him to the state house, where he will deliver an address. Other arrangements include a welcome for Mrs. Hughes, wife of the candidate, by white clad women waving flags.

Governor Kaper is to board Mr. Hughes' train at Manhattan, Kan., on its way to Topeka. At the conclusion of the address here the Hughes party will leave for Kansas City.

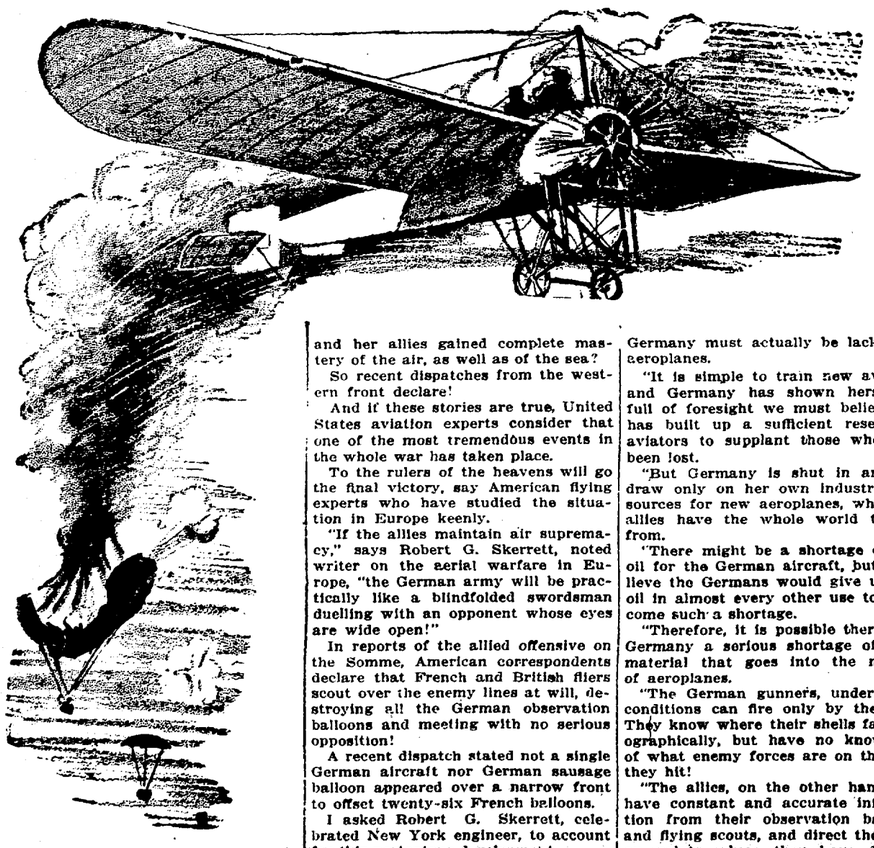
HAVE FRANCE AND ALLIES BECOME MASTERS OF AIR? U. S. AERONAUTS SEE WAR'S MOST TREMENDOUS EVENT.



By Kenneth W. Payne.

New York, Aug. 30.—Have France and her allies gained complete mastery of the air, as well as of the sea?

So recent dispatches from the western front declare!

And if these stories are true, United States aviation experts consider that one of the most tremendous events in the whole war has taken place.

To the rulers of the heavens will go the final victory, say American flying experts who have studied the situation in Europe keenly.

"If the allies maintain air supremacy," says Robert G. Skerrett, noted writer on the aerial warfare in Europe, "the German army will be practically like a blindfolded swordsman duelling with an opponent whose eyes are wide open!"

In reports of the allied offensive on the Somme, American correspondents declare that French and British fliers scout over the enemy lines at will, destroying all the German observation balloons and meeting with no serious opposition!

A recent dispatch stated not a single German aircraft nor German sausage balloon appeared over a narrow front to offset twenty-six French balloons.

I asked Robert G. Skerrett, celebrated New York engineer, to account for this portentous development.

"My guess—and we can only guess at this distance," Skerrett said, "is that Germany must actually be lacking in aeroplanes.

"It is simple to train new aviators, and Germany has shown herself so full of foresight we must believe she has built up a sufficient reserve of aviators to supplant those who have been lost.

"But Germany is shut in and can draw only on her own industrial resources for new aeroplanes, while the allies have the whole world to buy from.

"There might be a shortage of fuel oil for the German aircraft, but I believe the Germans would give up fuel oil in almost every other use to overcome such a shortage.

"Therefore, it is possible there is in Germany a serious shortage of some material that goes into the making of aeroplanes.

"The German gunners, under these conditions can fire only by the map. They know where their shells fall, geographically, but have no knowledge of what enemy forces are on the spot they hit!

"The allies, on the other hand, can have constant and accurate information from their observation balloons and flying scouts, and direct their fire on points where they have definite knowledge that a German depot or redoubt of encampment is located."

GREGORY GRILLS MR. HUGHES IN ADDRESS

Bangor, Me., Sept. 1.—Attorney General T. W. Gregory, speaking here last night, attributed the prosperity the nation is now enjoying to President Wilson's success in maintaining peace, defended his policy of resorting to "words and not deeds" in controversies with foreign countries, and denounced Charles Evans Hughes, republican candidate, for the presidency, for his attacks on the Wilson administration.

"As a part of his administration," Mr. Gregory said, "I here and now announce that so long as President Wilson presides over the destinies of this nation, so long will words and not deeds be resorted to in keeping peace with the nations until words have ceased to be effective and peace can no longer be honorably maintained. If this be treason to the American people let Candidate Hughes make the most of it.

"The unfortunate condition of other nations has a bearing upon the prosperity of our own but has conducted to our prosperity only because we have not become involved in the present war. The one man who has kept us out is the president. Under conditions which no human wisdom could have foresecn President Wilson has accomplished results satisfactory to all men. Criticism of him should be just and generous.

"Mr. Hughes bitterly complains of our Mexican policy, denouncing it as weak and vacillating, and says that if he is elected president a vigorous and effective course will be pursued which in some vague way he seems to think will bring about some desirable result, but how this is to be done and what the result is to be he does not disclose. Strange to say, he denounces the most vigorous actions against Mexican bandits more than he does the negotiations by which the administration has up to this time kept us out of war with Mexico as well as with Europe. To sum it all up, Mr. Hughes is for words when the administration resorts to deeds, and for deeds when the administration resorts to words."

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Mrs. Carrie Sheibner, after a shopping trip down town yesterday afternoon, returned to her home at 930 Barry avenue. She expected that her daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Keiser Pettit, a bride of a month, would have dinner ready to serve.

Three hours before she had bidden the young woman good-by. The latter was expecting the return of her husband, John Maurice Pettit, who had been absent three weeks.

"Good-by, mamma; get back early," said the young woman, waving to her mother.

When Mrs. Sheibner returned in the early dusk of evening the window shades were drawn. The front door was also locked, so she rang the bell.

Pettit answered the call.

The young man's hair was disheveled. In the dusk Mrs. Sheibner could distinguish something dark dripping from his hands. There were splashes of something dark on one cheek and a sinister strain on the front of his shirt.

The mother looked past the chalk-faced youth at the door and saw an inanimate somethinf lying on the parlor floor.

She attempted to enter and Pettit, uttering a wild cry of fear, ran through the house, leaped the fence inclosing the back yard and sped away in the darkness.

Mrs. Sheibner turned on the lights. On the floor lay the body of her daughter in a pool of blood, her throat cut from ear to ear—the head almost severed from the body.

The cabarets and "night life" had claimed another victims—if the stories that immediately reached the police were true.

According to these stories jealousy furnished the motive for the crime. Following the romantic marriage of the young couple, it was said, there had been automobile rides with other men—at least the husband believed there had; he had gone away—and during the afternoon he had come back.

Pettit was still a fugitive today.

A peculiar feature of the murder was that the young bride had been dead two or three hours, the police said.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

CHRIST'S ARMY

This is the expressive title of the program of the Goshen district mission ary rallies, which will begin with a splendid convention in the new Nappanee M. E. church on Monday and Tuesday, September 11 and 12.

The distinguished speakers will be the Rev. Bishop Thomas Nicholson, D D., L. L. D., the Rev. D. D. Forsythe, D. D., Philadelphia, and the Rev. James M. Taylor, D. D., of New York.

The Nappanee choir and men's chorus, the Syracuse Brotherhood chorus, the Warsaw men's chorus and the Wakarusa gospel team will furnish music. Also the Goshen district preachers' quartet and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Plank, of Elkhart, evangelistic singers.

The Rev. R. J. Wade, D. D., will preside and many other eloquent ministers will speak.

WOMAN WANTS TO BE JUDGE.

Lagrange, Ind., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Daisy M. Mosier, of Ontario, a sister of Frederick G. Smeltzly, county superintendent of schools, has accepted the socialist nomination for judge of the thirty-fourth judicial circuit, which includes Lagrange and Elkhart counties. Mrs. Mosier was nominated in a convention held on June 24 at Elkhart, and a few days ago she filed her expense account with County Clerk Choler, as required by law. Mrs. Mosier admits that her nomination cost nothing, and in filing her account she indicates that she has it in mind to contest with Judge Drake, republican nominee for re-election, and Senator Otis L. Ballou, who is the democratic selection for the place.

DIES SUDDENLY.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 1.—Zachariah Springer, for years a well known resident of Decatur and employed as a lineman on the local traction line, about 7:30 Thursday morning fell from a high platform, built on a hand car, used in line repair work and in a few minutes was dead. Springer had just gone to work. Roadmaster Mose Henry was with him, standing on the street, and suddenly Springer uttered a cry of pain and at the same time caught hold of the trolley wire above him. Mr. Henry knew that something was wrong and called to Springer to let loose and sit down. Whether Mr. Springer heard him or not will of course never be known, but just at that time his hold on the wire was loosened and he began to fall. Mr. Henry caught him and this partly broke the force of the fall, but was unable to hold him up and both men were thrown down.

PRICES ADVANCE.

Hartford City, Ind., Sept. 1.—The high cost of foodstuffs is to be felt in another quarter in this city. The advanced price of commodities has made it imperative upon restaurant keepers to raise the prices on certain kinds of grub. Starting next Monday, all fifteen cent lunches will be raised to twenty cents; all sandwiches will be five cents straight, and soup, pie and coffee will be fifteen cents instead of ten cents. One restaurant man declared Thursday that the present increases are only a starter. It is absolutely necessary, he said, for the restaurant men to raise prices, in order that they may "break even."

ADAIR AT GARRETT.

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 1.—The first public political gathering of the campaign in Garrett will take place Wednesday evening, September 6, when Congressman John A. M. Adair, democratic candidate for governor, will be the speaker at an open-air meeting. On that day Mr. Adair will make an automobile tour of the county and will be escorted by the county central committee, county candidates and other democrats. The Garrett Wilson-Marshall club will be well represented, plans being made by President J. D. Brinkerhoff and other members.

NOW CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 1.—Walter Lahm, aged 20 years last May, who during the past five years has figured in numerous escapades which have nearly caused his incarceration in the state reformatory at Jeffersonville and against whom a suspended sentence now rests in the Whitley circuit court for stealing rifles from Emanuel Harshbarger and E. A. Barney north of this city, and who also went on escapades in the Adam Rumsyre and Luther Mertz cars within the last year and ended up with damage to both machines, and who finally last Saturday compromised a bastardy case filed against him by Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker of this city by marrying the girl, is now in the Whitley county jail and bound over to the circuit court on a charge of forgery preferred against him by Prosecutor Jos. R. Harrison and sworn to by Henry E. Romey.

TAKEN TO INDIANAPOLIS.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 1.—Curtis Wolfe accompanied by his physicians and Will Goodrich, of Winchester, left for Indianapolis Wednesday, where Wolfe will undergo an operation at the Deaconess hospital for a pressure on the brain. Wolfe was in the employ of the United Heat, Gas and Light company and was hurt seriously in a runaway Thanksgiving day of last year. Since that time he has had trouble with his brain and an insanity commission had been called. He tried to secure a compensation under the compensation laws of the state and failed and the company is now paying his expenses to the hospital.

AUTO HITS FREIGHT.

South Whitley, Ind., Sept. 1.—Although the automobile of John Kepler, of South Whitley, occupied by his son, Glen Kepler, who was driving, and Russell Bowdy, driver for O. Gandy & Co., plunged into a stock car of a Nickel Plate freight train which was standing on the crossing while the crew was getting orders at the depot, no one was seriously hurt. The front end of the automobile was jammed underneath the car so that it required several minutes for a crew of men to release it. The machine is damaged almost beyond repair. Bowdy was rendered unconscious but was soon able to be up and around. Eight teeth were knocked out.

HAS 'EM GUESSING.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 1.—Mayor John Mock has his many friends guessing. Two weeks ago he left the city, telling his friends he would spend a short vacation in Detroit, Mackinac Island and Chicago. The last word from him comes from Yellowstone park, saying he would go from there to Portland, Ore., then to Seattle, Wash., and from there to San Francisco. Hissoner's friends say he should refer to "we" in his letters instead of "I" and they are convinced that he has given up single blessedness and is trying to keep this fact a secret. A formal announcement is expected when the mayor comes home.

NEXT REUNION AT DELPHOS.

Delphos, Ohio, Sept. 1.—The next reunion of the Kiggins family will be held at the Water Works park in Delphos, the third week in August of 1917, according to the arrangements made at the annual gathering held at the fair grounds in Van Wert Wednesday.

MARKLE MAN RETURNS.

Markle, Ind., Sept. 1.—Forrest Fate, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fate, living near Markle, who was reported missing Wednesday, returned home at 5:15 yesterday morning, after nearly 36 hours absence. He would answer no questions as to where he had been and refused to talk when members of the family questioned him. As far as could be learned he suffered no ill effects from his experience. Sheriff Johnston, who has been assisting in the search for the missing youth, was notified at once.

PARALYSIS VICTIM DEAD.

Little Perry Cook Passes Away at Parents' Home in Whitley County.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 1.—Perry Cook, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cook, of Thorncreek township, who had been suffering from infantile paralysis for several days, died Thursday morning at 3 o'clock. While his condition was considered critical by all of the physicians who visited him Wednesday afternoon, none of them thought that death would come so soon, and the announcement of his demise came as a great surprise to most of them. The boy was 12 years, 10 months and 19 days old.

VETERANS ELECT OFFICERS.

Survivors of 88th Indiana Regiment Close Meeting at Auburn.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 1.—At the final session of the annual reunion of the eighty-eighth Indiana volunteer infantry, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Colonel, F. F. Foltz, Knightstown; lieutenant colonel, James Winnebrenef, of Albion; adjutant, C. W. Tuttle, of Columbia City. The next meeting will be held in Columbia City.

DIVORCE HEARING ENDS.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 1.—The long drawn out divorce case of Jennie Kiser, of Auburn, vs. S. J. Kiser, of Waterloo, came to an end Thursday noon. For three days both sides introduced evidence and for a while it looked as if the entire neighborhood at Waterloo would be present as witnesses. Thursday morning the lawyers began to make their talks and cite law that showed that each one was right. It was near the noon hour that the last speech was made by one of the attorneys for Mr. Kiser. After the last word had been spoken, Judge Link took up the case as he saw it and gave the divorce to Mrs. Kiser and gave her $250 alimony and $50 attorneys' fees.

BOY WONDER.

Defiance, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Delta has a boy wonder. Lloyd Keller is a modern water nymph. Without motion of hand, feet or body he can stand in or lay down in water of any depth for hours at the time and not sink. While at the lake a few weeks ago he excited the natives of the lake section by swimming out to a place where the water was thirty feet deep and laying on the water, fishing with the ordinary cane fish pole for hours.

CARNIVAL IS PROFITABLE.

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 1.—The Garrett public library and the volunteer fire department will get a profit of between $1,100 and $1,200 from last week's carnival. The committees have not yet been able to settle all of their business and the figures will not be available for a few days. The carnival was a successful affair. The attendance was large every day, but rain Saturday evening caused a premature cessation of merriment and reduced the receipts greatly.

DIES AT FREMONT.

Fremont, Ind., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Mary Grill, of Spencerville, passed away at the home of her graiddaughter, Mrs. Maud Kline-Adams, at Fremont, Wednesday evening, at 9:30 o'clock. Her home for many years had been in Spencerville. Some time ago she went to the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. mont, where she died at the age of 65 years.

YOUNG LADS TAKE JEWELS.

Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 1.—The taking of three rings and a watch from the home of Aubrey Dye resulted in the apprehension of three young lads by the sheriff last evening. The boys, who are hardly in their teens, confessed to taking the articles, which they had hidden. After returning the property they were given a good fatherly lecturing and placed on probation by the sheriff.

CONDITION CRITICAL.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 1.—As the result of injuries received when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a train at Wawasee, Fred C. Zeigler, of Tulsa, Okla., is in a critical condition in the Goshen hospital. It is not believed he can recover. His sister-in-law, Mrs. E. E. Stinson, of Montpelier, Ind., is suffering from nervous shock and a bad wound in her head.

WORE COAT AT FIVE MARRIAGES.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 1.—Fred Drabenstad, of Brown county, while here yesterday, told of purchasing a long tailed coat in a local store sixty years ago, which he has worn at each of his five marriages. He did not wear it on his visit here because he said it "was sorta out of style."

CANCER CAUSES DEATH.

Spencerville, Ind., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Mary Grill, widow of the late Isaac Grill passed away Wednesday at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Maude Adams, at Fremont. Death was due to cancer, from which she had been a sufferer for sometime. She was 69 years old.

WILL DONATE LOT.

Lagrange, Ind., Sept. 1.—At the next meeting of the city council, Monday evening, it is expected that Leon Rose will make a proposition for the donation of a lot which will be used for the erection of a Carnegie library.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This is a medicine that every family should be provided with. Colic and diarrhoea often come on suddenly and it is of the greatest importance that they be treated promptly. Consider the suffering that must be endured until a physician arrives or medicine can be obtained. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has a reputation second to none for the quick relief which it affords. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

MILITARY CHIEF ON THE GROUND AT LIMA

Assistant Adjutant General Hurries to Scene of Mob Violence.

Lima, O., Sept. 1.—Fear that state troops would be needed to maintain order in a new outbreak of mob violence had practically passed today after Col. S. E. S. Bryant, assistant adjutant general, had hurried to the city from Columbus to look over the situation, which grew out of an attempt to lynch Charles Daniels, negro, who is alleged to have assaulted Mrs. John Barber, wife of a prominent Allen county farmer.

Early last evening a large crowd gathered in front of the county jail, but there were no demonstrations. For a time, however, some officials feared a race riot and every precaution was taken.

Sheriff Sherman Eley, who was tortured until he directed the mob to Ottawa, where he had taken Daniels for safety, and where he made his escape from the angered crowd, returned to Lima late yesterday to learn that his little daughter had died from shock, caused Wednesday night when the mob forced the jail while looking for the negro.

The negro is in the Henry county jail at Napoleon, where he was rushed late Wednesday night while the mob was enroute from Lima to Ottawa to get him. Mrs. Cecil Kephart, sister of Sheriff Eley's wife, was said to be in a serious condition after being manhandled by the mob when it broke into the jail.

15 CLEAR DAYS IN MONTH OF AUGUST

During the month of August Fort Wayne experienced fifteen clear days, eleven partly cloudy and five cloudy days. During the thirty-one days there was a total rainfall of 2.1 inches, a deficit of 1.19 inches for the average August.

The average temperature for the entire month was 74.6. The highest point the thermometer registered was 97 on Aug. 21. On the 28th the temperature fell as low as 52, the lowest for the month. There were ten days in August when the thermometer reached ninety degrees or higher.

The total movement of the wind for the 31 days was 4,845 miles. The highest velocity was reached on the morning of the 19th, when the rate was twenty-seven miles per hour.

Seven storms were experienced in Fort Wayne. They occurred on August 3, 4, 7, 8, 10 and 19. This number is four more than the average for the month.

PURDUE BATTERY IS ORDERED HOME

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 1.—The war department has ordered B battery, of the Indiana national guard, composed of students at Purdue university, to return from the border to Fort Benjamin Harrison.

A copy of the order was received today by Adjutant General F. L. Bridges. It was dated Aug. 30. The recently organized battery from Fort Wayne is expected to be sent to the border to take the place of B battery.

GRABILL VOTED "DRY."

Misstatment of Result of Option Election Appeared in Newspapers.

A resident of Grabill has written The Sentinel to the effect that in the recent local option election in Cedar Creek township, Grabill voted "dry" while Leo voted "wet." The correct vote is as follows: Precinct A, in which Leo is located, voted "wet" by a majority of forty-three, while the "drys" carried Precinct B, in which Grabill is located by a majority of eight. A large percentage of the voters of the township were at the polls, 139 votes being cast in Precinct A, and 120 in Precinct B.

CONTRACTS LET FOR FOUR COUNTY ROADS

Commissioners Receive Bids and Reject All on One Job.

Contracts have been let for four roads by the county commissioners and all bids on one were rejected.

Rider & Webster were awarded the contract for the Simmers road in Monroe township. The road is 10,514 feet. The bid was $9,538 and the engineer's estimate, $10,514.

For the Townley road in Jackson township all bids were rejected. Rider & Webster submitted a bid of $21,500, but the estimate of the engineer was $17,093.89.

For the Sharfenberger-Grotrian road on the Madison-Jefferson township line, 8,316 feet long, C. W. Eling was given the contract on his bid of $7,985. The estimate of the engineer was $8,953.

A. H. Fry was given the contract for the Feighner lower Huntington road, 14,696 feet long, on his bid of $16,489. The estimate of the engineer was $20,216.

Will of Late E. A. K. Hackett.

The will of E. A. K. Hackett, late publisher and owner of The Sentinel, was filed for probate in circuit court Friday afternoon. The will was dated Oct. 14, 1911, the witnesses being C. H. Worden and Henry R. Freeman. The widow Mrs. Susie Emma Hackett and daughter, Dr. Martha Hackett, are named administratrixes. In case the latter is out of the United States it is specified that the daughter, Helen Elizabeth Hackett Johnson, shall act, all without bond. The Tri-State Loan and Trust company is appointed to act as trustee for Mr. Hackett's realty and business block on the east side of Calhoun street between Wayne and Washington streets. The trustee is to hold it during the life of the daughters, Dr. Martha Hackett and Helen Elizabeth Hackett Johnson. The net income is to go to them.

To the widow, Mrs. Susie Emma Hackett, the West Wayne street realty is devised to hold during life. She is empowered to collect the income from it for her own use. The newspaper property, The Fort Wayne Sentinel, is given her to operate as she decides best for the interest of all the heirs, with the power to dispose of property or any portion if she so desires.

Divorce is Asked.

Gertrude E. Arthur has filed suit in the superior court for a divorce from Thomas O. Arthur, alleging the defendant has a drinking habit. They were married December 0, 1910, and separated December 17, 1915. There are two children. S. L. Morris, jr., is attorney for the plaintiff.

CONSIDER NO MORE PLEAS FOR RELEASE

Brownsville, Texas, Sept. 1.—No further applications for the discharge of college students serving in the national guard on the border or guardsmen with dependent relatives will be considered, according to orders sent by the war department to Fort Brown today.

It is understood here that applications filed previous to the cancellation order will be acted upon at Fort Sam Houston.

PLAGUE AGAIN GAINING.

But New York Officials Believe Epidemic Has Been Checked.

New York, Sept. 1.—The number of cases of infantile paralysis reported for the twenty-four hours ending at 10 a. m. today showed another increase—68 against 60 yesterday—but officials of the health department retain their feeling of certainty that the epidemic is on the wane. Their conviction is based on averages, that for this week being lower than last week's. The number of deaths today was 16, compared with 21 reported yesterday.

BIG MEETING PLANNED.

Extensive preparations are being made by the young democrats of the Fourth ward for a big meeting to be held at democratic headquarters at 8 o'clock, September 7. The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of Ralph Petgen, J. E. Atwell, John Swaidner, Dr. E. M. Van Buskirk and O. E. Fuelber. The meeting is under the auspices of the Young Men's Democratic league.

SUTHERLAND IS NEW AMERICAN BAR HEAD

Utah Senator Defeats Philadelphia Candidate by Four Votes.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Senator George Sutherland, of Utah, was elected president of the American Bar association for 1917 today, defeating by four votes Walter George Smith, of Philadelphia. The vote was 56 for Senator Sutherland and 22 for Mr. Smith. Mr. Smith was put on the executive committee.

There seemed to be no doubt that George Whitlock, of Baltimore, would be re-elected secretary and that Frederick W. Wadhams, of Albany, N. Y., would be re-elected treasurer, which post he has held for fourteen years. During that time he has handled more than $66,000 of association money.

Rome G. Brown, of Minneapolis, chairman of the committee to oppose the judicial recall, directed the attention of the association in his report to the fact that practically no states are now passing such measures or considering their passage.

"It seems reasonably certain," he said, "that no state which has not already adopted such an amendment expects to do so."

TURKEY DECLARES WAR ON RUMANIA

Edict is Delivered at Constantinople Thursday Evening.

Berlin, Sept. 1.—(By wireless to Sayville.)—A dispatch from Constantinople says that at 8 o'clock last night the Turkish government delivered to the Rumanian minister at Constantinople a declaration of war against Rumania.

An official statement issued by the Turkish war department at Constantinople Aug. 31, says:

"On the Caucasus front our left wing completely routed two and a half enemy divisions. We took more than 5,000 prisoners and several cannon and machine guns were brought in.

WILL SOON START WORK ON SUBWAY

Property Has Been Purchased for Opening of Coombs Street.

The board of works was notified Friday, by Superintendent Hart, of the Nickel Plate railroad system, that piling is on the grounds ready for making the proposed subway at Coombs street.

Deeds for two pieces of property, laying in the track of Coombs street when it is to be joined to Cochran street, were turned over to the board of works, Thursday. The sum of $2,300 was paid for the two lots. One property belonged to Mrs. John Vesey.

Work of elevating the Nickel Plate railroad tracks and of putting in the subway, which will allow Coombs street to be extended from Wayne street to Herbert street, is expected to start soon. Inability of the railroad company to purchase dirt for the elevated tracks has been the cause of delay.

Superintendent Hart said in his communication that he believed a contract for dirt would be had soon. The Brooks Construction company is prepared to make the excavation beneath the tracks for the subway whenever the tracks have been raised and held by piling.

INDIANA LEADING IN CARNEGIE LIBRARIES

Indianapolis, Sept. 1.—Just how honestly library boards of Indiana cities have lived up to their obligations with the Carnegie corporation may be seen from a letter received recently by Henry N. Sanborn, secretary of the State Library commission. It comes from the secretary of the corporation and reads in part as follows: "It will be interesting to you to know that in the number of library buildings as well as the general attitude adopted by Indiana, as evidenced by your communications, the state is in the front rank. Indiana can now be listed as one of the states with practically a perfect record, a position more noteworthy by the large number of buildings in the state."

Carnegie libraries have been established in this state at the rate of about one each month for the last twelve months. There are now 143 in the entire state. Two of them are college libraries, one being at Earlham and the other at DePauw. The total gifts amount to $2,097,000, with the college gifts totaling $80,000. The libraries have ranged from $7,000 to $35,000 in cost.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Cooper.—Funeral services for Cornelius Cooper will be held Saturday morning at nine o'clock at the residence on McClellan street, and at 9:30 o'clock at the Cathedral. Interment at Lindenwood.

LABOR LEADERS MAY FIGHT WAGE PROPOSAL

Washington, Sept. 1.—There were indications this afternoon that the labor leaders would fight the proposal in the rail strike legislation to empower the interstate commerce commission to govern wages as the senate bill proposes, but would probably accept it if they saw congress was determined to include it in the bill.

At 2 o'clock Senator Newlands introduced the revised senate bill and it was formally referred to the interstate commerce committee. Senator Newlands said the committee would report finally within a short time and that he would seek to hold the senate in session until the whole subject was disposed of, even if it should extend the session far into the night.

Makes Favorable Report.

Senator Newlands made a favorable report from the committee at 2:30 o'clock and unanimous consent was granted by the senate immediate consideration. Senator Newlands opened the discussion.

Senator Newlands called special attention to a provision of the bill added after the original draft had been submitted, which would declare any person who wilfully delays, obstructs or hinders operation of trains, guilty of a misdemeanor, to be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 and imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both.

Mann Offers Objection.

Democratic Leader Kitchin called up the Adamson bill soon after the house met. "I ask unanimous consent for its consideration," he said. "I object," said Republican Leader Mann.

Representative Harrison, democrat, then offered the special rule and there was discussion on that. Mr. Harrison said congress, in the interest of the American people, ought to pass this bill by Saturday night and avert the strike. Representative Bennett, republican, denounced the proposed legislation. "There are worse things than strikes," said Bennett, "and one of those things is the destruction of the American system of government. I don't propose to cast my vote with a pistol at my head."

Representative Cooper, of Ohio, republican, denied that labor was holding up congress, as Mr. Bennett charged.

"It was not the railroad men who asked this legislation," he said. "They do say, however, that if this house passes this bill today, and the senate passes it tomorrow, they will have the power to call off the strike."

Representatives Caldwell, of New York; Borland, of Missouri, and Raker, of California, democrats, urged a strong vote in favor of the bill.

General Debate Begins.

Representative Lenroot, of Wisconsin, republican, amid applause on the democratic side, announced he expected to vote for the bill. Many others spoke briefly on both sides. The rule was adopted without a record vote and general debate on the bill itself then began.

Senator Reed declared if the provision to give authority to the inter-state commerce commission to fix wages and hours of services were not abandoned the bill could not be passed in time to avert the strike. To pass the provision he said would instead of stopping the strike, absolutely force it.

After a twenty minutes session the committee of six senate republicans authorized to draft substitute legislation was iinformed that the majority plan is to rush through the bills it has framed at once and to stay in session all night, if necessary to pass them. The republicans adjourned without action of any kind. There were indications that the plan to draft substitute bills probably would be abandoned.

MARSHALL BALKS AT TOO MUCH FILM STUFF

Washington, Sept. 1.—A strike that threatened to be almost as embarrassing to the managers of the democratic campaign as a railroad strike would be to the public occurred when Vice President Marshall stood for eight performances as the maximum before the moving picture camera. "I have marched in front of the thing eight times and that is enough," said the vice president. "This is getting to be silly."

In vain the democratic senate leaders importuned him and Senator James Hamilton Lewis pointed out that it was "in the interest of the party."

The vice president was surrounded by democratic senators urging him to "waddle around the ring" once more while the camera man turned the crank, but he refused. The enterprise was under the auspices of the democratic national committee, which has obtained films of Speaker Clark and Representative Kitchin.

PATRICK CALHOUN.

Patrick Calhoun, former railway capitalist, once worth $14,000,000, is broke. He has filed a bankruptcy petition in New York giving his assets at $5.

The San Francisco earthquake and fire in 1906 did it, he says.

Just before the earthquake, Calhoun, who is 60, broke the San Francisco street railway strike, and after that he was depended on by other railway magnates to help them in their difficulties.

He made his fortune first as counsel for important railroads, then as one of the biggest consolidators in the country.

Even his $500,000 life insurance has been defaulted through loans, he testifies.

"For the past two years," he said, "I have not been able to contribute one cent to the running expenses of my home. I have no bank account and no safe deposit vaults."

PETITION CIRCULATED FOR EARLY CLOSING

Many Merchants Favor Movement to Continue Plan Until December 2.

The petition being circulated by Fred D. C. Wahrenburg, assisstant superintendent of the Rurode Dry Goods company, asking the merchants to continue to close on Saturday afternoons until December 2, as has been done during the months of July and August, is being readily signed. It is not at all improbable that practically all of the stores in the agreement during July and August will continue to close early Saturdays until the forepart of December.

An effort is being made to have every mercantile establishment in the city join in the movement. A leader in the project has the following to say

"Smaller cities than Fort Wayne are closing their stores at 6 o'clock. It is a progressive move. The eight-hour day movement now so prominently before the public on account of the railroad men's stand is being agitated for other lines of work. We feel the time is right now for early Saturday closing. For two months the stores have been closed at 6 o'clock on Saturday. The people have about accustomed themselves to the new idea. We feel it should be continued.

"In some of the larger cities the stores close at noon on Saturday. Our store has been closing at 6 o'clock for three years. Mr. Rurode was the first to take that step in Fort Wayne, during the hot months. Now he would like to see it extended to all stores during the other months of the year with the exception of December, when the holiday trade comes on."

SAYS HER SISTER IS ALSO BIGAMIST'S WIFE

New Albany Woman Seeking to Have Matrimonial Tangle Solved.

New Albany, Ind., Sept. 1.—Charging that her husband has never been divorced from her sister, who was his first wife, Mrs. Hazel Cleveland Humphreys brought bigamy proceedings here against William Humphreys, engineer of the excursion steamer Virginia. Humphreys was sent to jail to await the action of the Floyd county grand jury. Mrs. Humphreys declared she was married Aug. 19, on representations alleged to have been made to her by Humphreys that he had obtained a divorce from Ruth Cleveland Humphreys, now living in Indianapolis. Humphreys and his first wife were married April 7, 1914. The second Mrs. Humphreys said she did not learn until today that her husband was not divorced from her sister. The information was obtained, she said, from a letter written by the husband's lawyers, which showed that suit had been filed but the case had not been tried. Before her marriage the second Mrs. Humphreys lived in Louisville, Ky., and did not correspond regularly with her sister, and for this reason, she said, she did not learn of the failure of the divorce proceedings.

DRY WEATHER CAUSES MANY TREE TROUBLES

City Forestry Department Kept Busy Answering Calls to Fight Worms.

The greatest army of worms that ever advanced upon the timber of Fort Wayne is ravaging the shade and fruit trees of the city. Dry weather, especially adapted for hatching the moth eggs and which weakens the resisting power of trees, is given as the cause for a large per cent of the trees in the city being infested with worms.

J. M. E. Riedel, architect, who lives on State boulevard, called Carl Getz, park superintendent, to his home, Friday, where myriads of tussock moths were attacking one of his apple trees. This is an unheard of procedure, claim men who have studied the action of the worms. The large number of worms in that vicinity is the only reason to be given for their devouring the leaves of an apple tree.

Workmen in the forestry department of the city have been busy spraying trees during the past three weeks. Greatest trouble is from the tussock moth and walnut worms. They are in the city in largest numbers ever known.

The tussock moth has two feather-like projections near its head and four little tufts of hair along its back. It is nearly white in color with a bright red head. The walnut worm is larger and is gravish black in color.

Superintendent Getz gives as the best known remedy against the damaging pests, a spray, to be showered on leaves of the trees. Arsenate of lead mixed in the proportion of three pounds of the poison to fifty gallons of water makes up the spray. The worms eat the leaves on which the poison is placed and die at once.

The tussock worms first attack maple trees, then the elms, sycamores and other shade trees. The walnut worms stay closely to walnut trees. Several trees in the city will die as a result of lack of attention since set upon by worms but trees can be saved by prompt spraying.

City Park Improvements.

A sanitary drinking fountain has been installed in Hayden park to replace the old drinking fountain on the Maumee avenue side of the park. The new fountain is in the center of the park.

Well is Repaired.

The well in Swinney park, which has been almost dry for several days, because of rusted pipes in connection with the hydraulic ram, has been repaired and is now flowing freely.

New Dressing for Boulevard.

New dressing has been given Anthony boulevard, between Lake avenue and the Maumee river. The boulevard has been coated with cinders and graded.

Advancing Work on Spillway.

Piping has been laid from the top of the reservoir to the lake in Reservoir park as part of the system to furnish fresh water for the lake and also protect the reservoir. Work will start at once of building the cone shaped sluiceway at the top of the big basin.

Flushing Water Mains.

Water mains in the region of Lakeside park are being flushed and water directed into the lagoons of the park. When the process of cleaning out the water mains is finished Friday night the water mark will have raised nearly a foot in the Lakeside ponds. Water is also being run over the dam of Spy Run creek in Lawton park. The stationary water in the park is being cooled and impurities washed away.

Building Permits.

Permits for building were granted to Albert M. Tuber, 1814 High street, residence, $3,800; A. G. W. Curdes, 1205 Lynn avenue, dwelling, $2,500; Edward Eby, 2724 Broadway, dwelling, $1,500, and City and Suburban Building company, 3304 Calhoun street, $4,500.

Birth Record.

SOCIETY

Mrs. A. V. Powers and daughter, Helen, have returned from a three weeks' trip through Ohio. Part of the time was spent at Buckeye lake.

Carl F. Reiff and two daughters, Eleanor and Selma Reiff, will motor to Waterloo and Hamilton lake today, to visit over Labor day. Mrs. Reiff will accompany them home, after a week's visit at the lake.

Mrs. Clara Thompson has returned from a six weeks' visit with relatives in Philadelphia, Cleveland and Indianapolis.

Mrs. C. Kayser, Mrs. L. Oberhelman, Mrs. Charles Kayser and Miss Clara Kayser have returned from a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. Malcom, of Rome City. The ladies have many interesting fish stories to tell from their visit at the lake.

The Vivo club was entertained Thursday afternoon by Miss Dorothy Corey, of 137 DeWald street. The club held its second election. The following officers being named: President, Miss Hazel Krill, succeeding Cecile Partez; vice president, Ruth Taylor, succeeding Katherine Comblaze; secretary, and treasurer, Miss Freda Partez, succeeding Miss Hazel Krill. Light refreshments were served by the hostess and several piano selections were rendered by Miss Hazel Krill.

Mrs. Frank Markey and children have returned from Lafayette, where they spent two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Kehler. Mrs. Kehler accompanied Mrs. Markey home and will remain here a week or two. The ladies are sisters.

PRESIDENT LEAVES FOR SHADOW LAWN

Wilson Goes to the Summer White House for Notification.

Washington, Sept. 1.—President Wilson left here this afternoon for the summer white house, Shadowlawn, at Long Branch, N. J., where he will be formally notified tomorrow of his renomination. He expects to arrive at west end station at 8:45 o'clock tonight and will be met there by a large delegation of residents of Long Branch. Mrs. Wilson, Secretary Tumulty, Dr. C. T. Grayson and a large force of clerks accompanied the president.

Before the notification ceremonies at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the president will entertain at lunch the notification committee, the national committee members of his cabinet and of the senate and house.

Arrangements were made at the white house today for sending to Shadowlawn by special messenger the bill to meet the threatened railroad strike as soon as it is passed.

Leaving Long Branch tomorrow night, President Wilson expects to arrive in Washington early Sunday morning, stay here three hours and then depart for Hodgenville, Ky., where on Monday he will accept the birth place of Abraham Lincoln for the nation.

ANIMAL FATALITIES KEEP POLICE BUSY

Numerous Telephone Calls Tell of Deaths Among Brute Population.

Fort Wayne has about 24,000 cats and 9,000 dogs and numberless other animals within its borders, according to Henry Kiel, city poundmaster. The death rate among animals in Fort Wayne jungles is very small, but sufficiently large to keep Kiel and police busy.

One-third of the telephone calls ask, "Will you send a man out to our house to get a dead cat?" There were seven such calls Friday.

The record for the month of August shows that 1242 dead cats were reported to police and were taken in charge by Poundmaster Kiel. That is an average of four and a half dead cats a day. During July there were 160 dead cats collected.

Seventy dead dogs were reported to police during August. In July there were 143 dogs carried to the crematory. Of that number police shot 65 because rabies were feared.

During the month of August the police and poundmaster also performed the last rites for 17 chickens, 18 rabbits, 4 rats and 1 colt.

Miss Ant O'Rourke has returned from a three weeks' visit with relatives and friends in New York city.

Miss Eleanor Bill, of West Brookfield, Mass., is here to take charge of the physical culture department of the Young Women's Christian association. She takes the place of Miss Melin, who resigned some weeks ago.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR SEPT. 3

PAUL, THE HERO.

LESSON TEXT—II Cor. 11:21-12:10.

GOLDEN TEXT—My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect in weakness.—II Cor. 12:9.

This letter raises interesting questions for research and discussion, such as:

1. What is the difference between Paul's heroism and that of a soldier? 2. Is war essential to the development of heroism? 3. Which courage is higher, moral or physical?

I. Paul, the Hero (11:21-22). To a man of a sensitive nature, craving perfection, sarcasm stirs up the deepest bitterness of the soul. We do not believe Paul primarily desired to refuse these false charges—they were unworthy of him—but the knowledge of his sufferings for the cause of Christ and the truth of the gospel would augment his power to serve the church. For the sake of those whom he had reclaimed from heathenism he was willing to seem to be boasting. Literally he says: "I speak by way of disparagement (of myself) as though we had been weak," yet he adds: "Whereinsoever any is bold, I am bold also." Paul had as much to boast of as any one of his Jewish opponents (v. 21). "Are they Hebrews? (Of the purest blood, of one nation and language?) So am I." Are they Israelites, worshiping only one God? Are they of the seed of Abraham, inheritors of the ministry of the promise and the Messianic hope and the kingdom of God? Are they ministers of the Messiah, seeking to bring all men into his kingdom? "I speak as a fool. I speak as one beside himself. I am more." In labors he was more abundant; he had occupied a larger field with greater results. In stripes above measure—those inflicted by the heathen were not limited to forty blows—besides other beatings referred to in this list. In prisons oft (Acts 16:23). Frequently exposed to death and to the perils of robbers by land and sea (v. 24). "Five times I received forty stripes, save one, from the Jews" (v. 25). "Thrice was I beaten with rods; once was I stoned" (Acts. 14:19). "Thrice I suffered shipwreck," evidently not recorded in Acts, for his shipwreck on the way to Rome was later. "A night and a day in the deep," this not otherwise recorded. "In journeyings often," suffering from the perils of hard travel, often on foot in uncivilized regions. "In perils of water," literally "in rivers." Bridges were rare, and floods sudden and frequent. "In perils of robbers." Every road in Asia Minor then as now was infested with robbers. "In perils of his own countrymen;" "In perils by the Gentiles;" "In perils in the city;" "In perils in the wilderness;" "In perils in the sea" from storms, rocks, pirates; "In perils among false brethren"—Judaising teachers who were self-seeking instead of making the gospel first (Gal. 2:4; II Cor., 11:13). "In weariness and painfulness," literally in labor and travail; "In watchings often;" repeated nights of sleeplessness due to anxiety or pain. "In hunger and thirst, in fastings often," hunger unsatisfied for a long time. "In cold and nakedness;" in the mountain passes badly shod and badly clothed. Besides these things which were without, innumerable other trials such as the care of or anxiety over the churches (vv. 32, 33).

II. God's Sustaining Grace (12:1-10). To Paul God gave one of the greatest tasks ever committed to man, viz., the planting of the gospel in heathen lands; founding churches; teaching them the gospel truths of the Lord Jesus. He wrote to these churches two-fifths of the New Testament, thirteen of its twenty-seven books, and this work was accomplished under the greatest difficulty, trials and suffering. To sustain and guide, the Lord gave him "visions and revelations" (v. 1). These revelations came to him from the very beginning of his Christian life and continued in every great crisis. The first was given at his conversion, twenty years before this letter was written, when he saw Jesus in His glory and received his marching orders. Again (vv. 2-4), fourteen years before, or about A. D. 43, when he was in Antioch and first entered upon his foreign missionary work. He obtained his gospel directly from the Lord. Subsequently he had other visions to sustain and guide him.

Teachers ought to study this entire section, beginning at chapter 10. Paul says that as an apostle he did not labor in the fields of others (10:14-15).

He was not much concerned by what his enemies might say.

As to his opinion of them, read chapter 10. Ashamed to boast, yet for their sakes he meets their foolish charges by giving us this record.

Because of these sufferings (v. 10) he takes pleasure in infirmities, reproaches and persecutions; "For when I am weak" (in my own strength) then I am strong through Christ who strengthens me."

He may be a fool in glorying, compelled to as he had been, yet his work had been accompanied by the signs of an apostle, and he was not to be behind the very chiefest, although himself he was nothing.

On Saturday a special representative of the manufacturers of the new McDougal Auto-Front Kitchen Cabinet will be at Hadley's to demonstrate the superior advantages of this labor-saver for housewives. Don't hestitate about coming to this demonstration even if you are not ready to purchase. However, the Auto-Front is capable of reducing your kitchen work to such an extent that no woman can afford to be without one. It makes each hour you spend in the kitchen one of joy instead of drudgery, and it takes the place of a well-trained servant for a dollar per week (for a limited period only) and then becomes your right-hand helper for a lifetime without any additional expense.

$1.00 Down Places It in Your Home $34.75 Weekly Pays the Balance of

Some McDougall Features

Glass swinging sugar bin.

Air-tight tea, coffee, cereal and spice jars.

Ample china closet.

More McDougall Features

Linen drawer.
Cutlery drawer.
Sanitary leg base.

Notice the New Drop Door Feature

—It entirely eliminates the bothersome swinging doors that ordinarily swing out over the table top, and which cannot be opened or closed without removing everything that you have on the table. You simply release the catch and the Auto-Front drops down out of sight and out of the way, as illustrated above.

Everything You Need At Your Finger Tips

—No matter what you require in the course of the preparation of a meal you need only reach out and you have it within an arm's length without taking an unnecessary step. If you now feel the strain of kitchen work—if you are "simply worn out" at the end of a day—you owe it to yourself and family to investigate the McDougall.

Present Supply of McDougalls Limited

—The McDougall factory is experiencing an unprecedented rush of orders due to the efficiency of this new cabinet. Materials are somewhat scarce at present, and we have secured only a small shipment. Therefore we request that you come into the store as early as possible in order to be assured that you need not wait to have your order filled.

Remember $1 Cash Is All You Require

—One Dollar is so small an amount that you will never miss it—especially when you will enjoy the benefits of this initial payment for years to come. Then $1.00 a week for a few weeks will cover the entire cost. A. l the Auto-Front McDougall in your kitchen will be a source of helpful pleasure long after the cost is forgotten.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

ONE MORE DAY BEFORE THE BATTLE ROYAL

Saturday has to pass and then at 3 o'clock Sunday the two teams will be at each other. The Payne manager writes that he is coming to clean the Clearyites. Payne's team is almost the same as it was when it played here and shut the Clearyites out 5 to 0 some weeks ago.

The team is leary that something will happen and is bringing a brother pop-bottle dodger to arbitrate with Farnan. While the visitors are not afraid that someone will slip one over on them, they want to make the contest look like a real ball game. The management states that there will be no boy's day at the park Labor day because of the ruling of the board of health.

The dark and gloomy Labor day bill caused by the Colored Giants being matched will be the big event for the day's entertainment. Comedy and good playing will be mixed in such quantities so as to make a ball game worth going a long ways to gaze at. The game will start at 3 o'clock and the double umpiring system will be employed.

WELSH SHOWS GREAT SPEED IN BOXING

Champion Amazes Backers With His Fastness and Great Skill.

Colorado Springs, Col., Sept. 1.—Freddie Welsh ended his boxing in preparation for his twenty round championship match with Charley White here on Labor day in a blaze of glory. The champion showed himself in superb condition, and the way he threw a million or more gloves at his sparring partners made his backers sit back in amazement.

Many persons who had been of the opinion that Welsh was an all-in, down-and-outer after reading about this one and that one testing him in no decision battles throughout the east were forced to change their opinions.

Battles Like Welsh of Old.

Welsh, the old master of the ring, showed himself like the Welsh of old. He did everything he wanted with the boys Trainer Rose led into the ring at the Temple theater. It was a noticeable fact that only rarely did any of the trial horses land a blow. Wop Flynn, who is considered a fair boy around Denver, landed two blows in five rounds of work and was cheered.

While Welsh was working with Flynn and Battling Reidy he kept his jaw carefully guarded. Not for a single moment did Welsh forget to keep one of his gloves up high and his chin down, protecting himself from any possible damage that way when he tackles the Chicago challenger and his mighty left hook.

Exercise Rest of Week.

For the remaining days the champion will confine himself to exercises and going through the motions of boxing with his trainer. At the end of the day's boxing Welsh declared he was fit as the proverbial fiddle and felt sure he would retain the title long after Sept. 4.

White told his sparring partners, Harry Bramer and Mattie Smith, to go their fastest when he started boxing, and they followed instructions. Charley gave them all he had for eight rounds and at the end wore a scratched nose as a result of his boxing. When he had finished he stepped on the scales and tipped the beam at exactly 135½ pounds, just a half pound within the required notch.

Welsh again refused to weigh in. He declared the only time he would jump on the scales would be 9 o'clock on the day of the match, when he would be inside of the prescribed 135 pounds.

Women See Boxers Work.

It was "ladies' day" at the Temple theater. On the invitation of Promoter Eddie Pitts hundreds of women at the Springs took advantage of the free gate and were pleased with the performance. Women here have taken a great interest in the coming battle and each day the man in the box office reports heavy orders from the leaders of the social set.

Aldermen Jimmy Bowler, John Powers, and John Toleman, of Chicago, wired Nate Lewis they were coming to the battle with some friends. The work on the arena has been completed. The only thing which remains is to lay the floor of the ring. This will be done on Sunday morning.

PROMISING CANDIDATES IN SQUAD.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 1.—Promising candidates for Michigan's 1916 football eleven include Sharp, halfback; Sparks, quarter; Peach and Wieman, ends; Dunne, lineman, and Hanish, halfback. These men started with the freshmen eleven last season.

ARM THAT WON WORLD'S HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE MAY BE AMPUTATED AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 1.—The arm that won a heavyeight title may be sacrificed under a surgeon's knife.

Jim Jeffries, former champion of the world, and owner of the arm, is under the care of surgeons as the result of an accident which hapened to him while on a hunting trip in the mountains near this city.

A knife Jeff was using slipped and cut deeply into his hand. Infection followed and blood poisoning set in, the hand and arm swelling to twice the normal size. Surgeons hope to save the title-winning arm but say Jeff must lose the first finger.

Since retiring from the ring after his defeat at Reno Jeff has led the simple life of cafe proprietor and hunter.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

SAPPHIRES.

"Red" Pierre was elected captain of the Sapphire football team Wednesday night at a meeting held to discuss plans for the coming season. The Sapphires intend to take the city champion this year and are loading up their ranks with stars from all over the city, and except to have a strong team.

CAVALIERS.

The Cavaliers are starting early to get into condition for the season's work that is before them. They will practice at the Western Gas grounds Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All the old players and those who wish to try out should report as Manager Elmer Schafer wants to see what he has to work with. The Cavaliers have obtained some new stars for their team and expect to give a good account of themselves this season.

WAGNER OUT OF THE GAME.

Series of Injuries Incapacitates Veteran Shortstop.

Pittsburg, Sept. 1.—Honus Wagner, veteran shortstop of the Pittsburg Nationals, probably will not be able to play again this season owing to a series of injuries received during the past month. He was out ten days as a result of a badly injured thumb and a lacerated finger, and when these wounds had healed twisted a ligament in his leg. This injury was improving slowly when Wednesday in the first game with Boston Wagner went in as a pinch hitter and hurt his leg again. A number of recruits will be tried out in his position.

HARD WORK FINISHED.

Kilbane and Chaney Ready for Labor Day Go at Cedar Point.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 1.—Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, and George Chaney, of Baltimore, virtually finished hard work yesterday in training for the featherweight championship battle at Cedar Point on Labor day. Both men are in perfect shape today and down to the prescribed weight—126 pounds.

JENNINGS AFTER BUSH.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 1.—Since Manager Jennings, of the Detroit Tigers, made Connie Mack an offer for Pitcher Joe Bush, of the Athletics, Bush has twice stopped the Tigers. His last performance was won 1 to 0.

SPORT DOPE

Financially speaking, for the baseball magnates, Sunday is the strength of the week.

If it wasn't for Johnny Evers, President Tener wouldn't have anything to do but sign the payroll.

Officials of the Merion Cricket club say the national golf tournament will be a howling success if the stock of Scotch highballs holds out.

According to Bill Donovan a difference of 50 cents ruins many pitchers. Instead of making the batters foul the ball into the grandstand they let 'em hammer homers into the bleachers.

John McGraw says Lutner Taylor, while being the last deaf mute to play in the big leagues was not the last "dummy."

It begins to look as though the Boston Braves and the Boston Red Sox may be able to split a can of beans in October.

There's one union in the United States that will never strike for the eight-hour day. That's the baseball players union.

BUILDER AFTER RECORD.

Algonac, Mich., [illegible] 1.—A local speed boat builder, whose products have smashed every world's record, is confident he will turn out a hydroplane which will eclipse the record of 66.66 miles an hour recently made by the Miss Minneapolis. It is understood that the builder believes his boats will attain a speed of more than seventy miles an hour. On a trial trip recently one of the boats made a long intertown journey at a mile a minute clip.

SEND INVITATIONS TO CANDIDATES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 1.—Thirty-four invitations to the fall football practice have been issued by the University of Michigan. Four more will be sent if the prospective candidates pass examinations. These men, conditioned last spring, took the summer school course in an effort to become eligible for the eleven.

INDIANA GETS STARS.

Ripon, Wis., Sept. 1.—Ripon college is to lose two of its football stars, according to reports. "Tubby" Howard, captain of the 1916 eleven, has decided to enter Indiana and will take with him McNeill, an end. Howard is one of the best fullbacks in Wisconsin.

STRIKE TO HURT FIGHT.

Colorado Springs, Col., Sept. 1.—It seemed fairly certain Thursday that the promters of the Welsh-White championship fight here on Labor day will lose money.

How much they will be out depends upon the railroad strike. But all hopes of breaking even went a glimmering today. Many who would have come from distant points have passed up the show because they could not be sure they were going to get home.

The cost of staging the mill is figured at $35,000. Approximately $15,000 is in the till, and the promoters figure this will be doubled by automobile parties and local enthusiasts, which will leave a $5,000 shortage.

Both fighters will begin to lay off in their work today. White is within a pound and a half of the required 135.

ASKS MORE MONEY.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 1.—Louis Guisto, Portland's star first sacker, who has been sold to the Cleveland Americans, announces that he will not leave for Cleveland unless he gets $1,000 of his sale price as a bonus and $3,000 salary. Cleveland had set his salary at $2,150. Guisto said he was not anxious to go to the majors for another year anyway.

One Minute Talks with Ballplayers

FRED MERKLE, BROOKLYN DODGERS.

"In leaving the Giants I want to express appreciation of the treatment Manager McGraw and the Polo grounds fans accorded me while I was a Giant. I'm not a bit sore about the trade. Maybe they chased me right into a world's series.

"I haven't been playing good ball and am well aware of it. But nobody can say that I haven't tried. I cost the Giants a pennant once. I haven't forgotten it and a lot of other people have constantly reminded me of it.

"I hope and believe that the change will benefit me. Maybe I can play winning ball with a winning team."

HUGH JENNINGS, MANAGER DETROIT TIGERS.

"The scant lead the Red Sox now hold doesn't worry me. If we return home in September three or four games behind Boston I'll be satisfied. The Tigers have played very good ball at home all year and if they will do as well when we get back this time I think the lead will change hands.

"I now have three pitchers in fine shape for a drive to the finish and if I had had them two months ago I probably would not have to make a drive. Coveleskie, James and Dauss are now pitching very good ball which is the reason the Tigers have been winning lately.

NEW NAVAL MEASURE MAKES OUR RANK SURE

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—With the passage of the new naval appropriation bill the United States navy is assured of its future position as the second naval power of the world. The general board of the navy, headed by Admiral Dewey, has prepared some data as to the relative rank of our navy at the present time and in recent years.

"There is no known method," says the board, "of measuring accurately the relative power of two navies as all elements must be considered, such as displacement, number and size of guns, muzzle energy of battery, thickness and distribution of armor and speed and endurance. Displacement, however, is a simple and convenient measure. Personnel is also a convenient measure. Using these, the following figures show when the United States navy became second in size and strength and when the United States lost the second position:

"(a.) Considering displacement of ships built, the United States advanced from third to second place in 1907 and dropped to third in 1911.

"(b.) Considering displacement of ships built and building, the United States advanced from third to second place in 1909, held this place for a short time only, and dropped to third place again in the same year, 1909.

"(c.) Considering active personnel, the United States advanced from third to second place in 1908, dropped to third place in 1911 and to fourth place in 1913. The United States advanced again to third place in the first part of 1914 and later that year dropped to sixth place, owing to the expansion of the naval personnel of belligerent nations."

How the European war awakened the American nation to the necessity for increased national defense and how the present administration has responded to this demand is best indicated by comparing the total increases authorized for the navy in the three and a half years of the Wilson administration with the increase in the navy authorized under the two previous administration. Here are the figures:

Dreadnaughts	6	6	9
Battle cruisers	..	..	4
Scout cruisers	..	..	4
Destroyers	23	26	32
Submarines	20	20	57
Auxiliaries	6	11	14
Gunboats	..	2	1

The three naval bills passed since 1913 have authorized approximately twice as many new vessels as were authorized during the four preceding years, and about two and a half times as many as during the four years preceding that.

New construction as a measure of naval efficiency, however, is not the only indication of the progress of the navy. Special interests, intent on making profits from the navy, have done their best to cast slurs upon the administration of Secretary Daniels. It must be conceded, however, that under his regime, the navy has made greater progress than ever before, not only in new construction, but in other lines. For the first time the inducements offered to enlisted men in the navy have been such that the navy was recruited up to its full strength, and had a waiting list. Daniels placed in effect a system of education among the men that has been a great success. New opportunities for promotion were offered, and enlisted men were for the first time permitted to enter the Naval academy at Annapolis. Re-enlistments increased from 52 per cent to 85 per cent and desertions have fallen off from 216 to less than 90 per month, so that the number of prisoners has been reduced from 1,800 to 700 under improved penal systems.

Organization of the office of naval operations has resulted in better organization. A mine-laying division has been organized in the fleet for the first time in history. Additions to the store of torpedoes have been made. There has been increased production of powder at lower cost, due to government manufacture. Daniels has fought for and obtained an appropriation for a government armor plate plant which will manufacture armor at $230 a ton, instead of $454 charged by private manufacturers. A naval projectile factory has also been provided for. Increased appropriations and the development of aircraft for the navy, and the development of the best big gun in the world also represent long steps in placing the United States navy in the forefront of the navies of the world. Every navy yard has been or will shortly be equipped for building war vessels. Altogether, the navy under the Daniels administration, has undoubtedly made longer forward strides than at any other period in its history.

WOMAN LAWYER IS ACTIVE FOR CLIENTS

Her Efforts Successful in Saving Three from Death Chair.

New York, Sept. 1.—Two men and a woman owe their lives to Mrs. Grace Humiston, New York lawyer. She saved them from the electric chair.

Charles Stielow, sentenced on the charge of murdering Charles Phelps and his housekeeper, Margaret Wolcott, at West Shelby, N. Y., and whose sentence was reprieved eight times, is one of the men.

Mrs. Humiston read of Stielow's predicament and her sympathy for him was aroused. He is said to have the mentality of a child.

Woman's intuition led her to believe an innocent man was being held for murder. She investigated and as a result there came the arrest of Erwin King and his alleged confession of guilt. Stielow is to have another trial.

She was heard to say once: "At one place I visited recently I have pretty good reason to believe I came near being shot."

The other man indebted to the woman lawyer for his life is Genar Mazzella, now in Sing Sing on a life sentence.

The woman, Antoinette Tolla, of Kingsland, N. J., had been condemned to death for the murder of Joseph Sonta, in 1905. Mrs. Humiston saved her from the chair on the plea that she killed the man to save her honor and that of her two small children.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand by almost every family."

FAIRBANKS VOICES FORMAL ACCEPTANCE

Nominee Devotes Address to Advocacy of Republican Doctrine.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 1.—Charles W. Fairbanks delivered his speech of acceptance here yesterday following formal notification of his nomination as the republican candidate for the vice presidency. Mr. Fairbanks followed old paths in arguing for republican ascendency.

The notification address was delivered by Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, of Illinois, and in attendance were several other republican leaders of prominence. In his address of acceptance Mr. Fairbanks said:

"I am deeply sensible of the high honor of the commission which you bring me. To be chosen as the candidate of the republican party for the vice presidency of the United States is a distinction which any patriotic American may well covet. I accept the nomination and pledge you my utmost service during the campaign. If the people ratify the choice of the convention I shall consecrate my best efforts to the discharge of my official functions. As you are aware, this is a call which was unsolicited by me; that fact intensifies my sense of duty to those in behalf of whom you speak.

"The platform adopted by the Chicago convention has my hearty approval. Carried into the public administration and written into the statutes it will insure industrial and national prosperity during the years of our ascendancy.

"This is an hour when we must put our faith to the test. We should have nothing short of the best political party in the management of the vast and complicated mechanism of our government.

"We have before us for our judgment the platforms of the political parties which are appealing for the popular suffrage. The democratic party has established an unchallenged reputation for the repudiation of its platform utterances at its will. We never know what covenants it will keep or what it will reject when clothed with power.

"Political parties have individualities by which we may easily indentify them. We readily recognize the republican party by its long and successful conduct of the public business—its efficient administration of our political concerns. It has been a pledge-making and a pledge-redeeming party. To keep faith with the people has been its supreme desire.

Prepare for Commercial Invasion.

"One of the greatest problems which presents itself for our solution goes to the very root of our national prosperity and to the contentment of millions of our countrymen. We may take counsel of our friends who are engaged in the great war. Although the hour of peace is beyond their vision, they are already planning with reference to their industrial affairs when they leave the trenches. We have given much thought to military invasion. We should prepare for commercial invasion which would paralyze American industry and blight our happiness.

"The democratic party came into power through an unhappy division within our own ranks. It represented a minority of the people, and does not today hold a commission from the majority. When invested with power it immediately set forth to force down the throats of the majority policies to which they were and ever since have been opposed. Democracy stands, as it has stubbornly stood for many years, for a free trade or revenue tariff; while the republican party stands, as it has always loyally stood, for the great doctrine of American protection. Our future industrial prosperity depends upon our choice between the two in the pending campaign.

"What protection and free trade mean we know from our actual experience; they are not in the domain of the academic.

Has Worked Damage, He Says.

"The present free trade, or tariff for revenue law, which democracy regards with such high favor, has worked infinite damage. This law, which is to be maintained if democracy triumphs, must stand or fall not by what democratic conventions say of it, but by what it has said for itself under normal trade conditions. Even before it was approved by Mr. Wilson, who took pride in the executive act, business began to furl its sails. The coming storm was apparent and prudence took possession of our people. The certainty of the law spread fear among us. Our competitors in Europe and in the Orient were filled with joy. Commercial travelers from England, France, Germany and elsewhere were put upon the road in the United States and promptly began writing orders. The slowing-down process began with a wrench. The working men who were the first to feel the blighting effects of the reversal of our great economic policy, began to lose their jobs; factories were closed; trains were taken off our railway schedules; thousands of idle cars accumulated upon the sidetracks; mines were closed; the workers in our charities received increasing appeals from the unfortunate victims of the free trade policy. That democracy was again in power was made evident throughout the republic.

"So strong was the pressure of the unemployed that the administration was obliged to organize for the purpose of securing them work and wages. This seemed like mockery. To close the field of labor's opportunity and rob them by the thousands of their chance for wage, and then to organize search for work among those who were holding fast to what they had, seemed like the very irony of fate. The best employment agencies we have had in a half century have been republican protective tariff measures, such as bore the name of William McKinley and others.

Calls Underwood Law Failure.

"With the loss of work and wages under the Wilson administration the public revenue diminished. The Underwood law proved not only disastrous to labor, but failed as a revenue producer. The melancholy experiences of the years following the repeal of the McKinley law were being repeated under the Underwood enactment; the experiences of the years beginning with 1893 were being repeated in 1913. Hope was fast dying out when all Christiandom was shocked by the European war. Demands from the belligerent nations were made upon us for urgent military requirements; our idle men were recalled to the fields of industry; our foreign commerce rose to colossal figures and the golden currents sought our shores; prosperity returned to us in many quarters—not because of democracy, but in spite of it. It is not the prosperity of peace; it is not prosperity thoroughly diffused throughout the country; it is the prosperity of war, based upon the misfortunes of others; it is a prosperity which is known to be but temporary; there is no thought of permanence in it; all is spectacular—artificial—ephemeral.

"There is no observer who does not know that when the war ceases and the contest is transferred from the trenches to the factories, an unprecedented war of markets will be on. Our standard of wages and living will be matched against the lower wage and living standards of other countries more sharply than ever in our past history.

"The protective tariff when again adopted by the republican party must prove our safeguard. The democratic free trade measure was disastrous to our industries and public revenues before the war began. Upon what theory, based upon rational judgment, can we assume that we shall have a more favorable experience when peace is again restored than we had in the midst of peace when democracy overthrew our industries?

At Our Customs Houses.

"The democratic party threw away millions of dollars at our customs houses by the enactment of their unwise law. Many millions were given to our foreign competitors without the gain to us of a dollar. This is strikingly illustrated in a number of instances. I shall advert to one of the largest. It is but a type of many others.

"We are the greatest sugar consuming nation in the world. We are sending approximately $150,000,000 annually to foreign countries for sugar which should be produced at home.

"When McKinley came into power he sought to stimulate a wide interest in the development of the beet sugar industry. A duty of $1.95 per hundred pounds was placed upon sugar, which continued for sixteen years with but little change. Nearly $100,000,000 was invested in the industry during this period. At the same time foreign sugar producers paid at the customs houses over $1,100,000,000 for the privilege of selling their commodity in the market of the United States.

"We have succeeded in developing sugar in some fourteen states. Many hundreds of millions of dollars have been distributed to farmers, laborers, railroads, etc., in the process of growing, refining and distributing it. To the extent that we have produced sugar at home we have curtailed our foreign demand for it.

"According to the opinion of James Wilson, former secretary of agriculture, we have about 274,000,000 acres suited to the production of sugar beets—more than sufficient for all of our domestic needs. A duty upon sugar is justified from the standpoint of building up a great American industry. Furthermore, in the process of creating it we shall derive many millions of dollars of revenue and to that extent relieve the tax burdens which would otherwise rest upon the shoulders of our people.

Free Sugar Provision.

"When the Underwood law was enacted, it provided that the tariff upon sugar should be gradually reduced until it reached the free list, May 1, 1916. This was a staggering blow to the great industry, and a tremendous loss of public revenue. Forced by the necessities of the administration, congress repealed the free trade clause of the Underwood sugar schedule, not because the tariff aided an industry, but for revenue only. The repeal was effected a short time before sugar was scheduled to go upon the free list. This reversal of the hostile policy of the democratic administration is but temporary; if the party remains in power it will pursue the sugar industry to its death.

"Before congress repealed the free provision affecting the sugar schedule, duties amounting to many millions of dollars, which otherwise would have been paid by foreign sugar producers, were lost to our treasury, and the deficiency was raised by obnoxious stamp taxes imposed upon the people. This was a direct injury to us, not only in the loss of revenue, but in the crippling of a great and developing industry which the republican party had carefully sought to foster during the administration of Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

Merchant Marine.

"The rebuilding of our merchant marine is one of the imperative and urgent needs of the times. Our national safety and industrial independence demands that we shall not dally further with this great question. We must enact such laws as will enable us to compete successfully with other maratime nations. We once held a preeminent position in the carrying trade of the high seas, but we have lost our place of leadership and it devolves upon us now, if we are the great people we profess to be, to regain it. It is estimated that for the ten years prior to the beginning of the European war we paid to foreign ship owners for carrying our imports and exports approximately $1,500,000,000. The annual drain since then This tremendous outgo, if properly This tremendous outgo, if propertly financed would put no additional burden upon the government and would result in a large saving to the country. The war has emphasized the perils of our dependency upon other nations for the carrying of our foreign commerce. We are seriously handicapped in our effort to expand our markets into and beyond the seas because we must depend so largely upon foreign ship owners for the transportation of our products. A merchant vessel is a good commercial traveler and will search out business in all harbors for the country whose flag it bears.

"We are opposed to a government-owned or a government-operated merchant marine. Such a merchant marine is violative of sound governmental policty; it will prove expensive and serve to check individual enterprise from entering one of the most important fields of our national development. In the face of the tremendous drains upon the national treasury it is unfortunate indeed that the democratic party has seen fit to project the government into the purchase of merchant ships and to the expenditure of so vast a sum of money as it now contemplates. With favoring laws sufficient private capital will be invested to enable us to construct in American ship yards and with American labor all the merchant vessels required to give us our rightful place in the ocean-carrying trade of the world. Although we sorely need a great merchant marine we should not seek it, as the democratic administration proposes, by contravening sound national policies.

Economy.

"We are resolved to restore economy in government. Our democratic friends have repeatedly pledged themselves to economy in public administration, but when in power have been extravagant and reckless. Some of the strongest democratic leaders have denounced the extravagances of their party, but have been impotent to give us relief. Economy is in democratic platforms, but it seems to have no place in democratic administration.

"For nearly four years we have walked in darkness and doubt; we have endured stress and strain in our domestic affairs and have felt the humiliation of lost prestige in the chancellories of the world. We are eager to put our country's domestic concerns upon a sounder footing and to lift our flag to its former pre-eminence in the esteem of the natons of the earth. We covet nothing more earnestly than the good name of America, and any political party which tarnishes it through ignorance or design forfeits the popular confidence.

"We believe unqualifiedly in the maintenance of a firm foreign policy—doing justice to others and demanding like justice for ourselves. This is the surest method of regaining the world's esteem and insuring the prevalence of honorable peace with our international neighbors.

"Our opponents pride themselves upon the assumed fact that their candidate for the presidency has kept the country out of war. Their assertion is too broad; it comprehends more than the truth. We have not been kept out of war for there has been real war in Mexico, due to our own agression. It does not redound to our credit. That it was not greater is due to the fact that Mexico is not greater. There has been no desire upon the part of any power beyond the seas, either in Europe or in the Orent, to go to war with us.

"It is not a very difficult task for any president to keep out of war if nobody wants to fight us, and when our people thoroughly believe that an enlightened, firm diplomatic policy will meet successfully all of our international necessities.

Mexico.

"We regard the dealings of the president with Mexico as vacillating. He has been given a free hand and had no one to blame for what he had done or failed to do except himself. I have tried, so far as my influence would go, to uphold his hands, regardless of whether we agreed among ourselves as to the soundness of his policy. In foreign affairs we have always been loyal to our constitutional leader. Our patience has been put to the test in Mexico. We have sharply disagreed with the president, but have stood by him nevertheless. We have seen things go from bad to worse; we have seen the butchery of our countrymen upon both sides of the border; we have seen millions of dollars worth of property destroyed, but we have steadfastly supported him, and shall continue to do so until the close of the chapter of his power. A settlement day is now at hand, not between the president and Mexico, but between the president and the electors of the United States. Our patience is exhausted and we believe our national interest requires a new deal.

"It is unnecessary to view the president's course with Mexico in detail; one or two conspicuous facts will suffice. It was our manifest duty to have recognized Huerta as the president, either de facto or de jure; he was clearly in power under the forms of Mexican law and was entitled to recognition by diplomatic precedent. He was a powerful soldier and the one man above all others in his country who was capable of establishing order. He had been recognized by the leading powers outside of the United States; but our chief executive turned against him, gave aid and encouragement to his enemies and in time effected his overthrow. We have been called upon to incur large obligations in Mexico and along the border which would have been unnecessary, in my judgment, if we had recognized Huerta. Such recognition would have given him financial credit and added strength to his arm. The interposition of President Wilson in the domestic affairs of Mexico was unwarranted in sound international policy and has proven disastrous in point of fact.

"We do not generally appreciate the importance of the Mexican problem. The relations between the two countries are so intimate that everything in honor should be done to maintain good neighborhood between them. The population of Mexico is 15,000,000. There are some 40,000 American dwellers within the republic, and upon its invitation. The wealth of the country is roundly $2,400,000,000. American investments amount to more than $1,000,000,000, or approximately 45 per cent of the total.

"The Mexican situation is a challenge to the Monroe Doctrine, the maintenance of which is so vital to the future peace and safety of the United States. It is fair to say that except for the engagement of European powers in a war at home, which involves their very existence, a protest would have come from them against the wrongs which have been inflicted upon their subjects and citizens in Mexico. The protest would have come so peremptorily that we could not have disregarded it, or have satisfied the just indignation of our European friends by a few polite notes.

"The terrible struggle will tend to intensify, rather than moderate, the spirit of nationalism throughout the world, and in the future, as never before it will be necessary for us to maintain a standard of Americanism, free from division by sectionalism, class prejudice or alien sympathy. There never was a time when it was more important to us, as Americans, to avoid creating lines of cleavage in this country based upon place of birth or occupational status. We cannot properly censure Americans of foreign birth for sympathy with the nations which once claimed their allegiance, as against the nations with which they are fighting, and the attempt to impute treasonable motives to any one class of our citizens because of their original nationality, or the sympathies which go with it, so long as these do not interfere with their paramount loyalty to the republic, or in any way infringe it, is severely to be condemned. The greatest menace in this country is not so much the man who loves two countries as the man who loves no country at all.

Preparedness.

"We stand for preparedness measured by our national needs—a strong army and navy adequate to compel respect for our diplomacy and to insure peace. Hand in hand with our physical preparedness there must go industrial preparedness, which shall insure prosperity for the millions who labor and who in the final analysis are the real source of our national strength.

"The limitations of the hour prevent me from considering all the phases and issues of the campaign. Later I shall avail myself of the opportunity to discuss them.

Conclusion.

"In conclusion, my friends, I wish to say that it is a very great pleasure to me to be associated in this contest with Charles Evans Hughes—our leader. He has in the fullest degree exemplified in his life and public services the best aims and highest purposes of the American people. His election will be an assurance that we shall go forward in the enjoyment of a new era of honor and prestige abroad and prosperity and contentment at home. We rejoice that the light of a better day is breaking."

NEW HAVEN CIVIC CLUB IS PROPOSED

Charles L. Biederwolf, secretary of the Fort Wayne Commercial club, told New Haven business men, Thursday night, the method of organizing a commercial club. New Haven will form one. Two hundred men heard the secretary.

Mr. Biederwolf related the facts of changing ideas which govern the operation of a commercial club. He said the committees on town beautification, streets, roads and street-lighting were becoming more important. He urged that the best brains of the town be put on the principal committees.

Residents of New Haven who made addresses, were Will Schnelker, R. J. Blackwell, A. M. Hartzell, J. M. Davis, Henry Freese, Herman J. C. Leitz, C. W. Speery, B. H. Smith and W. E. Bowers. Another meeting will be held a week from tonight.

SPECIAL NOTICE!

The Albert F. Brase Bankrupt stock of Groceries and Fixtures, at the corner of DeWald and Calhoun Sts., Fort Wayne, will be sold to the highest bidder at the offices of The Evans Sales Co., 213 Physicians' Defense Building, on Saturday, September 2nd, between the hours of 8 and 4.

BISHOP ALERDING MAKES APPOINTMENTS

Rev. M. P. Louen, Pastor at Besancon, Transferred to Huntington.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Herman J. Alerding, of the diocese of Fort Wayne, has made several new appointments which will take effect soon. Rev. Michael P. Louen, pastor of the St. Louis Catholic church at Besancon for the past eight years, and well known in Fort Wayne, has been appointed to the irremovable rectorship of SS. Peter and Paul's church at Huntington, succeeding the late Rev. William C. Miller.

Rev. George Moorman, assistant to Rev. John F. Noll at St. Mary's church at Huntington, will become the successor to Rev. Louen at Besancon. The newly appointed rector is well known in Fort Wayne, having been assistant at the Cathedral for three years.

Rev. L. Faurote, for the past two months, third assistant at the Cathedral in this city, will succeed Father Moorman.

Rev. Otto C. Peters, a native of Tipton, Ind., who was ordained in this city in June, will become the third assistant at the Cathedral of Immaculate Conception in this city. Since July 5 Father Peters has been temporarily performing the pastoral duties in Father Miller's congregation in Huntington.

New Organist at Cathedral.

Francis MacVeigh, a prominent young organist from Cincinnati, O., began his duties as organist at the Cathedral Friday morning. He succeeds Prof. M. Noll, who for more than thirty years presided at the organ. The new organist is a graduate from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, Catholic church music department.

DR. SMITH CONTINUES TALK ON "CONCEPT"

Detroit Man on Institute Program for Closing Session Friday.

Dr. A. T. Smith, of the Thomas normal training school, Detroit, spoke on "The Concept" Friday morning before the teachers of the Allen county teachers' institute at the high school building. He dealt with "fact" and "art" subjects, giving under the former classification the subjects of history, literature, spelling, primary reading and political geography and under the latter, art reading, writing, oral music and drawing.

The speaker said a subject could not be mastered alone by intellectual idealizing but by grasping the significance of a subject.

Dr. Carolyn E. Geisel, of Battle Creek, Mich., was scheduled for an address at 11 o'clock. Dr. Smith will speak again Friday afternoon, and Dr. Geisel was to close the institute program with an address Friday afternoon. Dr. Smith gave the invocation Friday morning.

Lecture to Men.

Dr. Geisel delivered a lecture before men Thursday night in the high school auditorium. She made an appeal for clean living and declared it was up to America to furnish the men of the world. She traced the destructive effects of incurable diseases through the generations.

Rogers Has Department.

O. L. Rogers, directing the penmanship department of the Allen county teachers' institute Thursday, took up the criticizing and grading of writing. His subject was "The Finished Product—Development of Form, Heighth, Slant and Spacing." The teachers obtained many valuable ideas from Mr. Roger's work.

AUTOMOBILE MEN IN PICNIC.

Thirty-five dealers of the Paige automobile, who conduct their places of business in this district, enjoyed the annual outing and picnic at Lake Wawasee, Thursday. Chester G. Schiefer, manager of the Fort Wayne branch and the northeastern Indiana district, was in charge of the event. It was an all-day affair and everyone enjoyed themselves. The program included various automobile stunts such as changing tires and hill climbing. A fish dinner was served in the evening, after which the men enjoyed a ride on the lake.

THE DEATHS.

KALBACHER.

Mrs. Jane Kalbacher, aged 71 years, widow of Andrew Kalbacher, died Thursday evening at St. Joseph's hospital. She had been a patient there only one day and death followed an operation for gallstones which she underwent Thursday morning. She had been ailing for some time but had been at Rome City since August 9.

The deceased was a lifelong resident of Fort Wayne and was born June 17, 1845, at 714 East Wayne street, in the house where she had lived all her life. She was a charter member of St. Mary's Catholic church and of the various societies of the congregation. Her husband passed away twelve years ago. She is survied by the following daughters: Mother Mary Aquinta, superior of the Academy of Our Lady, Chicago; Mrs. Thomas McKiernan and the Misses Theresa and Leonora Kalbacher, of this city. There are also one grandchild and one brother, Frank Fink.

HORSTMAN.

Henry C. Horstman, aged 76 years, died Thursday evening at the home of his son, Henry Horstman, jr., 606 East Lewis street, following an illness due to pneumonia. Mr. Horstman was born in Germany and came to Fort Wayne in 1848 and was a charter member of St. Mary's Catholic church, and also a member of the school society and St. Andrew's Catholic church. He was a veteran of the civil war and had worked for the Pennsylvania company from 1865 to 1908, when he was placed on the company's pension list. Three sons survive him: Rev. George Horstman, of St. Andrew's Catholic church, and Henry and John Horstman, of this city. There are also four sisters: Mrs. Elizabeth Metzger, of Lafayette; Mrs. Mary Nierman, Mrs. Michael Gotha and Mrs. Anthony Fechner, of this city, and a brother, John Horstman, of Rome City. Nine grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services Saturday morning at 9:45 o'clock at the residence and at 10:15 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

LAUER.

Mrs. Anna C. Lauer, aged 53 years, died Thursday afternoon at the family home, 234 East Jefferson street. Death was due to apoplexy and followed an illness of six months. Mrs. Lauer was born in Fort Wayne and was educated in the parochial schools of St. Mary's Catholic church. She was a member of that congregation and of the Rosary society. Surviving she leaves a son, Paul; one grandchild, the mother and two brothers and two sisters, John, Henry, Elizabeth and Christina, of this city.

Funeral services Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church Omit flowers.

HITZEMAN.

Paul Hitzeman, aged four days, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hitzeman, who reside six miles northwest of the city on the Leesburg road, died Thursday afternoon at the family home. Burial will take place at the Bethlehem cemetery.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Llano Grande, Texas, Sept. 1.—The spirits of the Indiana soldiers ran high when news trickled back to camp of an attack made by Mexican bandits on the Minneapolis company of the First Minnesota, on patrol duty at the Mercedes pumping station on the Rio Grande. The Terre Haute, Vincennes, Crawfordsville and Princeton companies, of the Second Indiana infantry, are to replace Minnesota troops both at the border town of Progresso and the Mercedes pumping station in about two weeks, and the skirmish between the Mexicans and the Americans from this camp gives the Indiana troops hopes of getting similar experience, for which they crave.

No official order concerning the mustering out of student organizations has yet reached camp, though newspaper reports from Washington of the modified policy of the war department were circulated through the camp. Purdue battery known as battery B, is regarded as a university organization, as is also the Indiana university battery of the Second Indiana, but there is doubt of the status of company I, of the First Indiana, composed largely of Indiana students. The threatened railroad strike, however, makes it uncertain about when any soldier student may return home.

Major Glenn VanAuken has departed for his home at Auburn, Ind., on a thirty-day leave, and Col. Thomas B. Coulter, commander of the Second Indiana, is to depart tomorrow for home at Vincennes, Ind., on a fifteen-day leave. Col. Coulter suffered illness for several days and is going to the Indiana climate to recuperate. In his absence Lieut. Col. Emmett F. Branch, of Martinsville, will be in command of the regiment.

U. B. CONFERENCE AT WARSAW ON TUESDAY

Leaders in the Church to Address St. Joseph District.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 1.—Between 500 and 600 delegates, ministers and visitors are expected here next week to attend the seventy-second annual session of the St. Joseph conference of the United Brethren in Christ. The conference will open Tuesday evening and will continue over Sunday.

The opening address will be by Rev. O. E. Grubb, of Ligonier. The address of welcome will be given by Rev. A. G. Neal, pastor of the Warsaw Methodist church. Among the speakers will be Bishop H. H. Fout, of Indianapolis; Rev. C. C. Schell, of Dayton, O., secretary of education of the U. B. church; President Good, of Indiana Central university, and Dr. A. E. Foutt, of Bonebrake Theological seminary.

Bishop Fout will be the presiding officer. The first official session will be held Wednesday morning. The ordination of elders will take place Sunday and on the same day the report of the stationing committee will be read.

The St. Joseph conference consists of eighty-five charges and 256 local societies. Although the church membership is only 25,000, there are 35,000 in the Sunday schools of the district. There are twenty organized churches in Kosciusko county, with a membership of 2,500 and a Sunday school attendance of 3,000.

PRESIDENT SIGNS CHILD LABOR BILL

Washington, Sept. 1.—President Wilson today signed the child labor bill. The ceremony was witnessed by Secretary Wilson, Senator Robinson, Representative Keating, Julia Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau of the labor department, and a large group of men and women interested in the legislation.

"I want to say that with real emotion I sign this bill," the president said, "because I know how long the struggle has been to secure legislation of this sort and what it is going to mean to the health and to the vigor of the country and also to the happiness of those whom it affects. It is with genuine pride that I play my part in completing this legislation. I congratulate the country and felicitate myself."

ACCEPTED AND ON WAY IN TWO HOURS TIME

Recruit No. 1 made application at the recruiting station in the Swinney block, was accepted and was on his way to Fort Benjamin Harrison, all in the short space of two hours. Hugh Marker, of Huntington, aged twenty-one years, has the distinction of being the first man accepted by Lieut. Howard Miller, who is in charge of the recruiting work here. Four men thus far have been turned down because they were not capable of passing the physical examination.

E. A. K. HACKETT'S FORM IS BORNE TO THE TOMB

Impressive Funeral Rites Held Thursday for the Dead Publisher.

The remains of the late Edward A. K. Hackett, publisher and owner of The Sentinel, were laid in their final resting place in Lindenwood cemetery, Thursday afternoon, following funeral services held in the First Presbyterian church. Friends and acquaintances of the deceased gathered early at the church to pay tribute to the man whose memory they will ever cherish. The services were simple, but impressive. They were in accord with the wishes of the deceased.

Rev. Henry B. Master, pastor of the church, officiated. He spoke briefly. He said it was not his custom to eulogize at funeral services. A man's life would speak for itself—certainly the life that Edward A. K. Hackett had led needed no eulogy, he said.

Rev. Sol C. Dickey, of Winona Lake, told of his long acquaintance with the deceased, and read a number of inscriptions which he had found written in a bible of the late publisher in his cottage at Winona Lake, Wednesday. There were many of them, he said—notations that Mr. Hackett had used to make more impressive certain passages, applicable to his own life and the lives of others. Mr. Dickey referred to these to point out the Christian earnestness and sincerity of the man in whose honor and to whose memory the services were held.

Complying with the request of Mr. Hackett made some years ago, P. P. Billhorn, noted writer an composer of gospel songs, sang one of the deceased's favorite songs. When Mr. Billhorn heard of Mr. Hackett's death he remembered the request and the promise he had made and immediately wired from Chicago that he would come. Two selections were also sung by the Hadyn quartet.

The floral offerings were beautiful—tokens of the high esteem and love of those whose privilege it was to know the deceased.

Resolutions By Y. M. C. A.

Resolutions on the death of E. A. K. Hackett have been passed by the central board of the Young Men's Christian association, of which Mr. Hackett was a member. The resolutions are:

"Mr. E. A. K. Hackett has quietly and almost unawares slipped anchor and crossed the bar and as in silent sorrow we take the last look at the frail bark and bid farewell, we turn with words of regret and comfort to those friends whose loss is even greater than our own.

"Mr. Hackett was in the front beckoning on and leading the way in well nigh every good movement, offering good counsel and giving liberally of his means and forgetting not the silent petition to Him from whom comes the good and perfect gifts. He was earnest and modest, courageous and peaceable, successful in the world and a pillar in the church—a faithful, lovable Christian gentleman.

"He was continuously a member of the central board of the Young Men's Christian association from its inception, and was deeply interested in all its activities and rejoiced greatly in its recent successes. In his winter home in Los Angeles he did a great deal of Y. M. C. A. work among the prisoners in the jails and workhouses of that city, and was secretary of the department having that branch of the work in charge. He was the good Samaritan to many a weary, ill-fated traveler in life's journey, and to enumerate all of his charitable activities would only tire and sadden, and it is thus with deep sorrow and a feeling of immeasurable loss that his associates in the Y. M. C. A. work in Fort Wayne bow to the inevitable decree.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Young Men's Christian association of Fort Wayne deeply deplore the death of our good friend and worthy champion of our cause, E. A. K. Hackett, and we commend to all the world the example of his manly Christian character.

"Be it further resolved, that we extend our tender sympathy and condolence to the sorrowing family, trusting that their reflections upon his well spent life, with a firm reliance upon the Comforter, will assuage the anguish of their grief until the great tomorrow brightens with a joy that cometh with the morning."

TWO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR.

Ossinning, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Two men were put to death in the electric chair in Sing Sing today. For the murder of Mrs. Julia Heitner, a Brooklyn woman who was his employer, Joseph Hanel, 35, was executed shortly before 6 o'clock. Three minutes later Jan Tybus paid the penalty for killing Jacob Schoenberg, a junk dealer in Batavia. A third man, Thomas Bambrick, convicted of killing a policeman in New York, also was to have been executed but Governor Whitman granted him a stay upon representations that new evidence had been discovered which should entitle him to a new trial.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"Miss U. S. A.," Big Musical Review, Twice on Saturday.

"Miss U. S. A.," under the direction of Mr. Francis T. Reynolds, will come to the Majestic theater, matinee and night, Saturday.

This is an exceptionally clever and fascinating musical comedy constructed upon new and novel ideas to satisfy lovers of musical comedy.

The play possesses a brilliant and interesting narrative which abounds in sparkling comedy of the better class, and a score which comprises more beautiful popular musical hits than any musical comedy of the past ten years. The firm hold the play has take nupon the public is nothing short of marvelous. The crowded houses greeting this play in every city visited is positive proof of the popularity and merits of the attraction. An added feature is Annette LaRochelle.

The costuming of this beautiful musical comedy is a revelation in originality, as every gown worn by principal and chorus is an original French creation, molded on the person wearing it.

AT THE PALACE

Famous Vaudevillians Top a Remarkable Bill at Palace.

Tony Hunting, formerly of the Four Huntings, in a Fool House, and his charming partner, Miss Ethel Francis, are featuring the season's most remarkable bill at the New Palace. When it is remembered that the lovely little Violet MacMillan, the Cinderella of the Screen, in real and reel life, is on this same bill, as are MacRae and Clegg and a host of others, it will be understood what is meant by a remarkable bill. Hunting is a comedian of distinction, while Miss Francis' sweet, clear voice and her charming personal appearance give the act just the touch that raises it far above the ordinary.

Tiny Violet MacMillan, the little blonde movie queen, is presenting a novel act in which she takes some sage observations about her pictures as snatches of film plays are flashed on the screen. She also sings a group of brand new song hits and relates an amusing group of personal experiences.

Mortimer MacRae and Gertrude Clegg have a bicycling novelty that really is a novelty. Miss Clegg does most of the riding with MacRae in the role of a soused intruder furnishing the laughs. Otto Koerner and company in the comedy sketch, "The Automobile Broker," have some rapid fire business life comedy talk, while Fenton and Green, a couple of simon pure nuts, are a laugh from curtain to curtain in their absurd imitation of a magician and his partner. P. George, the musical chef, dishes up music out of a beef roast, a frying pan, a couple of skillets, a kitchen range and watever other utensils are handy.

AT THE TEMPLE.

Louis Wolford Presents New Stock Company in "Sinners."

The new Temple stock company will make its initial appearance with the opening of the season at the popular playhouse next week, when the attraction will be W. A. Brady's great New York comedy-drama, "Sinners," from the pen of Owen Davis. It will be presented under the stage direction of Maurice Jenkins ,one of Fort Wayne's favorites and members of last season's stock company. Louis Wolford, the manager, has brought to this city a company of first-class artists, and will put on plays that have never before been seen here at popular prices. Miss Ann Bert, the leading lady, with a personality which has won golden opinions wherever she has played, is the leading lady in the new company formed by Mr. Wolford, and she will be supported in the opening bill of "Sinners" by a powerful cast, especially selected because of their adaptability for the roles. There will be matinees next Monday, Labor day, also Tuesday and Saturday afternoons, with attractive features and the best of dramas to please Fort Wayne's play-going public.

AT THE GRAND

This chapter concludes the "Flying A" serial featuring Thomas Chatterton and Juanita Hansen and dealing with a fictitious but timely invention.

The last installment shows the code explaining the secret found and put to use. Dr. Burke's invention is perfected, and the United States, by obtaining it, is put into a position to whip the world n naval warfare. Cleo, the heroine, appears to have been drowned, but this is a false alarm, for she is rescued by life-savers and recovers in time to claim the fortune offered by the government, and to be married to Lieutenant Hope.

The villains are disposed of in one way or another, and through them their governments defeated. Russia lost out in the preceding chapter when Olga, the adventuress, was slain by her accomplice, Morton. Hope pushes Satsuma, the Jap, out of a fourth story window when the latter shows his treachery at the resdezvous after Cleo has been kidnaped. The terrible secret society gets Mahlin, its agent, stabbing him when he fails at the appointed time to bring back the secret. "Hook" is true to his mission to the last, when he brings Cleo back to Hape, who had found the book, learned the secret, and set teh invention to working properly. The last flash of the picture shows the American flag waving triumphantly.

The serial following the "Secret of the Submarine" will be "Liberty" in twenty episodes, dealing with the American troops on the Mexican border.

UNEARTH TIMBERS OF FIRST RAILROAD.

In excavating for a building at Tiffin, last week, the timbers on which were nailed the strap iron of the old Mad River road, the first steam road in Ohio, were unearthed, in a fairly good state of preservation. The Tiffin Tribune, noting the finding of the timbers said: "The Mad River road is now a part of the Big Four system. These timbers were installed, perhaps as early as 1847 or 1848 and not later than 1853. The timbers were used to fasten the strap iron to and over this strap iron the trains ran, the railroad of those days being vastly different from the present manner of construction. The old line extended from Sandusky to

Outbursts of Everett True

FOR THE INFORMATION OF THE PUBLIC:

The Railroads' statement of their position on the threatened strike, as presented to the President of the United States

A strike on all the railroads of the country has been called by the Train Brotherhoods for 7 o'clock Monday morning, September 4.

This strike was ordered from Washington while the President of the United States was making every effort to avert the disaster.

The Final Railroad Proposal

The final proposal made by the railroads for a peaceful settlement of the controversy, but which was rejected by the brotherhoods, was as follows:

(a) The railroads will, effective September 1, 1916, keep the time of all men represented in this movement, upon an 8 hour basis and by separate account, monthly, with each man, maintain a record of the difference between the money actually earned by him on the present basis and the amount that would have been earned upon an 8 hour basis—overtime on each basis to be computed pro rata.

The amounts so shown will be subject to the decision of the Commission, provided for in Paragraph (c) of this memorandum and payable in money, as may be directed by said Commission in its findings and decision.

(b) The Interstate Commerce Commission to supervise the keeping of these accounts and report the increased cost of the 8 hour basis, after such period of actual experience as their judgment approves or the President may fix, not, however, less than three months.

(c) In view of the far-reaching consequences of the declaration made by the President, accepting the 8 hour day, not only upon the railroads and the classes of labor involved directly in this controversy, but to the public and upon all industry, it seems plain that before the existing conditions are changed, the whole subject in so far as it affects the railroads and their employees, should be investigated and determined by a Commission to be appointed by the President, of such standing as to compel attention and respect to its findings. The judgment of such a Commission would be a helpful basis for adjustments with labor and such legislation as intelligent public opinion, so informed, might demand.

Statement of Executives to the President

In submitting this proposal to the President, the fifty railroad executives called to Washington and representing all the great arteries of traffic, made this statement to him of their convictions:

The demands in this controversy have not been presented, in our judgment, for the purpose of fixing a definite daily period of labor, nor a reduction in the existing hours of labor or change in methods of operation, but for the real purpose of accomplishing an increase in wages of approximately One Hundred Million Dollars per annum, or 35 per cent. for the men in railroad freight train and yard service represented by the labor organizations in this matter.

After careful examination of the facts and patient and continuous consultation with the Conference Committee of Managers, and among ourselves, we have reached a clear understanding of the magnitude of the questions, and of the serious consequences to the railroads and to the public, involved in the decision of them.

Trustees for the Public

As trustees for the public served by our lines and for the great mass of the less powerful employees (not less than 80 per cent. of the whole number) interested in the railroad wage fund—as trustees also for the millions of people that have invested their savings and capital in the bonds and stock of these properties, and who through the saving banks, trust companies and insurance companies, are vitally interested to the extent of millions of dollars, in the integrity and solvency of the railroads of the country, we cannot in conscience surrender without a hearing, the principle involved, nor undertake to transfer the enormous cost that will result to the transportation of the commerce of the country.

The eight-hour day without punitive overtime involves an annual increase, approximately, in the aggregate of Sixty Millions of Dollars, and an increase of more than 20 per cent. in the pay of the men, already the most highly paid in the transportation service.

The ultimate cost to the railroads of an admission in this manner of the principle under contention cannot now be estimated; the effect upon the efficiency of the transportation of the country now already under severe test under the tide of business now moving, and at a time when more, instead of less, effort is required for the public welfare, would be harmful beyond calculation.

The widespread effect upon the industries of the country as a whole is beyond measure or appraisement at this time, and we agree with the insistent and widespread public concern over the gravity of the situation and the consequences of a surrender by the railroads in this emergency.

In like manner we are deeply impressed with the sense of our responsibility to maintain and keep open the arteries of transportation, which carry the life blood of the commerce of the country, and of the consequences that will flow from even temporary interruption of service over the railroads, but the issues presented have been raised above and beyond the social and monetary questions involved, and the responsibility for the consequences that may arise will rest upon those that provoke it.

Public Investigation Urged

The questions involved are in our respectful judgment, eminently suitable for the calm investigation and decision by the public through the agency of fair arbitration, and cannot be disposed of, to the public satisfaction, in any other manner.

The decision of a Commission or Board of Arbitration, having the public confidence, will be accepted by the public, and the social and financial rearrangements made necessary thereby will be undertaken by the public, but in no less deliberate nor orderly manner.

The railroads of the country cannot under present conditions assume this enormous increase in their expenses. If imposed upon them, it would involve many in early financial embarrassment and bankruptcy and imperil the power of all to maintain their credit and the integrity of their securities.

The immediate increase in cost, followed by other increases that would be inevitable, would substantially appropriate the present purchasing power of the railroads and disable them from expanding and improving their facilities and equipment, to keep abreast of the demands of the country for efficient transportation service.

In good faith we have worked continuously and earnestly in a sincere effort to solve the problem in justice to all the parties at interest. These efforts were still in progress when the issuance of the strike order showed them to be unavailing.

Problem Threatens Democracy Itself

The strike, if it comes, will be forced upon the country by the best paid class of laborers in the world, at a time when the country has the greatest need for transportation efficiency.

The problem presented is not that alone of the railroad or business world, but involving democracy itself, and sharply presents the question whether any group of citizens should be allowed to possess the power to imperil the life of the country by conspiring to block the arteries of commerce.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

TO PREVENT THE TRAINMEN'S STRIKE

Pennsy Employes Circulating Petition to Congress for Law Interference.

Employes of the western division of the Pennsylvania are arranging to circulate a petition among the men in this district, the idea being to secure the signatures of employes of the Pennsylvania lines who believes matters of the nature referred to should be decided by arbitration rather than force of a strike which would throw hundreds of thousands of men who are not directly interested out of work, and would inconvenience the whole nation. The petition reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned citizens of the state of ——————, employes of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, and among those comprising more than 80 per cent. of the employes of the railways of our state and country, being confronted with the possibility of the entire paralyzation of the railways of the country by the proposed general strike of the four orders of trainmen, a group of less than 20 per cent. of the entire number of railways employes, and the consequent curtailment of income to us, the more than 80 per cent., and to whom such a curtailment would be ruinous, and fully realizing that under this great government, where the ruling doctrine is "The Greatest Good to the Greatest Number"; we the large majority, more than 80 per cent. of the people to be directly injured by such destructive methods of the few who happen to be placed in a position where they can use them having a clear and definite right to be protected (the general public and all other industries seriously endangered also having that right):

"Do earnestly petition you, our senators and representatives, individually, and as the congress of the nation, and pray that some definite legislative action be taken, whereby the vast majority of the people of the country shall be protected from a destructive interruption of interstate commerce, due wholly to selfish action of a small group of men, and all the differences which may arise between railways and employes shall be settled by proper arbitration.

"In this you will recognize the fundamental principle of the republic, and that no group of men ought to be permitted, directly or indirectly, to conspire to an end calculated to benefit them only and, directly or indirectly, work wrong and loss among the great majority."

A similar movement was inaugurated in Pittsburg a week ago and is said to have been favorably received by the employes. Concerning the work there, the Pittsburg Post says:

"R. T. Frazier, jr., of Nashville, Tenn., was in Pittsburg yesterday in the interest of a movement among the unorganized railroad employes of the country to have congress enact legislation that will prevent a tie-up of railroad traffic through a strike. The plan promulgated by Mr. Frazier is to have petitions circulated among all the employes not included in the four brotherhoods of train operatives, and sent to the president and congress, the petitions to ask that such legislation be enacted.

"The four brotherhoods represent less than 20 per cent. of the total number of railroad employes," said Mr. Frazier yesterday. "The other 80 per cent. would be affected by a strike and have as much interest involved as the brotherhoods. We ask, in case the present controversy is submitted to a board of arbitration, that we also be requested on the board."

YOUTHFUL TRESPASSERS ON TRIAL

Edgar Bonnis and John Tiezer, aged respectively sixteen and fourteen years, are on trial at Cleveland for placing obstructions on the Nickel Plate tracks and endangering the lives of passengers and train crews. One of the charges was that of breaking the locks on a heavy push car and shoving it out on the tracks at Tippecanoe. Another offense was piling brake shoes, stones and other things on the tracks at Claypool and then hiding to see the effects when a train struck the heap. Fortunately the obstructions were picked up by the pilot and thrown clear of the right-of-way without doing any damage. Capt. C. L. Bonk, of the Nickel Plate, went to Cleveland last night to attend the trial as a witness.

GETTING READY FOR CONVENTION

Fifty-One Fort Wayne Vets Going to Buffalo.

Up to the noon hour today fifty-one members of the Old Veteran's association of the Nickel Plate had secured berths in the Pullman cars assigned to the Fort Wayne delegation on the trip to the annual convention at Buffalo, which will be held tomorrow. There may be a few apply for berths later, but it is believed by the passenger men that the list was completed at noon. It is not quite as large as expected, many members not being able to attend on account of the freight truckmen's strike in Chicago and the threatened strike of the brotherhood men, Monday. The special train carrying the vets, which will leave Fort Wayne with three Pullman cars, will run as a second section of No. 4, leaving the city about 8:30 tonight. It will take on another car at Fostoria, one at Bellevue and two or three at Cleveland. The Fort Wayne and vicinity vets who will occupy the sleeping cars, according to the reservations made, will be: Dr. J. M. Dinnen, Supt. W. F. Watterson, Special Agent S. K. Blair, Chief Dispatcher J. T. Callahan, F. Walpole, J. P. Brinkman, J. H. Yoeman, William Marks, A. A. Weaver, Joseph Groves, H. O. Wilson, Leroy Hartzler, E. F. Carroll, L. E. Runnels, E. E. Ensler, Robert Johns, J. F. Birmingham, V. McIntyre, William Link, Joseph Bracht, E. E. Cripe, John Black, A. Harris, Joseph Hale, Timothy Hennessey, Peter Eggeman, U. G. Alder, H. Carberry, R. Rodgerson, H. E. Allison, J. M. Fabring, J. Faudre, C. D. Howe, J. A. Hackman, E. W. Doelling, C. H. Titus, Thomas Baillie, B. F. Weakley, P. F. Gilmartin, Frank Shafer, Frank Figitstaller, Joseph Gear, G. F. Davis, J. H. Wilson, J. S. Bailie, S. P. Hooper, J. W. Harber, George Quidoe, Charles Bromelmeier, William Haenel and D. T. McFee. The party will return Sunday morning, on the special, arrival at CMRFDL..VTA the special, arriving at 11 o'clock.

DYNAMO "BURNED OUT."

Part of General Electric Works Inoperative for a Day.

One of the five 1,000 horse power dynamos in the power plant of the General Electric works "burned out" at 9 o'clock this morning, reducing the power facilities to the point where it was deemed necessary to cut out operations in the day time of one of the important departments. As a result the employes in the general testing room did not work today, but will work tonight and possibly tomorrow night, the power being derived from the other dynamos. This arrangement does not in the least interfere with the business at the plant, for it gives ample power for all purposes. The damaged dynamo will be repaired in a day or two.

TOO MUCH EXPRESS.

Threatened Strike Causes More Business Than Usual.

The only visible evidence of the impending strike at the railway centers this morning were massive stacks of express goods on the platforms which could not be handled by the trains. At the Pennsylvania depot at noon the Adams Express company had enough left over business to fill a car and a lot of express goods over the Wabash by the Wells-Fargo company occupied trucks on the local depot platform. In Detroit the situation is ten times worse than in Fort Wayne. No. 9, on the Wabash, this morning left four car loads of baggage and express matter there that it could not handle. The left over goods, however, is not of a perishable character. It consists in great part of merchandise and groceries, with a fair representation of crated furniture. The concensus of opinion among men on the roads and at the depots this morning was that the strike would not be called; that some way of preventing it would arise today or tomorrow.

PAID CLAIM PROMPTLY

G. E. Benefit Association Settles With Fink Heirs.

Last night the Mutual Benefit association of the General Electric works sent a check to the mother of Fred Fink, deceased, for $100, in payment of her claim on account of the death of her son. The General Electric company also sent a check for a similar amount to the bereaved mother. Fred Fink has been employed at the General Electric works, when not sick, about a year. He had been unable to work for seven months.

ENLISTED 55 YEARS AGO

Fifty-five years ago today, on September 1, 1861, William Donnel enlisted as a private in Company G, First Ohio infantry, for three years. He served throughout the enlistment, taking part in some very important engagements, but escaped without serious wounds. Mr. Donnel is now operating the elevator in the meter department at the General Electric works. He has been employed at that factory for many years and is one of the oldest members of the Quarter Century club.

PASSES TO THE PENSION LIST.

Samuel Millhouse, for over a quarter of a century employed as a carpenter in the maintenance-of-way department of the Pennsylvania, entered the "roll of honor" this morning. He was seventy years old last week. Mr. Millhouse began work in the department May 4, 1887, and remained steadily at work since. He resides at 2321 Weiser Park avenue.

TWO MOULDERS INJURED.

Two moulders at the Bass foundry sustained more or less serious injuries while at work yesterday which will necessitate their being off duty for a few days. J. A. Riley received a painful burn on his foot when a piece of red hot iron dropped on it. Aug. Morheinke received several cuts about the eye and forehead when he was struck by a falling flask.

NICKEL PLATE OFFICIALS GO EAST.

President J. J. Berbet and General Manager A. W. Johnston, of the Nickel Plate, who had been in Chicago looking after business for the company, passed through the city in their private cars on train No. 6 early this morning. The company freight handlers at Chicago are on strike and it is presumed that this came in for a part of the attention of the officials at Chicago.

MOVING IN NEW HOME

S. A. Bickel, foreman of the tin department of the General Electric works, began a fifteen days' lay-off today. He is just finishing a new house at 521 Greenlawn avenue, and while off duty, will move his family into it. The house is one of the prettiest in the vicinity.

ENGINEER ED WOLF SICK.

Passenger Engineer Ed Wolf, of the Nickel Plate, who has been ailing for a week, is now bedfast and is quite sick. His condition, however, is not regarded as serious, but it will keep him from the throttle for some time.

PENNSY SHOP OUTPUT.

Eight engines were repaired at the Pennsylvania erecting shop during the past week. The engines which were turned out ready for service were Nos. 7735, 7466, 9209, 7476, 9221, 7024 and 9248.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

L. G. Ditton, a laborer at the Pennsylvania machine shop, has resigned his position.

L. F. Mason, a blacksmith helper at the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty because of sickness.

L. W. Winters, blacksmith helper at the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty on account of sickness.

A. Ganzer, a machinist in the Pennsylvania toolroom, is off duty because of an injury to his back.

W. Hansen, a machinist in the Pennsylvania toolroom, is going to Milwaukee to spend a few days.

G. L. Soliday, machinist helper in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, has started on a vacation of one week.

F. J. Guiloot, crane director in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is unable to be at work because of sickness.

H. J. Kayser and E. S. Bourie have been given employment as boilermaker helpers in the Pennsylvania boiler shop.

A. H. Roembke, clerk in the office of the Pennsylvania chief clerk, is going with his wife to St. Louis to visit for a week.

J. Goebringer, a machinist at the Pennsylvania shops, has gone to Indianapolis, where he will spend a few days.

C. E. Crill, boiler inspector at the Pennsylvania shops, with his family, are going to South Bend for a short visit.

C. Hess, a machine operator in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, is off duty as a result of running a steel splinter in his hand.

E. C. Murley, inspector in the motor assembly department at the General Electric works, is spending a vacation of a week at Anderson.

H. Lowmatzsch, a blacksmith helper at the Pennsylvania shops, who has been enjoying a week's vacation at Rome City, resumed work today.

J. W. Patch, an engineer in the transformer department of the General Electric works, resumed his duties this morning, after a week's vacation.

Mrs. Perry, of Whitley county, a niece of Dennis O'Connell, of the Nickel Plate coal docks, is at the St. Joseph hospital for a surgical operation.

K. Keener, wheel inspector for the Hocking Valley railway, with headquarters at Columbus, was in the city yesterday inspecting wheels at the Bass foundry.

Fred Pembleton, an inspector in the dynamo assembling room at the General Electric works, is on duty again, after an absence on account of the death of his father.

Sam Salon, who has been working in the Pennsylvania lathe machine shop during the summer, has resigned his position and will enter Columbia university in the fall.

BABY BONDS CHANGE WORKER'S HABITS

Many of Fort Wayne's workers who have started on saving Baby Bonds find it possible to lay aside a considerable portion of their wages without any inconvenience through the medium of Baby Bonds. Several of this class state that their habits have improved materially by the pruning of needless luxuries and that they now possess a number of Baby Bonds without having missed the money used to purchase them.

Baby Bonds are in $10 denominations, secured by first mortgages on local real estate and bearing six per cent. interest. There are also a few larger bonds in $500 denominations bearing the same rate of interest and secured in the same manner. For further information, call the Wildwood Sales Company, Shoaff building.—Advertisement.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Likelihood that the railway strike would be called off had a bullish effect today on wheat. The opening, which ranged from ⅝c off to 3⅝c advance, with September at $1.43¼ to $1.46 and December at $1.46⅝ to $1.47⅞, was followed by substantial additional gains.
Corn, like wheat, strengthened on account of the improved outlook for a settlement of the strike. After opening ¼c lower to ¼ advance, the market scored moderate general gains.
Oats duplicated the action of corn.

Toledo Closing Prices.

Toledo, O., Sept. 1.—Wheat: Cash and September, $1.45½; December, $1.51; May, $1.55½.
Corn—Cash, 88½c; September, 88c, sellers; December, 74¼c; May, 78c.
Oats—Cash, 46¾c; September, 46¾c; December, 50½c; May, 53c.
Rye—Cash, $1.22.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 1.—Passing of the crisis in the railroad strike situation was followed by a renewal of bullish operations today, important stocks rising a point or more at the opening, with several new high records. United States Steel was the chief feature, 5,600 shares being taken at 96¾ to 97, a maximum gain of 1⅜. The stock sold minus its regular and extra dividends of 2 ¼per cent, which makes the maximum advance equivalent to 99¼ or within one-eighth of its high record. Mercantile Marine preferred and Kelly-Springfield tire represented the new maximum. Union Pacific, Atchison and New York Central gained a point and various specialties recorded similar advances.
Reactions of one to two points resulted from the extensive profit taking of the first hour, numerous prominent issues losing all their gains with steady pressure upon the motors. Fresh buying power appeared, however, in marine preferred, Kelly-Springfield and Inspiration Copper, all of which eclipsed previous records. Rails continued sensitive, pending the outcome of developments at Washington. Trading became apathetic at midday. Bonds were lower, with heavy dealings in Anglo-French 5s.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity (radius 20 miles): Probably local showers tonight and Saturday; cooler Saturday.
For Indiana: Probably local showers tonight and Saturday; cooler Saturday and in northwest portion tonight.
For Ohio: Probably local showers tonight and Saturday; cooler Saturday and in north portion tonight.
For Lower Michigan: Overcast weather, with probably showers and cooler tonight; Saturday partly cloudy and cooler.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is high over the Atlantic coast states and a high area centered over the Canadian northwest extends southward along the eastern slope of the Rockies. A low area occupies the region to the westward of the continental divide. During the last 24 hours light local showers occurred in the Canadian northwest, and light rains have occurred over an area extending from Texas northeastward over the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys to the lake region. The weather is generally warmer than the seasonal average in the central valleys and to the westward of the Rocky mountains, but in northwestern sections it is somewhat cooler than the normal.

P. M'DONOUGH,
Local Forecaster.

FIFTY DIE IN STORM.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., Sept. 1.—Fifty lives were lost in a hurricane which struck the British West Indian island of Dominica last Monday night. The wind reached a velocity of more than seventy miles.

SENATE PASSES BILL.

CONTRACTOR GIVEN A GREAT SURPRISE

Woodward Unable to Understand Wife's Improvement Until Told She Had Taken Tanlac.

"I hardly knew my wife when I returned to the city after a trip of several days," H. F. Woodward, a well known Fort Wayne contractor, of 1221 Hanna street, said on April 22. "I did not know that she had been taking Tanlac and was greatly surprised at her big improvement," he added.

"My wife's system was just completely run down," Mr. Woodward continued. "She felt tired all the time and especially in the morning. She was so weak that she could not do her housework properly. Her complexion was bad.

"Mrs. Woodward's mother had taken Tanlac and profited by it and she recommended the new medicine to her. The first bottle of the medicine brought good benefits. She began to feel stronger and better and would feel rested in the mornings. She is able to accomplish her housework properly now. Tanlac certainly has helped her wonderfully."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like and is a fine reconstructive tonic.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun streets, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.—Advertisement.

FIREMAN'S HOUSE ON FIRE.

Nathan Murphy, engineer at No. 3 engine house found his own home in flames when he assisted in answering a call at seven o'clock Thursday night. A sofa in the parlor had been fired by the seven-year-old daughter who used a match to assist in finding the small scissors she dropped back of the couch. Murphy lives at 411 West Washington street. Chemicals extinguished the fire in short order. Damage of $15 is confined to the couch and floor.

President's Right Hand Man in Big Railway Dispute

President Wilson's right-hand man in the railroad strike controversy is United States Senator Francis G. Newlands, of Nevada. The president has been in daily conference with Newlands in efforts to cause a settlement. Newlands is chairman of the interstate commerce committee.

WILL SERVE HALF YEAR FOR ASSAULT

Earl Collins, Negro, Who Stabbed Friend, Will Be Free in April.

Earl Collins, negro, who stabbed James McKee, 28, also colored, in a fight over a borrowed dime, on Lafayette street, two weeks ago, will hear the spring time bird songs when he regains his freedom on April 3. He was sentenced to 180 days at the state farm and fined $25 and costs when found guilty in police court Friday of the assault on McKee. The finding against Collins totals 215 days at the farm.

McKee was able to be in court, although stitches have not been removed from his breast, where he received several long cuts from the knife carried by Collins. Joe Doolin, negro, has been held in jail for the past week as a witness in the case, but was not called upon to testify.

Collins pleaded that McKee made a rush at him when they were arguing in the alley, just off of Lafayette street, and that Collins used the knife to defend himself.

Health Violation Brings Fine.

Toney Rep, Italian, employed at an ice plant, was fined $1 and costs for not having a lid on his garbage can. The health officer testified that he found the garbage heaped up in the can back of the Rep home and garbage was not wrapped as is ordered. Rep testified through an interpreter. He said he might have received a health notice on the subject of garbage, but that he could not understand English and had probably tossed it aside without finding out what it was.

George Jaap, charged with leaving the manure box on his lot open, will be tried next week. He is away from the city.

Other Police Cases.

Richard Taylor, charged with assault and battery, will be tried September 5.

Jacob Oppenheimer, arrested early Friday morning, was too intoxicated to be tried and will be held under bond for hearing Tuesday.

Victor Gregory and Gene White, charged with lotering, are held under $100 bond for trial on September 6. Alonzo Fulton and Arthur Smith, taken from the court house corner on a loitering charge, Thursday afternoon, were released with orders to leave town.

RAIL BILLS NEAR A VOTE

Washington, Sept. 1.—Bills to avert the railway strike actually were put on their way to passage today in both houses of congress.

Under a special rule providing for a vote not later than 4:30 this afternoon, the house took up the Adamson eight-hour day bill, approved by President Wilson and accepted by brotherhood leaders as a satisfactory settlement.

The senate committee reported a similar bill, which, however, contains an important provision empowering the interstate commerce commission to fix wage schedules on interstate railways.

It provides that the eight-hour day shall become effective January 1, 1917, that the present pay for the ten-hour day shall apply to the shorter day, that over time shall be paid pro rata, but adds that within not less than six months and not more than 12 months after its passage the interstate commerce commission shall assume jurisdiction of the question of hours and wages and that they shall be subject to petition for change from either the employers, the employes and the public.

Text of the Provision.

"That the interstate commerce commission shall have the power to fix the hours of labor and prescribe just and reasonable wages for all employes of the railroads. * * * The rate of wages and the hours of labor provided for in this act shall remain fixed for service and pay until changed by the decision of the interstate commerce commission, which within a period of not less than six months nor more than twelve months from the passage of this act, shall determine what are just and reasonable wages and what shall be the hours of labor for all employes of the roads above mentioned.

"The interstate commerce shall have the power from time to time to change the hours of labor and the rate of wages for all employes of the railroads. * * * Either in whole or in part, prescribed by it on its own initiative on the petition of the employes, of the managers of the railroads, or of the public."

Possibility for Hitch.

The possibility for a hitch seemed to be in this added provision, which is being studied by the leaders. The committee eliminated the proposal that on the report of the eight-hour day the interstate commerce commission "shall consider an increase of freight rates to meet such additional expenditures by the railroads affected as may have been rendered necessary by the adoption of the eight-hour day."

Neither of the two pending bills contains the Canadian commission plan, which the labor leaders oppose, and neither contains the government operation provision. President Wilson is willing to let those features wait until after enough legislation to avert the strike has been enacted.

Republicans to Have Bill.

Senate republicans decided today to frame a bill of their own and offer it as a substitute for the administration plan. A committee was appointed to draft it. No serious opposition to the administration plan was expected, however.

Senator La Follette, quitting the political campaign suddenly, returned to the capital today to take a hand in the legislation. He said he could not tell what his attitude toward the pending bills would be until he had investigated them.

The time for passage of the bills is so short that a filibuster might seriously interfere with the program. Democratic leaders, however, do not expect one and were confident the program would go through in time.

President Wilson told members of the cabinet at today's meeting that there was every prospect that the legislation would be passed by both houses of congress before tomorrow night.

Gives Power to Fix Wage Scales

With a provision authorizing the interstate commerce commission to fix schedules of wages on railroads, the senate interstate commerce committee today favorably reported the eight-hour day bill.

The Adamson bill was favorably reported by the house interstate commerce committee which amended it to make the eight-hour provisions effective January 1, next, instead of December 1, and so as to exempt electric railways.

The bill was immediately reported to the house which met at 11 o'clock. Meantime the rules committee held a meeting and without any changes, favorably reported the Kitchin rule providing for two hours of general debate on the bill and a vote on the bill and any amendments in the house at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Members of the rules committee said that under that rule the bill could be passed by the house shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Republican senators in a conference today decided to draft legislation of their own to offer as a substitute for that proposed by the democrats to avert the threatened strike.

Senator Norris, the first to leave the republican senate conference, said each member would be left free to act as he thought best. He said the conference had been devoted largely to explanations of the deliberations of the interstate commerce committee by Senators Cummins and Brandegee, who are members. Personally Senator Norris said he favored passage of the eight-hour bill, with a provision that the interstate commerce commission have power to regulate wages of all employes on all interstate carriers from presidents down, as well as rate increases. He said he saw no reason why the commission should not consider the added burden put on the carriers by the eight-hour day bill in considering requests for advanced freight rates.

Efforts still were being made to induce the brotherhoods to call off the strike order but they were standing firm not to do so unless the eight-hour bill becomes a law before Saturday midnight. They felt something might arise to defeat the measure and that they must guard against it by having the strike order stand.

Brotherhood leaders declared after a conference with Senator Newlands and others at the capitol that the eight-hour bill was certain of passing.

The senate interstate commerce committee got to work early on its bill for an eight-hour day and an investigating commission. In the house the rules committee assembled to report a special

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—The fiftieth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and the reunions of its auxiliary organization will come to a close today. A visit from Charles Evans Hughes, the republican presidential nominee, the election of national officers and their installation and the annual "camp fire" of the national association of ex-prisoners of war were to combine to make this one of the big days for the civil war veterans.

Mr. Hughes is to arrive here at 5:50 o'clock this afternoon. He will speak before 350 business men at a dinner and later make an address at convention hall, where reservations have been made for the Grand Army members.

Boston has been chosen as the meeting place for the Grand Army encampment next year.

GREEK LEGATION DOES NOT BELIEVE REPORT

Washington, Sept. 1.—Reports of the abdication of the Greek king were discounted today at the Greek legation because, it was declared, the dispatches came from Saloniki, which is controlled by the allies, and through the British censorship at London.

It was thought strange that the king should have seen the French, English and Russian ministers only yesterday if he planned abdication. Though commercial dispatches are received here from Athens almost daily, nothing political has come through for six weeks. Yesterday a commercial dispatch came from Premier Zaimis on a minor matter.

THREE ARE DEAD IN AMMONIA EXPLOSION

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1.—Three men are dead and a fourth is in a critical condition as the result of ammonia explosion in a downtown meat market here today. More than a hundred gallons of ammonia were released when the explosion, the cause of which was unknown, completely wrecked the private refrigeration plant.

The dead are G. W. E. Neuer, one of the owners of the market; Al Bergman, and Michael Tehl, engineers. Ernest Neuer, another one of the owners, may die.

CONSTANTINE QUITS THRONE

Today's War News Given in Summary

The abdication of King Constantine of Greece is reported by the official representative at Saloniki of the British press. He cables to London that the king has abdicated in favor of Crown Prince George and that former Premier Venizelos, leader of the party which favors intervention by Greece with the entente allies, will be the power behind the throne. The correspondent regards it as uncertain whether the entente allies wish the assistance of Greece.

The surrender of three Greek garrisons in Macedonia to a committee, the nature of which is not indicated clearly, is reported from Saloniki. Other dispatches say there has been fighting between Greek regulars and volunteer forces. French troops are reported to have interfered to prevent serious disturbances in the Saloniki region.

Rumanian troops are continuing, apparently without serious interruption their invasion of Hungary. Official announcement was made at Bucharest that the advance is being carried on successfully in all directions and that the important industrial center of Petroseny, and Tarlunge valley near Kronstadt, have been occupied. Dispatches from Austrian army headquarters have indicated the decision of the central powers to evacuate part of Transylvania in order to shorten the fighting front.

The French war office announced today that with the exception of artillery actions at various points there had been no heavy fighting in the last 24 hours. Apparently the forces on both sides are awaiting the readjustment of political conditions in the Balkans.

Bulgaria's expected declaration of war on Rumania is announced at Saloniki, according to an unofficial dispatch from that point.

On the Frenchfront fighting has died down although the artillery was very active last night in the Somme sector.

London, Sept. 1.—King Constantine of Greece has abdicated, according to the British official press representative at Saloniki.

The press representative says the king has abdicated in favor of the crown prince, with Venizelos as the power behind the throne. The new policy, he reports, will be to work with the entente allies. According to this information, Premier Zaimis will remain at the head of the government.

The correspondent questions whether the entente allies desire the active assistance of Greece.

Garrisons Surrender.

The surrender of several Greek garrisons to a commission which has taken over the administration of part of Greek Macedonia is reported in a Reuter dispatch from Saloniki.

According to this dispatch the garrisons at Saloniki, Vodena and Fort Little Karaburn have surrendered to the commission.

Various rumors are in circulation here in regard to the situation in Greece. Reuter dispatches from Saloniki say there has been fighting between the Greek garrison at Saloniki and Greek volunteers recently organized to assist the Greek regulars who are resisting the

WINNERS FOR SECOND TIME IN LAWN AND BACK YARD BEAUTIFICATION.

Interior of Building is Redecorated for First Time Since 1904.

During the month of August, when the Fort Wayne public library was closed, the entire interior of the building was redecorated and repainted, and Friday morning, when the doors were again opened the walls and ceiling, as well as the woodwork, presented a very pretty scene. This is the first time since the building has been standing that the interior was repainted.

The decorations are very neat, but very simple. Only two tints of paint were used, yet it appears very artistic.

The large oak railing on the third floor which heretofore had been painted white to imitate marble, has been restored to its original color. The south portion of the hallway on the third floor has been partitioned off and converted into a small room, where the government publications are to be kept.

The following notice is posted on the door of the library: "By order of the board of public health, all children under sixteen years of age will not be allowed in the public library or the south side branch until the schools reopen. Borrowers of books who come under this rule must have their books returned by older people."

WAS PLAYMATE OF GARFIELD.

Indianapolis, Sept. 1.—James H. Baldwin, 81, a pioneer of Indianapolis, is dead at his home here. Heart failure was the immediate cause of death. Mr. Balwin, a former merchant, retired years ago. He was a charter member of the Indiana national guard, only four charter members now being alive, and also one of the first members of Scottish Rite Masonry in this state. He was post noble grand master of the I. O. O. F. Among his boyhood playmates were James A. Garfield. A widow and five chilren survive.

WIFE HANGS SELF TWO WEEKS AFTER HUSBAND.

Greensburg, Ind., Sept. 1—Two weeks after Nathan Snullen hanged himself, his wife, Anna, 55, was found hanging in the basement of the home of Charles Goebel, a relative, early today. Since her husband's death she had been worrying and was to have been taken to a sanitarium today. She was heard in her room a few hours before her body was found.

STRANGE FLOWER IS DRAWING ATTENTION

The rare night-blooming cereus plant at the home of Mrs. J. Sion Smith drew crowds of neighbors in the Lakeside district to the Smith home, 1125 Elmwood street, Thursday night, to see the first bloom of the plant for this season.

The plant blooms about every three years. There are several blossoms this season on the plant, which is rarely found outside of the southwest. It is a native of Mexico. Three buds are expected to bloom Friday night.

The large flowers, which are lily shaped, open only after darkness falls. They fade with the first streaks of dawn. They are much larger than a lily and of pure white. Far back in the funnel of the flower is to be seen two dainty formations shaped like a star and a cradle, which are held to be delicate symbols of the birth of the Christ child.

TENSION OF THREATENED STRIKE KEENLY FELT HERE

Tension of the threatened railroad strike is keenly felt in Fort Wayne. Delay due to a strike would mean hardship in many lines. Supplies have been shut off because big shippers have cornered cars in anticipation of the hold-up.

Fear that the railroad tie-up would paralyze the city is causing the purchase of supplies at advanced prices where possible.

Work of improving Fort Wayne streets, and paving work being carried on all over the city, will stop next week in case of the strike. Materials cannot be brought to the city because freight cars are being used by the biggest shippers of the country to rush their goods over the land before the strike breaks. Word from the quarries and store houses is that no cars for shipping can be had.

The supply of concrete on hand will last but three days if the strike comes, City Engineer Randall gave out Friday. Crushed rock cannot be had from the quarries of Bluffton, Montpelier or Hartford City, and gravel cars are even inaccessible.

If the strike is delayed and threatening clouds continue to hover over the country, the disaster to small shippers and to contractors depending upon Indiana resources for their materials will be as great as if the strike is actually called, Randall believes.

Coal dealers of the city say that their advanced orders for coal are being held up for the same reason, that cars are not to be had. The fact that fuel prices are raising is not due to the threatened strike, however, dealers say.

GIRL AT GARRETT IN ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 1.—Miss Madge Quinn, of Albion, 23 years old, was found unconscious last evening in the lavatory of the interurban station here from the effects of inhaling chloroform apparently with suicidal intent. This morning she was very much improved and denies most emphatically that she had made any attempt to end her life.

Miss Quinn has been in Garrett for two or three days and has made several unsuccessful attempts to purchase chloroform from local drugstores. She had sent several small boys for it only to be turned down. Last evening, however, she called at the office of Dr. M. E. Klingler and asked to be treated for asthma. While the doctor was in an adjoining room Miss Quinn took from one of the shelves a six-ounce bottle containing chloroform and left, going direct to the interurban station two doors away.

Some time later attaches of the station detected the odor of chloroform and the night marshal was immediately summoned. Miss Quinn was found in the women's lavatory. She was unconscious and wrapped around her nose was a handkerchief saturated with chloroform. In her purse were found several morphine tablets, a hypodermic syringe, and a bottle containing adrenolin chloride, frequently used in the treatment of asthma.

Miss Quinn is a daughter of Mrs. Mary Lang, of Albion. Her father resides in Kansas, the parents separating some years ago. While she denied this morning that she had attempted suicide she admitted that she had been extremely despondent.

WHIRLWIND FINISH FOR AUGUST FIRES

Twenty of the Twenty-Four Calls Received Since Middle of Month.

August went out in a blaze of petty fires, for the average of fire calls during the past five days has been three alarms per day. Fire loss for the month is $1,440, with but $200 loss before August 18. Nearly all the fires were late in the month.

Loss of $1,000 to the Central foundry, 1921 East Wayne street, when the big shaft was burned by a malicious hand, it is thought, is accountable for the total damage of nearly $1,500. There were three false alarms during the month.

Fire loss during August in 1915 was but $572. Fifteen runs were made during that month. In 1914, two years ago, there were twenty-one calls and total loss of $32,924. A building on Holman street, belonging to the Brown Trucking company, burned at a loss of $14,000 during August, 1914, and the warehouse of the Paul Manufacturing company, corner of Harrison and Sixth streets, was damaged to the extent of more than $17,000.

LAD OF FIVE YEARS DIES OF INJURIES

Delay R. Burd, of Near Hicksville, Was Struck by Piece of Wood.

Delay R. Burd, aged five years, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Burd, residing near Hicksville, Ohio, died Friday morning at the Lutheran hospital from injuries received when a piece of wood fell on him nearly two weeks ago. He underwent an operation at the family home a few days after the accident and Wednesday he was removed to the local hospital, where he submitted to another surgical operation.

The surgeons found that the large piece of wood had been the cause of rupturing a blood vessel in the little boy's abdomen.

No one was near when the accident occurred. The lad was piling up wood near his home. Screams were heard and when his father arrived at the scene a large piece of wood was lying on top the little boy.

JUDGE FINDS RED LIGHTS.

Judge Richard Erwin, 1010 Lake avenue, started from his front door Friday morning and found two big lanterns blinking their bright read danger signals in the misty dawn. He has asked police to help him find where the lanterns were procured. The judge has been informed that the red lights were on the porch from midnight till Friday morning.

SAY NEW LAW WILL TOPPLE

Roads Confident It Cannot Stand the Test of the High Courts.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Counsel for the various railroads are said to have informed the presidents of the roads that the Adamson bill is patently unconstitutional as being confiscatory and class legislation.

"Our lawyers," said F. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, "informally and individually, have expressed the opinion that the Adamson bill if passed will crumble at the first legal blast. If the bill passes the president our counsel will confer formally as to legal procedure. It is illogical to assume that the railroads will abandon their principles merely because they are attacked by congress instead of directly by the brotherhoods."

Will Not Stand Test.

R. H. Aishton, president of the Chicago and Northwestern, said the railroads would obey the law, but that he did not believe it would stand the test of the courts. A statement was issued at publicity headquarters of the railroads that preparations for strike next Monday were proceeding without regard to prospects of congressional action.

Officials of the four railroad brotherhoods began massing their forces here today to direct the impending strike. G. A. Gregg, vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, arrived from Roanoke, Va., and James Murdock, vice president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Trainmen, and Timothy Shea, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen are to reach here later today. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad was notified today that the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors on the section of that system between Chicago and the Missouri river had voted not to strike.

Will Demand a Test.

There was every indication today that the railroads would decline to accept without a test in the United States supreme court the eight hour bill designed to prevent the rail strike.

The plan today as a result of conferences last night among presidents of a number of leading railroads was that no claim of unconstitutionality would be interposed, but should the measure be enacted it will be studied by the railroad lawyers and if they deem it advisable they will make a test case in the courts.

"If the men accept the measure it probably will mean the postponement of the strike," was the statement of E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe. "Such action, however, will mean but a

Pittsburg, Sept. 1.—In order to advise officials of the railroad brotherhoods in the Pittsburg district should a strike be called and to preserve perfect order three of the higher officials of the trainmen's organizations opened headquarters today and will keep in close touch with the numerous locals here.

Officials already here are: Arthur J. Lovell, of Logansport, Ind., vice president of the Brotherhood of Firemen and enginemen; C. B. Carlton, of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, of Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, and D. D. Miller, of Fort Wayne, Ind., chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

BUILDING PERMITS SHOW CITY'S BOOM

Ninety-one permits showing building operations to the extent of $259,940 for the month of August makes a gain of nearly $100,000 over the same month in 1915. The figures as compiled by Andrew App, deputy building inspector, show an increase of nearly a million dollars in the first eight months of this year over the same period of 1915.

Records show that 577 permits have been granted this year compared with 511 permits in 1915. Cost of building in 1916 is $2,187,401 compared with $1,318,245 for the first eight months a year ago. Thirty-seven more permits and $33,410 expended is the increase for the month of August.

A REAL BARGAIN
I have a strip 90x300 feet in McKinnie-Park Place, (the grove). This lies a little more than a square from the end of the new extension of Hanna street pavement from Rudisill Boulevard to McKinnie avenue, (now ordered by the council.) This piece of ground is beautifully wooded with fine large forest trees. The ground faces 90 feet on Hanna street and 90 feet on Monroe. This can be made into four fine lots 45x145, or can be left for large residence grounds. Less desirable lots without trees in that locality are now selling for $250 each, and as this part of the city is growing fast, you can see that this property will grow. The owner of this has special reason for selling and will let it go at less than it cost a few weeks ago.

SENATE MEASURE TO AVERT STRIKE

rule and have it ready for the public when it met at 11 o'clock, providing for a vote on the Adamson bill not later than 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The Adamson bill has been approved by the president and the heads of the railway brotherhoods have said that its passage by both houses of congress will be considered a satisfactory settlement.

Barring unforeseen complications it seemed assured today that congress would act finally before Saturday night and in time for the brotherhood heads to call off the strike set for 7 o'clock Monday morning.

May Be Passed Today.

Measures which will result in rescinding orders for a railway strike next Monday may be passed by the house and senate under special rule today and within twenty-four hours may be on their way to receive President Wilson's signature. Both houses had under consideration virtually identical bills establishing an eight-hour day for trainmen in interstate railway commerce and providing for creation of a commission to study the effect. President Wilson was on hand to press for their immediate passage. He set aside the morning for a personal visit to the capitol to focus the administration's influence in behalf of his proposals.

Some republican opposition was looked for, particularly in the house, but it was believed by congressional leaders this would be insufficient to prevent passage. In the senate there was pronounced feeling that the entire program proposed originally by the president should receive immediate consideration. The house was to meet at 11 o'clock and vote finally on the Adamson bill, introduced yesterday with approval of the administration, at 4:30 in the afternoon. The senate was to convene at 10 o'clock to take up the bill on which the interstate commerce commission worked throughout the night, after an all-day hearing.

What Bills Provide.

Both house and senate bills would provide for payment of prorata wages for time over the eight hours and both, which have the investigating commission of three members, appointed by the president, report its recommendation in from six to nine months after the law becomes effective. This date is set at December 1 by the house bill and January 1 by the senate bill. The senate measure also would exempt railroads less than 100 miles long and electric and interurban lines. The house would allow $25,000 for the commission and the senate $50,000.

President Wilson arranged to leave at 3 p. m. for his summer home at Long Branch, L. I., where he will be notified of his nomination tomorrow and a special messenger will be dispatched to him with the bill when it is passed.

Brotherhood leaders have reaffirmed their intention of considering proposals of the eight hour bill a satisfactory settlement, and have promised to call off the strike if it is enacted before tomorrow night. Speaker Clark believes congress can adjourn by Wednesday if the strike legislation is disposed of tomorrow.

President Wilson went to the capitol shortly after 9 o'clock to confer with senate and house leaders on legislation to prevent the threatened strike. He planned to urge as much speed as possible in the consideration of the legislation.

Senate Takes Recess.

When the senate convened a recess was almost immediately taken until 1 p. m. to permit the interstate commerce committee to continue its work of drafting the strike prevention legislation and permit republican members to confer on the proposed bills.

President Wilson spent almost an hour conferring with democratic members and then returned to the white house. Definite abandonment of the plan to attach the railroad strike legislation to the pending bill to enlarge the interstate commerce commission was agreed to by the senate committee. The president explained his presence at the capitol by saying, "I am just keeping the threads together."

Kern Outlines Plans.

Majority Leader Kern said after the president's visit the democrats would concentrate on the eight hour bill and put over the rest of the railroad legislation until next week. Many democrats felt there would be little disposition among the republicans to filibuster against the eight hour bill in view of the present situation. The senate committee determined there was too much opposition to the interstate commerce commission enlargement bill to risk attaching it to the emergency legislation. As the bill stood this morning the senate committee had agreed that the new commisison should "consider an increase in freight rates to meet such additional expenditures by the railroads affected as may have been rendered necessary by the adoption of the eight hour day and which have not been offset by administrative readjustments and economies, should the facts disclosed justify the increase."

Some Opposition Expected.

Some members were seriously inclined to the belief that such definite direction regarding the rate question would provoke opposition in the senate by the progressive republicans particularly which would make quick passage of the bill impossible.

Senator Newlands said the committee also was considering including a provision to empower the inter-state commerce commission to fix the schedule of wages upon railroads.

"We will have to do this some time and might as well do it now," he said. He also was inclined to urge the committee to include in the eight hour bill some features of the proposed amendment to the arbitration act which would prevent future strikes during investigation. There seemed to be little prospect that the committee would agree to that because of the certainty that it would provoke opposition.

Wilson is Convinced.

President Wilson, it was said, had become convinced that the only thing that could be done at once was the passage of the eight hour bill and had urged that the senate bill adhere as closely as possible to the Adamson bill in the house. As agreed upon today the senate bill would make the eight hour basic day effective Jan. 1, 1917, and apply to railroads of one hundred miles or more in length, exempting electric and street interurban railways.

By 1 o'clock the bill was expected to be ready for the senate. While the house rules committee was working the house inter-state commerce commission met and favorably reported the Adamson bill.

Expect It to Be Called Off.

A. B. Garretson, spokesman for the railroad brotherhoods, held a brief conference with President Wilson today. When the left the white house he refused absolutely to say why he had called. The president kept the cabinet waiting while he talked with Mr. Garretson.

White house officials said Mr. Garretson had called to give the president "some information." Mr. Garretson refused to say whether he disussed the calling off of the strike. There was every indication, however, that the administration expected the strike to be called off before Sunday morning.

When the gun is fired, heavy steel supports are swung out to the ground on each side to keep the car from rocking out of range. Ammunition is carried in the car at the rear.

Bulgarians in Macedonia. French troops intervened to suppress the fighting and the garrison finally surrendered and marched out of Saloniki.

On its face this dispatch indicates that a revolution is under way in Greece but the message is worded so vaguely, probably on account of the censorship, that no definite conclusions can be drawn. There have been various indications since the entrance of Rumania into the war of political turmoil in Greece, owing to the conflict between the neutralists represented by King Constantine and those who desire to intervene in the war with the entente allies, led by former Premier Venizelos. An Athens dispatch received yesterday predicted that Greece would abandon neutrality within the immediate future. It has been represented that King Constantine was finding his position difficult on account of the growing strength of the pro-entente faction, and it was reported from Saloniki in a dispatch filed on Tuesday that the king had fled to Larissa, where he was under the protection of German soldiers. This report, however, was discredited in official circles in London.

There is in existence in Greece a committee representing the liberal or Venizelist faction, and it is possible that the Greek garrison surrendered to this or some similar body. The committee was appointed on Sunday, on the occasion of the demonstration of 50,000 Greeks before the residence of M. Venizelos in Athens and was instructed to present to the king resolutions warning him not to interfere in the coming elections and to prepare the army for a possible rupture of existing conditions.

The part of Greek Macedonia in which the forts mentioned are located is in northern Greece, close behind the front on which the entente allies are fighting the Bulgarians and their allies. Vodena is on the railroad line between Saloniki and Monastir, an important means of communication for the entente allies. It is forty-five miles west of Saloniki. Fort Little Karaburun is on the Gulf of Saloniki, about ten miles south of the city.

Ward Price, to whom the dispatch telling of the abdication is credited, is the official British press representative designated by the government to act for all British publications in that area. Nevertheless his dispatches are subject not only to the Greek censorship but to the French military censorship which controls all lines of communication from Athens. The fact that both censorships, as well as the British censorship in London have permitted this dispatch to come through is significant.

On Tuesday Mr. Price sent from Saloniki a report that King Constantine had fled from Athens to Larissa. This dispatch was discredited in London official circles. Doubt also appeared to be cast on its correctness by dispatches filed from Athens Wednesday, one of them telling of coming meetings between the king and the entente ministers and others having to do with the illness of the king, who recently underwent a slight operation. It is possible, however, that the king may have departed secretly from Athens, as reported by Mr. Price and that his absence was concealed from the newspaper correspondents there.

DECLARES WAR ON RUMANIA.

London, Sept. 1.—(1:25 p. m.)—Bulgaria has declared war on Rumania, according to an official announcement made at Saloniki, as forwarded by Reuter's correspondent there.

Five successive attacks were made by German troops last night on British positions on the Somme front. The war office announced today that the Germans penetrated the British defense on a small frontage at two points between Ginchy and Highwood.

GERMAN AIRSHIPS SHOT DOWN.

Paris, Sept. 1.—Four German aeroplanes were shot down yesterday on the Somme front and another was captured, the war office announced today. French artillery was very active during the night in the Somme sector.

Competent authorities estimated that about 500,000 Germans have been disabled in the Verdun region alone since February 21, the beginning of the great German offensive. The total number of wounded prisoners taken in the Verdun sector and in the neighborhood of the Somme exceeds 43,000.

RUSSIANS MAKE CAPTURE.

Petrograd, Sept. 1.—(Via London, 2:46 p. m.)—In the course of battles yesterday on the western Russian front, says the Russian official statement of today, the Russians captured 239 officers and 15,501 men. Of this number 2,400 were Germans.

RUMANIANS FORGE FORWARD.

Bucharest, Aug. 30.—(Via London, Sept. 1, 7:45 a. m.)—Rumanian troops invading Transylvania have occupied the important industrial center of Petroseny and the Tarlung valley, near Kronstadt, says the announcement of the Rumania war office.

GERMANS MAKE GAINS.

Leopold, of Bavaria, Directs German Armies on Russian Front.

Berlin, Sept. 1.—(Via London, 5:33 p. m.)—German troops on the Somme front in France yesterday as the result of a counter attack, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters' staff, regained the ground they previously had lost near Longueval and Delville wood.

In today's German official statement Prince Leopold, of Bavaria, appears as the director of the German armies on the Russian front, which had been controlled by Field Marshal von Hindenburg before he was appointed chief of the imperial general staff.

Preparations Go Forward.

Preparations of the railroads for operation of trains in the event of a strike, went on today, notwithstanding the proposed legislation at Washington. Employment agents are busy hiring men for the railroad companies and advertisements appeared in newspapers in many cities, soliciting applications from experienced engineers, conductors, brakemen, firemen and switchmen.

The embargo on freight announced yesterday by every trunk line in the country was not materially changed today, with the exception of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, which modified the embargo on perishable freight. Instructions went out from the general offices at Topeka, Kan., last night to accept shipments of perishable merchandise to arrive at its destination later than Sunday. Livestock shipments are expected from the new order.

Food prices in this city, with a few exceptions, have not been materially affected as a result of the threatened tie up of the transportation facilities of the country.

FOOD PRICES LEAP UPWARD.

New York, Sept. 1.—The ultimate consumer got a bitter foretaste of strike conditions in a sharp advance in prices of food. Dealers attributed the raise to embargoes on perishable products put into effect last night by several railroads and prospects of a serious shortage of supplies as soon as the strike is called. These freight embargoes will be extended tonight and tomorrow night according to notices issued by the railroads unless the strike menace disappears before the end of the week.

At the big public markets here garden products advanced ten cents and dairy products reached new high records. Butter went to 35½ cents a pound, 7¼ cents above the quotations of last year at this time and the highest price in the last twenty-five years.

Seek Means to Check It.

The New York city authorities are considering means to check exorbitant prices and although doubt as to their legal rights in this it has been suggested that the board of aldermen establish a price fixing commission. Action was delayed in the face of news from Washington indicating more cheerful prospects in the railroad situation.

Congressional leaders have in their possession today messages forwarded by three prominent New York organizations opposing "hasty action" to prevent a strike. The chamber of commerce has sent a resolution declaring that emergency legislation passed in advance of complete study "will be fraught with far-reaching and incalculable danger to the whole body politic." The merchants' association protested against action until congress obtains full information. The bankers' association sent a protest against action by congress fixing rates of wages and working hours of railroad employes.

No statements have come from railroad headquarters here regarding the employment of strike-breakers but according to the agencies which have been mustering these emergency workers, there are several thousands of them already in the city. Railroad officials say they are flooded with applications for jobs from former employes.

PASTOR WOULD HAVE CHURCH ROOF GARDEN FOR USE IN SUMMER.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 1. A church with a roof garden, including flowers, comfortable chairs, lights, and only the sky overhead is the dream Rev. Harry V. Foster, of Dundee Presbyterian church, Omaha, cherishes as the ideal church of the future.

"If churches would build roof gardens for use on summer evenings, ministers would not be preaching to empty pews and moving picture houses would not be doing so thriving a business," he says.

Rev. Foster favors building roof gardens over the Sunday school and study rooms rather than over the main auditorium. When the project of a new proposed $80,000 church comes up among his parishioners, he says he stands pat for a roof garden.

"Hotels and apartment houses are looking after the comfort of their patrons with roof gardens. Why not the churches?" he asks.

Rev. Foster is a lover of baseball, golf and tennis; a horticulturist and gardener of some note, and an expert on chicken raising.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DUKE WAS GIVEN AN IMPOSING FUNERAL

Paris, Aug. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The Duke of Rohan, killed in the battle of the Somme, has had one of the most imposing funerals seen in France during the war. It was not only a tribute to the heroic young nobleman, but a public recognition that the sons of the old nobility of France are fighting for the republic with the same ardor that the old nobility fought for the kings.

The Rohans are among the famous old fighting families of France. They fought at the siege of La Rochelle. They were among the musketeers of Louis XIV. One of them was known as the "Young Hero" in the seven year war. Another became a bishop and built the famous palace at Strassburg, which is still an architectural wonder. But while aristocrats, they shared the views of Lafayette and other French noblemen, admiring republican institutions, and the present generation of the family has been one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the republic.

The young Duke of Rohan first showed his republican sympathies by becoming a member of the chamber of deputies. But he was no sooner elected than the war broke out, and he entered the republican army as a second lieutenant. One day when home on leave he visited the corridors of the chamber and heard a deputy spouting politics to a circle of listeners. The duke murmured dissent to some of the political statements, whereupon the deputy angrily exclaimed:

"This war has brought a great many strangers to the surface. I do not know this strange young man who dissents."

"I am sorry you do not know me," said the duke. "Le me introduce myself as one of your colleagues of the chamber of deputies, member for L'Aube. If you have not seen me there, it is because I have been at the front and have not set my foot in the chamber since the war began."

A little later the duke returned to the front, where he is credited with one of the notable dare-devil undertakings of the war. While out reconnoitering as a cavalry lieutenant, he arrived along with his orderly at an inn where a hundred Prussian soldiers had taken possession and were having a drunken orgie. Warned by a peasant, the duke would not turn back. Entering the place brusquely, and speaking in German, in imperative tones he commanded the party to surrender, as the house was surrounded on all sides.

Surprised by the sudden apparition, interrogated by a firm voice of command, and hearing the orderly with his horses outside, the revellers resigned themselves, gave up their arms and submitted as prisoners, until a French cavalry patrol, warned of what had occurred, arrived to escort the hundred prisoners of a single hero.

This is the story, as told of the young Duke of Rohan, and passing current as one of the realties of the war. That it is authentic is evident from the fact that it won him the Legion of Honor and placed the stamp of government recognition on the audacious achievement.

PRINCE MAHIDOL COMES FOR MEDICAL EDUCATION, NOT FOR WIFE.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 1.—His Royal Highness Somdet Chao Fa Mahidol, Krom Khun Songkla, 24 years old, an Oxford graduate, has come to the United States to round out his education. Interpreting his many-word title, he is Prince Mahidol, of Siam, third brother of King Chawfa Maha Vajiravudh, and one of the many grandsons of the late sovereign, Chulalongkorn.

The prince speaks half a dozen languages fluently, including English and German. He is smiling and dapper, inclined to be democratic.

"I am not looking for an American wife," he announced. "I am going to look over a dozen American universities and then specialize in tropical diseases."

The extent of polygamy is being cut down in Siam, he said, there being fewer harems. He is opposed to the plural marriage system and, like his brother, the king, has developed bachelor ideas.

He has a large, independent income, part of which is derived from the rental of a number of small islands, on which sea swallows make nests of an edible nature.

The prince will visit western cities in a private car before going east.

John 14:1-11.

1. Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me.
2. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.
3. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, und receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also.
4. And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know.
5. Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way?
6. Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.
7. If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him.
8. Phillip saith unto him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us.
9. Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father?
10. Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works.
11. Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake.

Mr. Fairbanks Accepts

Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks has never been regarded as a statesman with any propensity whatever for "rocking the boat," and his address in formal acceptance of the republican nomination for the vice presidency, delivered at Indianapolis, Thursday, will not in any sense prove an inspiring clarion call to his party. It wholly lacked snap and that quality which we have come to call "ginger." It followed closely the beaten paths of old-time political leadership, offering a semblance of impressive profoundity which was general in character and not too pronouncedly committal rather than the program of the progressive thought of the day as it applies to governmental affairs. Doudtless Mr. Fairbanks reasoned that, as Mr. Hughes has been chosen as the republican pace-maker, there was small occasion for the second-place man on the ticket to indulge in any bursts of speed, and his sense of propriety precluded an attempt to dim the glory of his chieftain by any more effulgent or attention-compelling utterance. At any rate, he gave us nothing of that sort.

Mr. Fairbanks devoted no small part of his address to the tariff question, arguing for the restoration of the republican policy of protection in its old-time altitude and attempting to demonstrate that the Underwood tariff, the Wilson administration and democracy in general had proven a most egregious failure. This was by no means an easy or a particularly desirable task, but Mr. Fairbanks essayed it. He is plainly dissatisfied with the president's Mexican policy, but here again is noticed, as in the case of similar addresses from other republican sources, a painful absence of constructive program offered as an alternative.

Mr. Fairbanks is an able man with long experience in public life. He was a candidate for the republican presidential nomination, and he yielded to take the second place on the ticket only under much duress. He very gracefully and very appropriately conceals the keen disappointment that must have been his in being denied the leadership which he so much desired, and which his friends—particularly his Indiana friends—labored so diligently to secure for him. Mr. Fairbanks' speech of acceptance, however it may be received by his party and by the public generally, does not do him justice. He could have made a much better one from the eminence of a presidential nomination, which he ardently sought, than from his position in comparative retirement on the tail of the ticket.

The unhappy spectacle of a frenzied mob seeking to take the law into its own hands—to wreak summary vengeance upon some wretch whose hideous crime has inflamed public indignation to a point beyond restraint—is not altogether a novelty in this country. Such things have occurred, occasionally. But for that lawless gathering to turn in its ferocity against its own sworn servant of the law, who in thwarting its efforts by spiriting away the object of its wrath until judgment could cool and reason reign again was clearly performing his sworn duty is simply incredible. Yet that is precisely what happened in the enlightened and progressive and law-abiding city of Lima, Ohio, the other night. Sheriff Sherman Eley barely escaped with his life. He was subjected to serious violence, to threats of lynching, and most brutally mauled and tortured for the sole reason that, in accord with his high conception of official duty, he sought to maintain the majesty of the law and to prevent the placing of an enduring stain upon the name of his city and his state. When those who constituted that mob at Lima come to their senses they must feel impelled to hide their faces in utter shame. When calmer moments permit them to see the heinous character of their own conduct, they will see, too, the splendid heroism, the dauntless courage and the superb citizenship of Sheriff Eley. Whether it will ever be possible to make adequate reparation for the treatment to which he was subjected, is extremely doubtful. But Lima owes it to its self-respect to make the attempt, at least, and the first logical step to be taken is the application of punishment of the sternest character to the assailants of Sheriff Eley.

One of the favorite relaxations these days among the politicians is the registering of guesses on the November result, and a recent estimate of "doubtful" states putes these in the list: Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, New York, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico and Wyoming, with a total of 155 electoral votes. This is the time, also when one guess is entitled to about as much credence as another, so if the list doesn't suit you, feel perfectly free to fix up your own.

Still, it's rather cheering to be told that there's one railroad line that hasn't been worrying over the prospects of a strike. The line extending from Huntington to Portland is just moving along in happy unconcern. Its trainmen number but three and its motive power consists of the sum total of one gasoline motor car. This road is in position to simply defy trouble to touch it.

And just in case that in the stress of working every moment of the time at his job, President Wilson may have neglected to take note of the fact, he will be told tomorrow that he has been renominated.

E. A. K. HACKETT.

(Muncie Press.)

The entire newspaper fraternity of the state will join with the people of Fort Wayne in expressing regret for the death of E. A. K. Hackett, veteran publisher of the Fort Wayne Sentinel, which occurred following an operation in St. Joseph's hospital at Fort Wayne Monday afternoon.

Mr. Hackett was a credit to his chosen profession and to the state of Indiana. In addition to conducting one of the cleanest newspapers in the state, he was noted for his work of philanthropy and his genuine Christian character. His works of charity were not confined to Fort Wayne alone, but were known elsewhere, even too, where he spent a portion of the time in his later years and was especially interested in the welfare of boys and young men. In addition to his newspaper Mr. Hackett was the publisher of numerous hymn books and other religious works. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and prominently connected with the Winona assembly.

Mr. Hackett was the real type of self made man. He started life as a printer and gained success through hard and honest effort. He was born in New Bloomfield, Pa., sixty-five years ago and after receiving a common school education became a journeyman printer, working in a number of Pennsylvania towns. Later he came to Indiana and with his savings purchased a half interest in the Bluffton Banner. In a few years he purchased the other half interest in the paper and in 1880 he went to Fort Wayne and bought the Sentinel. His fortunes gradually rose with those of his paper and his home city, until he became one of the most influential and highly respected citizens of his section of the state. Mr. Hackett will be missed by Fort Wayne.

AN INDUSTRY WITH A STOUT GRIP.

(Toledo Blade.)

The freight bill on the food and munitions they buy in America bears heavily on the shoulders of the entente powers. But it is noticeable that, with all their seizures of private property, the commandeering of private energy and the fixing of prices on commodities privately handled, these powers leave the shipping industry severely alone.

The carrying trade has long had much to say in the government of Great Britain. For many years, it managed to prevent parliament from interfering with a lucrative business in overloading old ships and sending them to sea, heavily insured, in the almost certain prospect that they would never come back. The industry managed to whitewash the ownership of the Titanic. It has kept people from protesting against freight charges four to six times heavier than they were before the war. And as what Britain says goes with its allies, the British shipping trade loses no sleep over worrying about interference.

Whatever criticism may be made of American industries, it may be said that not one of them is so powerful as to dictate to the government, so strong that it is immune to attack.

NEW CHARITY HEAD NAMED

Indianapolis, Sept. 1. — The executive committee of the Charity Organization society has announced the appointment of Eugene Cary Foster, former assistant superintendent of Lakeside hoapital, Cleveland, O., to succeed Charles S. Grout who retired recently as general secretary of the local organization. Mr. Foster formerly was superintendent of the Cleveland Associated Charities and was recommended by James F. Jackson, under whom he received his training, and by Francis H. McLean, general secretary of the American Association of Societies for Organizing Charity.

Mr. Foster was selected after the committee had investigated a number of applications and it is believed that he is the best fitted for working out a general scheme for more harmonious work and a more thorough co-operation among Indianapolis charities. He will take up his duties here about Oct. 1.

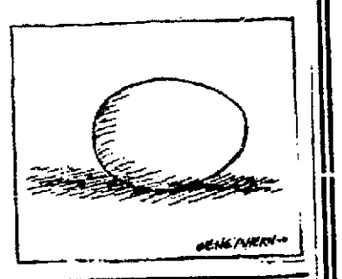
AIN'T NATURE WONDERFUL?

Unnatural History, by Eugene Ahern.

THE EGG.

An egg is an egged-shaped object.

It is kept in this shape by a shell, but after the shell is rent asunder the majority of eggs are in an awful shape.



Columbus got into an argument with some boneheads and asked them if they could stand an egg on its end.

Being boneheads and unable to think (like politicians) they didn't know how.

So he just took the egg and broke one end and stood it up.

Ah! ha! now we know how Chris found out the world was round. That egg was one of those eggs that didn't improve with age and Chris hot-footed down to the beach, hopped into a launch and chugged and rowed and sailed trying to get away from the horrific aroma of the egg.

Before he knew it, he had sailed clean 'round the world and came back on the other side of his native spaghetti land. Hurry up, George, produce the needle!

My 4th Anniversary

A Promise and Its Fulfillment

I felt mighty good when my patrons and friends called to congratulate me on my Fourth Business Anniversary.

But what pleased more than the congratulations was the statement: "You're on the right track, Israel, stick to it."

It has cost me something to maintain the high standard of doing business to which I pledged myself when I came here FOUR YEARS AGO.

I could have "pulled off" a lot of "manufactured" sales and taken in a few more dollars, but I couldn't conscientiously do it.

I promised a SQUARE DEAL to the public; I promised them the BEST CLOTHES at $10, $15 and $20; I promised them a SAVING of $5 to $10, and I've FULFILLED MY PROMISE.

Remember me for "Your Next" Fall Suit and Overcoat—I am showing a COMPLETE LINE NOW.

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Perosns and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

August Bruder, the Calhoun street jeweler, left for New York city last evening.

Rev. Stephen A. Northrop will return from his Michigan vacation tomorrow evening.

M. M. Mintch has sold his fruit stand at 172 Calhoun street to W. M. Cutler, who assumes charge at once.

The new Arcade building will soon be completed. Mr. Beaver informs us that eight of the rooms have already been rented.

The citizens of Lakeside want some enterprising grocer to establish a stand in that suburb. Here is a chance for some energetic person.

Georgia Dignan, the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Dignan, of East Wayne street, is still missing. The girl has been very successful in keeping her whereabouts a secret.

The freight brakemen and conductors on the Lake Erie & Western struck at Lafayette again last evening and have notified the men at Peru, Lima and Indianapolis of their action.

Last evening Harry Wiebke opened the Board of Trade cafe to the public. A large number of people dropped in during the evening to admire the new place and the general opinion was very complimentary to the proprietor.

A tract of land bordering on Pontiac and Oliver streets has been fenced in at the expense of Henry M. Williams and the ground will hereafter be given to the use of a public park. The ground is dotted with elm trees and a pagoda has been erected at the expense of Messrs. J. H. Grier and J. W. Hayden. The lots which constitute this "breathing spot" are owned by Messrs. Williams, Grier, George W. Wilson, Mr. Siemon and the Nuttman estate.

ROOSEVELT IN NEW RAP AT HYPHENISM

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 1.—Theodore Roosevelt renewed his attacks on the Wilson administration in his first speech of the 1916 campaign, given here last night, summing up the previous arguments which he has advanced against continued tenure of office by the democrats.

Col. Roosevelt devoted most of his speech to denunciation of President Wilson's Mexican policy, declaring that the much-vaunted "peace" with that country had cost more American lives than the entire Spanish war. "The latter," said the Colonel, "brought honor and glory to the nation whereas the former has buried it in shame and dishonor."

Attacks Preparedness Motive.

The speaker declared that only as a final political expedient had the administration launched a preparedness campaign. He reiterated his advocacy of the "big stick."

"It should be a cardinal rule of conduct in international, as well as individual affairs," he continued, "never to hit if hitting can possibly be avoided, but never under any circumstances to hit soft. Mr. Wilson has been engaged in continual hitting. But he has always hit soft."

Roosevelt insisted that the president has failed to perform his duty in the matter of rights of Americans and that only once did he make a show of force, that in the case of Hayti, of whom no one was afraid.

Fling at Hyphenism.

In taking a fling at hyphenism and the plots which have had their inception in the United States, the speaker declared that divided loyalty was impossible. Any organization of American citizens which acts in the interest of a foreign power is guilty of moral treason to the republic, he said. "It is because of such action that I condemn those professional German-Americans who in our politics act as servants and allies of Germany, not as Americans interested solely in the honor and welfare of America."

Americanism is a matter of spirit of the soul, of the mind, not of birthplace or creed, he said.

In advocating the election of Mr. Hughes, Roosevelt compared the promises of Mr. Wilson, which, he said, had never been carried out in deeds, and the career of Mr. Hughes, whose public life, he declared, is a guarantee that all his words will be carried out in deeds.

HOW TO GIVE GOOD ADVICE.

The best way to give good advice is to set a good example. When others see how quickly you get over your cold by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they are likely to follow your example. This remedy has been in use for many years and enjoys an excellent reputation. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

HARVARD PLANS NIGHT PRACTICE.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 1.—The Harvard football system, already one of the most efficient sporting organizations in the college world, is calling upon science to make the work on the gridiron even more efficient. The athletic association is considering lighting the stadium so that practice can be held at any time in the afternoon or evening.

The preliminary estimate calls for lamps supplied with strong projectors, at ninety feet above the ground and 200 feet from the center of the field, estimated at 3,000,000 candle power. The illumination will be so high as to allow punting and forward passing.

REFUSE OFFER.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 1.—Offers for the purchase of Rodgers Hornsby, Frank Snyder and Jack Miller have been received by President Britton, of the St. Louis Nationals, in the last few days, but all have been refused.

President Weeghman, of the Chicago Cubs,, telegraphed to Britton an offer for Hornsby but Britton telegraphed back a refusal to sell.

"There's no chance for any club to get any of our players," said Britton in discussing the numerous offers he has received. "If other teams can use them I am sure we can."

MORE WALKS ORDERED.

Twenty-One of Them Are Ordered at Meeting of Board of Works.

Building of twenty-one sidewalks, all of cement, were ordered by the board of works at the regular session Thursday night. Remonstrance was offered to only one of the proposed improvements. As a result of the petition against the action, the sidewalk will not be built on the south side of Harmon street, from St. Marys avenue to its eastern terminus.

Grading of Meridian street, from Huffman street to the second alley north and of Gumpper avenue, from Calhoun to Webster streets, were ordered by the board.

Petition was filed for the installation of cement sidewalks on both sides of Lantz avenue, from Tennessee avenue to Delaware avenue.

Use of the city grounds on North Clinton street for the purpose of holding a carnival, during the week of September 11 was granted the Loyal Order of Buffaloes.

Roop Family Reunion.

With smiling skies and other conditions ideal, the Roop family reunion, planned a year ago to be held at Robison park, Aug. 31, was a great success Thursday.

All forenoon delegations kept arriving from Bucyrus, McClure, Napoleon, Delphos, Van Wert, Willshire and Convoy, Ohio, and from Decatur, Churubusco and Huntertown, Indiana, and promptly at 12 o'clock noon the entire crowd was comfortably seated around a very long table ladened with the choicest of the farm, when Evangelist C. V. Roop invoked the blessings of the bountiful Father upon all present and also the absent ones and gave thanks for the feast of plenty.

The people who gathered at Robison park have a great history, being the descendants of Frederick Roop, a pioneer of Huntington county, Pa., who came to this country from England one hundred years ago, and his five sons, who were given the old fashioned Biblical names, Joseph, Samuel, Amos, John and Jacob, early in the nineteenth century, immigrated to western Ohio and were among the first pioneers of that section.

Rev. Carl Vernon Roop, Dayton, Ohio, was re-elected president for the ensuing year, with Mrs. O. Roop, Bucyrus, Ohio, vice president; Floyd Acker, Decatur, secretary; A. L. Roop, Fort Wayne, treasurer; Alphus Roop, Decatur, historian, to be assisted by Mrs. Sarah Gump, Churubusco, and Mrs. Rosa Acker, Decatur; James M. Roop, Convoy, Ohio, committee on grounds, and S. A. Acker, Decatur, committee on entertainment.

A report today showed that three Roop descendants are now college presidents and that practically all of the professions and vocations of life find Roop descendants engaged therein, in an endeavor to emulate their forefathers and thereby cultivate the family tree.

Mrs. Sarah Gump, of near Churubusco, was the oldest one present Thursday, she being eighty-four years old, and she gave a most excellent talk and family history, which was enjoyed by all, and despite her advanced years she is very agile and a most entertaining story teller and fully expects to attend many more such reunions.

All had words of praise for beautiful Robison park and the enjoyable day spent together, and adjourned at 5 o'clock p. m. to meet again at Steele's park, Decatur, Ind., the last Thursday in August next year.

READY FOR JACK FROST.

By Betty Brown.

The flat fur color of Louis Fifteenth style, with outstanding neckline, looms up at all the fall fashion shops, but right beside it, much in the spotlight, is the fur scarf of the long-haired pelt—the fox, marten and Kolinski leading the others.

Only the graceful draped fur scarf can give a smart street suit a final note of elegance. This sketch from Fashion Art proves the point. The costume is of the new Pontine, a double-faced fabric, silk or satin on one side and glazed leather on the other.

Little Lassie Now Wears Gay Stripes

By Betty Brown.

Just like Big Sister's sports suit is the gayly striped frock of blue and white linen which a certain Little Kindergarten Person will wear when school begins.

It is made as simply as a mother hubbard, but the empire belt gives it the dignity of a really, truly dress. A belt of white patent leather may be used instead of the striped belt.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BLOUSE WITH NOVEL FASTENING

WHAT is a blouse without buttons? It's an unusual model which gives a splendid opportunity for one to use original ideas for holding the garment together. In this instance ribbon has been successfully used to carry out the idea.

Pussy willow blue and white taffeta has been employed to fashion the blouse. This style of blouse is very much in favor for wear with fall suits and is an excellent type for the business woman.

White organdie has been used to make the collar and deep cuffs. While there are no buttons to fasten the blouse, there are four of them to ornament the collar and hold it securely to ribbon.

SATIN AND NET

IF YOU wish to give an individual air to your evening gown, wear over it a cape of net. That is the point which gives character to the frock here shown. Another salient feature is the fact that the gown has a high cut in the back and is extremely low in front. Rows of pearl beads do much to ornament the cape, and their weight prevents it from flaring about in an annoying manner.

Flesh-colored satin is the material chosen for the frock. Satin, by the way, bids fair to be the favorite material for evening frocks. Since tunics are fashionable, it is quite natural that this satin gown should be made with a skirt having a long pointed overskirt. The sides of the tunic are edged with white net.

THE LEADING COLORS

IS THERE any doubt in your mind as to the leading color for fall and early winter? If so, listen, also look about you, for a little observation will show that purple is the shade at the top of the favorite color list. The Tyrian, or royal, purple is confined to sports cloths and trimming touches, but beautiful rich shades of raisin, plum, violet and many unnameable tints are seen in whole gowns, suits and separate coats.

Reds will be seen in trimming touches and in darker shades for frocks and coats. A new red is called "bivouac," because it is supposed to resemble dried blood. Rather a horrible association, but a beautiful color!

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Iron-Rust Stains

Sprinkle the stain with salt and moisten with lemon juice; then lay it in the sun. This method is slow, but is less likely to affect the goods than some stronger applications.

Renovating a Brass Bedstead

Will you please tell me if I could clean or enamel over the imitation brass on my beds, which is very much tarnished? BUSY.

Yes, you should be able to enamel the bedsteads. You may have to use a coat of shellac first.

USES FOR RAFFIA

RAFFIA is a very pleasant material to work with. In the first place, it can be secured in such cheerful colors and in the second place it works up quickly. Have you ever thought of embroidering a pillow in raffia? It has been done and the result is most successful. It is best to use a conventional design for the purpose since it is more in keeping with the material. Let coarse linen or denim be used for the cushion cover, the loose mesh of each facilitates the pulling thru of the raffia. In doing the work be sure to tie all knots on the wrong side of the material. The result would not be so satisfactory were you to run the starting thread over material to be covered by finishing embroidery stitches. Such a cushion would be appropriate for a den, for a porch or for a bungalow.

Another attractive article to be made with raffia is a raffia-covered coat hanger. This work is very simple to do, as it means simply the wrapping of the wire hanger and the weaving of strips of raffia to fill in the space between the wire. Straw-colored raffia works up effectively. Brilliant solid colors are also attractive, as are also combinations of colors.

Hangers of this description are more practical than those covered with ribbon or silk, because they can be kept clean and sanitary.

YOUR HANDS

IF YOU want your hands to be soft and white, even tho you do your own housework, you should protect them as much as possible while doing your duties. If possible, wear gloves when sweeping, dusting or scrubbing. Many women wear rubber gloves when washing the dishes, but there are others who say that they cannot do the work satisfactorily with gloves on the hands. These women are urged to use lukewarm water and a mild soap. In fact, it is a good idea to use a soap shaker to make the suds, so that the hands will not have to be in the water any longer than is absolutely necessary. A dish mop is another convenience which will prevent the hands from becoming rough.

When the dishes are all washed and dried, the hands should be washed thoroly and dried very carefully. The juice of a lemon, some cold cream, almond lotion or an oatmeal paste should be well rubbed into the hands.

The woman who does her own housework should never think of retiring at night before paying special attention to her hands. If they are properly nourished and the nails are kept in a good condition, one need never be ashamed to display the hands at the card club or over the teacup.

A BIRTHDAY REMINDER

FOR a child or even a grown-up who is willing to be amused try this scheme for a birthday reminder. You may buy this little contrivance already made or you may try your own hand at fixing it up. It is nothing more than a round candy box painted to represent a birthday cake. Instead of candles, rolled bits of paper, on which are written amusing mottoes or birthday wishes are thrust thru holes in the box lid. There can be as many candles as you wish, unless the number is too great. For the mottoes use some of those to be found on birthday postcards, or, if you can, make your own. This idea could be carried out likewise for a birthday party, having the "real" cake in the middle and at each guest's plate a tiny round box painted with water colors to resemble a cake, with one rolled-paper candle on which is written a "fortune."

TO PROTECT THE SHOULDERS

WHAT do you throw over your shoulders when you shampoo your head? You should really have something there, for it isn't very pleasant to have the wet hair dangling about. A combing jacket is worn by many persons during the process, but quite a few women do not possess such a thing. A splendid substitute is made by taking two towels, turkish or crash, and knotting the corners of two ends together. In case the opening thru which the head is to pass is not large enough the towels should be joined directly over the shoulders.

HERE'S BILL WHICH MAY AVERT STRIKE

Washington, Sept. 1.—The text of the Adamson bill, which brotherhood leaders said could avert the nation-wide railway strike, if enacted by Saturday night, follows in part:

Section 1.—That beginning December 1, 1916, eight hours shall, in contracts for labor and service, be deemed a day's work and the measure of standard of a day's work for the purpose of reckoning the compensation for service of all employes who are now or may hereafter be employed by any railroad, which is subject to the provisions of the act of February 1, 1887, "an act to regulate commerce," as amended, and who are now or may hereafter be actually engaged in any capacity in the operation of trains used for the transportation of persons or property on railroads, from any state or territory of the United States or the District of Columbia, or from one place in a territory to another place in the same territory, or from any place in the United States to an adjacent foreign country or from any place in the United States through a foreign country to any other place in the United States.

Section 2.—That the president shall appoint a commission of three, which shall observe the operation and effects of the institution of the eight hour standard work day as above defined and facts and conditions affecting the relations between such common carriers and employes during a period of not less than six months nor more than nine months, in the discretion of the commission, and within thirty days thereafter such commission shall report its findings to the president and congress. That each member of the commission * * * shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the president. The sum of $25,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary be, and hereby, is appropriated out of any money in the United States treasury not otherwise appropriated to be immediately available and to continue available until the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, for the necessary and proper expenses incurred in connection with the work of such commission, including salaries, per diem, traveling expenses of members and employes and rent, furniture, office fixtures and supplies, books, salaries and other necessary expenses, the same to be approved by the chairman of said commission and audited by the proper accounting officers of the treasury.

Section 3.—That pending the report of the commission herein provided for, and for a period of thirty days thereafter, the compensation of railway employes subject to this act for a standard eight hour work day shall not be reduced below the present standard day's wage, and for all necessary time in excess of eight hours such employes shall be paid at a rate not less than the pro-rata rate for such standard eight hour work day.

Section 4.—That any person violating any provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars and not more than one thousand dollars or imprisoned not to exceed one year, or both.

FRANCE FAVORABLE TO GREAT PROJECT

Will Join England in Construction of Tunnel Under Channel.

Paris, Aug. 29.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—France has taken all the necessary steps to enter into negotiations with England to build jointly a tunnel under the English channel to connect the two countries, the long-talked of project which the war has revived because it has demonstrated as nothing else could the value of the tube to both countries.

Had the tunnel been in existence during the present conflict it would have been of immeasurable value to England and France for the transportation of troops and supplies and would have liberated French and British war vessels from one of their biggest tasks.

The plans were outlined by Mr. Sartiaux, chief engineer of the Nord Railway company, who is one of the strongest advocates of the project. He said:

"The tunnel will cost 16,000,000 pounds, half of which would be borne by England and half by France. Each country would bore one-half of the tunnel. Well, Britain is spending just now 6,000,000 pounds per day and France 4,000,000 pounds, so that two days' wartime expenditure of both countries would more than cover the cost of making the tunnel.

"It is proposed to make two tunnels, one for traffic from France to England, another for traffic from England to France. Some people seem to think a cross-channel tunnel might be a danger, because it might fall into the hands of the enemy. To capture the French end would not be an easy task. The mouth of the tunnel on French soil would be ten miles from the coast, and in order to reach it the enemy would have to capture Calais, and negotiate three intervening hills of an average height of 150 feet.

"The tunnel on the French side would begin its journey under sea at Sangatte. In my belief it would be impossible for an enemy to reach the mouth of the tunnel and get at the electric plant. The motive power could be instantly suppressed and the tunnel immediately rendered useless by filling it with poisonous gas.

"One can hardly exaggerate the services the tunnel would have rendered to England and France had it been in existence when hostilities broke out. During the twenty hours of daily use (for four hours must be deducted out of the twenty-four for upkeep and repairs, etc.), between 100 and 120 trains could have been sent in each direction.

"At 500 tons per train that represents 50,000 to 60,000 tons a day each way, much more than is necessary.

'Apart from the diminution in delay, risks, losses, and difficulties of every nature, the British fleet would have been liberated from one of the heaviest parts of its task and free to serve the cause of the allies in other directions."

PLAN WELCOME FOR HUGHES.

Kansas Republicans to Honor Nominee at Topeka.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 1.—Extensive plans were made for the reception of Charles E. Hughes here today. A large committee of prominent Kansas republicans was named to meet him upon his arrival this afternoon and conduct him to the state house, where he will deliver an address. HAVE FRANCE AND ALLIES BECOME MASTERS OF AIR? U. S. AERONAUTS SEE WAR'S MOST TREMENDOUS EVENT.

By Kenneth W. Payne.

New York, Aug. 30.—Have France and her allies gained complete mastery of the air, as well as of the sea?

And if these stories are true, United States aviation experts consider that one of the most tremendous events in the whole war has taken place.

To the rulers of the heavens will go the final victory, say American flying experts who have studied the situation in Europe keenly.

"If the allies maintain air supremacy," says Robert G. Skerrett, noted writer on the aerial warfare in Europe, "the German army will be practically like a blindfolded swordsman duelling with an opponent whose eyes are wide open!"

In reports of the allied offensive on the Somme, American correspondents declare that French and British fliers scout over the enemy lines at will, destroying all the German observation balloons and meeting with no serious opposition!

I asked Robert G. Skerrett, celebrated New York engineer, to account for this portentous development.

"My guess—and we can only guess at this distance," Skerrett said, "is that Germany must actually be lacking in aeroplanes.

"It is simple to train new aviators, and Germany has shown herself so full of foresight we must believe she has built up a sufficient reserve of aviators to supplant those who have been lost.

"But Germany is shut in and can draw only on her own industrial resources for new aeroplanes, while the allies have the whole world to buy from.

"There might be a shortage of fuel oil for the German aircraft, but I believe the Germans would give up fuel oil in almost every other use to overcome such a shortage.

"Therefore, it is possible there is in Germany a serious shortage of some material that goes into the making of aeroplanes.

"The German gunners, under these conditions can fire only by the map. They know where their shells fall, geographically, but have no knowledge of what enemy forces are on the spot they hit!

"The allies, on the other hand, can have constant and accurate information from their observation balloons and flying scouts, and direct their fire on points where they have definite knowledge that a German depot or redoubt of encampment is located."

GREGORY GRILLS MR. HUGHES IN ADDRESS

Bangor, Me., Sept. 1.—Attorney General T. W. Gregory, speaking here last night, attributed the prosperity the nation is now enjoying to President Wilson's success in maintaining peace, defended his policy of resorting to "words and not deeds" in controversies with foreign countries, and denounced Charles Evans Hughes, republican candidate, for the presidency, for his attacks on the Wilson administration.

"As a part of his administration," Mr. Gregory said, "I here and now announce that so long as President Wilson presides over the destinies of this nation, so long will words and not deeds be resorted to in keeping peace with the nations until words have ceased to be effective and peace can no longer be honorably maintained. If this be treason to the American people let Candidate Hughes make the most of it.

"The unfortunate condition of other nations has a bearing upon the prosperity of our own but has conducted to our prosperity only because we have not become involved in the present war. The one man who has kept us out is the president. Under conditions which no human wisdom could have foreseen President Wilson has accomplished results satisfactory to all men. Criticism of him should be just and generous.

"Mr. Hughes bitterly complains of our Mexican policy, denouncing it as weak and vacillating, and says that if he is elected president a vigorous and effective course will be pursued which in some vague way he seems to think will bring about some desirable result, but how this is to be done and what the result is to be he does not disclose. Strange to say, he denounces the most vigorous actions against Mexican bandits more than he does the negotiations by which the administration has up to this time kept us out of war with Mexico as well as with Europe. To sum it all up, Mr. Hughes is for words when the administration resorts to deeds, and for deeds when the administration resorts to words."

Very Chic Are These New Hats at $5.00

The lowness in price is surely not in keeping with the general air of smartness about the autumn hats now being shown at $5.

They are original and decidedly out of the ordinary—dashing big sailors and snug fitting small hats—so wide in range that every woman can find a model that is becoming to her.

The "War Bride" Hat Is Just New

—and is a style that is much worn just now in the east. A demure, close fitting shape of velvet is draped with a chiffon veil that falls gracefully to the waist line in the back. Navy blue is the most popular color, although these "War Bride" hats come in other autumn colorings.

Women's and Misses' New Fall Dresses

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Mrs. Carrie Sheibner, after a shopping trip down town yesterday afternoon, returned to her home at 930 Barry avenue. She expected that her daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Keiser Pettit, a bride of a month, would have dinner ready to serve.

Three hours before she had bidden the young woman good-by. The latter was expecting the return of her husband, John Maurice Pettit, who had been absent three weeks.

"Good-by, mamma; get back early," said the young woman, waving to her mother.

When Mrs. Sheibner returned in the early dusk of evening the window shades were drawn. The front door was also locked, so she rang the bell.

The young man's hair was dishevelled. In the dusk Mrs. Sheibner could distinguish something dark dripping from his hands. There were splashes of something dark on one cheek and a sinister stain on the front of his shirt.

The mother looked past the chalk-faced youth at the door and saw an inanimate somethinf lying on the parlor floor.

She attempted to enter and Pettit, uttering a wild cry of fear, ran through the house, leaped the fence inclosing the back yard and sped away in the darkness.

Mrs. Sheibner turned on the lights. On the floor lay the body of her daughter in a pool of blood, her throat cut from ear to ear—the head almost severed from the body.

The cabarets and "night life" had claimed another victims—if the stories that immediately reached the police were true.

According to these stories jealousy furinished the motive for the crime. Following the romantic marriage of the young couple, it was said, there had been automobile rides with other men—at least the husband believed there had; he had gone away—and during the afternoon he had come back.

Pettit was still a fugitive today.

A peculiar feature of the murder was that the young bride had been dead two or three hours, the police said.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

To Be Mobilized at the New M. E. Church in Nappanee.

This is the expressive title of the program of the Goshen district missionary rallies, which will begin with a splendid convention in the new Nappanee M. E. church on Monday and Tuesday, September 11 and 12.

The distinguished speakers will be the Rev. Bishop Thomas Nicholson, D. D., L. L. D., the Rev. D. D. Forsythe, D. D., Philadelphia, and the Rev. James M. Taylor, D. D., of New York.

The Nappanee choir and men's chorus, the Syracuse Brotherhood chorus, the Warsaw men's chorus and the Wakarusa gospel team will furnish music. Also the Goshen district preachers' quartet and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Plank, of Elkhart, evangelistic singers.

The Rev. R. J. Wade, D. D., will preside and many other eloquent ministers will speak.

WOMAN WANTS TO BE JUDGE.

Lagrange, Ind., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Daisy M. Mosier, of Ontario, a sister of Frederick G. Smeltzly, county superintendent of schools, has accepted the socialist nomination for judge of the thirty-fourth judicial circuit, which includes Lagrange and Elkhart counties. Mrs. Mosier was nominated in a convention held on June 24 at Elkhart, and a few days ago she filed her expense account with County Clerk Choler, as required by law. Mrs. Mosier admits that her nomination cost nothing, and in filing her account she indicates that she has it in mind to contest with Judge Drake, republican nominee for re-election, and Senator Otis L. Ballou, who is the democratic selection for the place.

DIES SUDDENLY.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 1.—Zachariah Springer, for years a well known resident of Decatur and employed as a lineman on the local traction line, about 7:30 Thursday morning fell from a high platform, built on a hand car, used in line repair work and in a few minutes was dead. Springer had just gone to work. Roadmaster Mose Henry was with him, standing on the street, and suddenly Springer uttered a cry of pain and at the same time caught hold of the trolley wire above him. Mr. Henry knew that something was wrong and called to Springer to let loose and sit down. Whether Mr. Springer heard him or not will of course never be known, but just at that time his hold on the wire was loosened and he began to fall. Mr. Henry caught him and this partly broke the force of the fall, but was unable to hold him up and both men were thrown down.

PRICES ADVANCE.

Hartford City, Ind., Sept. 1.—The high cost of foodstuffs is to be felt in another quarter in this city. The advanced price of commodities has made it imperative upon restaurant keepers to raise the prices on certain kinds of grub. Starting next Monday, all fifteen cent lunches will be raised to twenty cents; all sandwiches will be five cents straight, and soup, pie and coffee will be fifteen cents instead of ten cents. One restaurant man declared Thursday that the present increases are only a starter. It is absolutely necessary, he said, for the restaurant men to raise prices, in order that they may "break even."

ADAIR AT GARRETT.

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 1.—The first public political gathering of the campaign in Garrett will take place Wednesday evening, September 6, when Congressman John A. M. Adair, democratic candidate for governor, will be the speaker at an open-air meeting. On that day Mr. Adair will make an automobile tour of the county and will be escorted by the county central committee, county candidates and other democrats. The Garrett Wilson-Marshall club will be well represented, plans being made by President J. D. Brinkerhoff and other members.

NOW CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 1.—Walter Lahm, aged 20 years last May, who during the past five years has figured in numerous escapades which have nearly caused his incarceration in the state reformatory at Jeffersonville and against whom a suspended sentence now rests in the Whitley circuit court for stealing rifles from Emanuel Harshbarger and E. A. Barney north of this city, and who also went on escapades in the Adam Rumsyre and Luther Mertz cars within the last year and ended up with damage to both machines, and who finally last Saturday compromised a bastardy case filed against him by Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker of this city by marrying the girl, is now in the Whitley county jail and bound over to the circuit court on a charge of forgery preferred against him by Prosecutor Jos. R. Harrison and sworn to by Henry E. Romey.

TAKEN TO INDIANAPOLIS.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 1.—Curtis Wolfe accompanied by his physicians and Will Goodrich, of Winchester, left for Indianapolis Wednesday, where Wolfe will undergo an operation at the Deaconess hospital for a pressure on the brain. Wolfe was in the employ of the United Heat, Gas and Light company and was hurt seriously in a runaway Thanksgiving day of last year. Since that time he has had trouble with his brain and an insanity commission had been called. He tried to secure a compensation under the compensation laws of the state and failed and the company is now paying his expenses to the hospital.

AUTO HITS FREIGHT.

South Whitley, Ind., Sept. 1.—Although the automobile of John Kepler, of South Whitley, occupied by his son, Glen Kepler, who was driving, and Russell Bowdy, driver for O. Gandy & Co., plunged into a stock car of a Nickel Plate freight train which was standing on the crossing while the crew was getting orders at the depot, no one was seriously hurt. The front end of the automobile was jammed underneath the car so that it required several minutes for a crew of men to release it. The machine is damaged almost beyond repair. Bowdy was rendered unconscious but was soon able to be up and around Eight teeth were knocked out.

HAS 'EM GUESSING.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 1.—Mayor John Mock has his many friends guessing. Two weeks ago he left the city, telling his friends he would spend a short vacation in Detroit, Mackinac Island and Chicago. The last word from him comes from Yellowstone park, saying he would go from there to Portland, Ore., then to Seattle, Wash., and from there to San Francisco. Hissoner's friends say he should refer to "we" in his letters instead of "I" and they are convinced that he has given up single blessedness and is trying to keep this fact a secret. A formal announcement is expected when the mayor comes home.

NEXT REUNION AT DELPHOS.

Delphos, Ohio, Sept. 1.—The next reunion of the Kiggins family will be held at the Water Works park in Delphos, the third week in August of 1917, according to the arrangements made at the annual gathering held at the fair grounds in Van Wert Wednesday

MARKLE MAN RETURNS.

Markle, Ind., Sept. 1.—Forrest Fate, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fate, living near Markle, who was reported missing Wednesday, returned home at 5:15 yesterday morning, after nearly 36 hours absence. He would answer no questions as to where he had been and refused to talk when members of the family questioned him. As far as could be learned he suffered no ill effects from his experience. Sheriff Johnston, who has been assisting in the search for the missing youth, was notified at once.

PARALYSIS VICTIM DEAD.

Little Perry Cook Passes Away at Parents' Home in Whitley County.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 1.—Perry Cook, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cook, of Thorncreek township, who had been suffering from infantile paralysis for several days, died Thursday morning at 3 o'clock. While his condition was considered critical by all of the physicians who visited him Wednesday afternoon, none of them thought that death would come so soon, and the announcement of his demise came as a great surprise to most of them. The boy was 12 years, 10 months and 19 days old.

VETERANS ELECT OFFICERS.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 1.—At the final session of the annual reunion of the eighty-eighth Indiana volunteer infantry, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Colonel, F. F. Foltz, Knightstown; lieutenant colonel, James Winnebrenef, of Albion; adjutant, C. W. Tuttle, of Columbia City. The next meeting will be held in Columbia City.

DIVORCE [illegible] ENDS.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 1.—The long drawn out divorce case of Jennie Kiser, of Auburn, vs. S. J. Kiser, of Waterloo came to an end Thursday noon. For three days both sides introduced evidence and for a while it looked as if the entire neighborhood at Waterloo would be present as witnesses. Thursday morning the lawyers began to make their talks and cite law that showed that each one was right. It was near the noon hour that the last speech was made by one of the attorneys for Mr. Kiser. After the last word had been spoken, Judge Link took up the case as he saw it and gave the divorce to Mrs. Kiser and gave her $250 alimony and $50 attorneys' fees.

BOY WONDER.

Defiance, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Delta has a boy wonder. Lloyd Keller is a modern water nymph. Without motion of hand, feet or body he can stand in or lay down in water of any depth for hours at the time and not sink. While at the lake a few weeks ago he excited the natives of the lake section by swimming out to a place where the water was thirty feet deep and laying on the water, fishing with the ordinary cane fish pole for hours.

CARNIVAL IS PROFITABLE.

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 1.—The Garrett public library and the volunteer fire department will get a profit of between $1,100 and $1,200 from last week's carnival. The committees have not yet been able to settle all of their business and the figures will not be available for a few days. The carnival was a successful affair. The attendance was large every day, but rain Saturday evening caused a premature cessation of merriment and reduced the receipts greatly.

DIES AT FREMONT.

Fremont, Ind., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Mary Grill, of Spencerville, passed away at the home of her graiddaughter, Mrs. Maud Kline-Adams, at Fremont, Wednesday evening, at 9:30 o'clock. Her home for many years had been in Spencerville. Some time ago she went to the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. mont, where she died at the age of 65 years.

YOUNG LADS TAKE JEWELS.

Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 1.—The taking of three rings and a watch from the home of Aubrey Dye resulted in the apprehension of three young lads by the sheriff last evening. The boys, who are hardly in their teens, confessed to taking the articles, which they had hidden. After returning the property they were given a good fatherly lecturing and placed on probation by the sheriff.

CONDITION CRITICAL.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 1.—As the result of injuries received when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a train at Wawasee, Fred C. Zeigler, of Tulsa, Okla., is in a critical condition in the Goshen hospital. It is not believed he can recover. His sister-in-law, Mrs. E. E. Stinson, of Montpelier, Ind., is suffering from nervous shock and a bad wound in her head.

WORE COAT AT FIVE MARRIAGES.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 1.—Fred Drabenstad, of Brown county, while here yesterday, told of purchasing a long tailed coat in a local store sixty years ago, which he has worn at each of his five marriages. He did not wear it on his visit here because he said it "was sorta out of style."

CANCER CAUSES DEATH.

Spencerville, Ind., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Mary Grill, widow of the late Isaac Grill passed away Wednesday at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Maude Adams, at Fremont. Death was due to cancer, from which she had been a sufferer for sometime. She was 69 years old.

WILL DONATE LOT.

Lagrange, Ind., Sept. 1.—At the next meeting of the city council, Monday evening, it is expected that Leon Rose will make a proposition for the donation of a lot which will be used for the erection of a Carnegie library.

MILITARY CHIEF ON THE GROUND AT LIMA

Assistant Adjutant General Hurries to Scene of Mob Violence.

Lima, O., Sept. 1.- Fear that state troops would be needed to maintain order in a new outbreak of mob violence had practically passed today after Col. S. E. S. Bryant, assistant adjutant general, had hurried to the city from Columbus to look over the situation, which grew out of an attempt to lynch Charles Daniels, negro, who is alleged to have assaulted Mrs. John Barber, wife of a prominent Allen county farmer.

Early last evening a large crowd gathered in front of the county jail, but there were no demonstrations. For a time, however, some officials feared a race riot and every precaution was taken.

Sheriff Sherman Eley, who was tortured until he directed the mob to Ottawa, where he had taken Daniels for safety, and where he made his escape from the angered crowd, returned to Lima late yesterday to learn that his little daughter had died from shock, caused Wednesday night when the mob forced the jail while looking for the negro.

The negro is in the Henry county jail at Napoleon, where he was rushed late Wednesday night while the mob was enroute from Lima to Ottawa to get him. Mrs. Cecil Kephart, sister of Sheriff Eley's wife, was said to be in a serious condition after being manhandled by the mob when it broke into the jail.

15 CLEAR DAYS IN MONTH OF AUGUST

During the month of August Fort Wayne experienced fifteen clear days, eleven partly cloudy and five cloudy days. During the thirty-one days there was a total rainfall of 2.1 inches, a deficit of 1.19 inches for the average August.

The average temperature for the entire month was 74.6. The highest point the thermometer registered was 97 on Aug. 21. On the 28th the temperature fell as low as 52, the lowest for the month. There were ten days in August when the thermometer reached ninety degrees or higher.

The total movement of the wind for the 31 days was 4,845 miles. The highest velocity was reached on the morning of the 19th, when the rate was twenty-seven miles per hour.

Seven storms were experienced in Fort Wayne. They occurred on August 3, 4, 7, 8, 10 and 19. This number is four more than the average for the month.

PURDUE BATTERY IS ORDERED HOME

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 1.—The war department has ordered B battery, of the Indiana national guard, composed of students at Purdue university, to return from the border to Fort Benjamin Harrison.

A copy of the order was received today by Adjutant General F. L. Bridges. It was dated Aug. 30. The recently organized battery from Fort Wayne is expected to be sent to the border to take the place of B battery.

Northern Indiana News Brevities

There is much opposition in Adams county to the employing of another county agent to take the place of A. J. Hutchins, who has moved to Fort Wayne to succeed Clarence Henry as agricultural agent of Allen county.

Garrett schools will open on Monday, September 11.

The U. B. church at Angola is now free from debt.

A Wilson and Marshall club will be organized at Butler.

James E. Watson, republican candidate for United States senator, will make a tour of Steuben county on Tuesday, September 12.

GRABILL VOTED "DRY."

Misstatment of Result of Option Election Appeared in Newspapers.

A resident of Grabill has written The Sentinel to the effect that in the recent local option election in Cedar Creek township, Grabill voted "dry" while Leo voted "wet." The correct vote is as follows: Precinct A, in which Leo is located, voted "wet" by a majority of forty-three, while the "drys" carried Precinct B, in which Grabill is located by a majority of eight. A large percentage of the voters of the township were at the polls, 333 votes being cast in Precinct A, and 130 in Precinct B.

CONTRACTS LET FOR FOUR COUNTY ROADS

Commissioners Receive Bids and Reject All on One Job.

Contracts have been let for four roads by the county commissioners and all bids on one were rejected.

Rider & Webster were awarded the contract for the Simmers road in Monroe township. The road is 10,514 feet. The bid was $9,538 and the engineer's estimate, $10,514.

For the Townley road in Jackson township all bids were rejected. Rider & Webster submitted a bid of $21,500, but the estimate of the engineer was $17,093.89.

For the Sharfenberger-Grotrian road on the Madison-Jefferson township line, 8,316 feet long, C. W. Eling was given the contract on his bid of $7,985. The estimate of the engineer was $8,953.

A. H. Fry was given the contract for the Feighner lower Huntington road, 14,696 feet long, on his bid of $16,489. The estimate of the engineer was $20,216.

Will of Late E. A. K. Hackett.

The will of E. A. K. Hackett, late publisher and owner of The Sentinel, was filed for probate in circuit court Friday afternoon. The will was dated Oct. 14, 1911, the witnesses being C. H. Worden and Henry R. Freeman. The widow Mrs. Susie Emma Hackett and daughter, Dr. Martha Hackett, are named administratrixes. In case the latter is out of the United States it is specified that the daughter, Helen Elizabeth Hackett Johnson, shall act, all without bond. The Tri-State Loan and Trust company is appointed to act as trustee for Mr. Hackett's realty and business block on the east side of Calhoun street between Wayne and Washington streets. The trustee is to hold it during the life of the daughters, Dr. Martha Hackett and Helen Elizabeth Hackett Johnson. The net income is to go to them.

To the widow, Mrs. Susie Emma Hackett, the West Wayne street realty is devised to hold during life. She is empowered to collect the income from it for her own use. The newspaper property, The Fort Wayne Sentinel, is given her to operate as she decides best for the interest of all the heirs, with the power to dispose of property or any portion if she so desires.

Divorce is Asked.

Gertrude E. Arthur has filed suit in the superior court for a divorce from Thomas O. Arthur, alleging the defendant has a drinking habit. They were married December 0, 1910, and separated December 17, 1915. There are two children. S. L. Morris, jr., is attorney for the plaintiff.

Marriage Licenses.

W. C. Kramer, packer, 34, and Agnes C. Parker, 24.

C. M. Tucker, 24, and Anna M. Lyons, 23.

Notes of the Courts.

Robert Gerding has filed suit against Louis Limecooly for $1,000 damages. The plaintiff charges that the defendant ran into him as he drove out of the gate. Gerding was riding a bicycle and was seriously injured, being hurled 20 feet. P. B. Colerick is attorney for the plaintiff.

Judge Sol A. Wood, referee in bankruptcy, has announced that a dividend of 59 per cent. has been declared in the bankruptcy of Daniel W. Kane.

Brownsville, Texas, Sept. 1.—No further applications for the discharge of college students serving in the national guard on the border or guardsmen with dependent relatives will be considered, according to orders sent by the war department to Fort Brown today.

It is understood here that applications filed previous to the cancellation order will be acted upon at Fort Sam Houston.

But New York Officials Believe Epidemic Has Been Checked.

New York, Sept. 1.—The number of cases of infantile paralysis reported for the twenty-four hours ending at 10 a. m. today showed another increase—68 against 60 yesterday—but officials of the health department retain their feeling of certainty that the epidemic is on the wane. Their conviction is based on averages, that for this week being lower than last week's. The number of deaths today was 16, compared with 21 reported yesterday.

BIG MEETING PLANNED.

Extensive preparations are being made by the young democrats of the Fourth ward for a big meeting to be held at democratic headquarters at 8 o'clock, September 7. The committee in charge of the arrangements is composed of Ralph Petgen, J. E. Atwell, John Swaidner, Dr. E. M. Van Buskirk and O. E. Fuelber. The meeting is under the auspices of the Young Men's Democratic league.

SUTHERLAND IS NEW AMERICAN BAR HEAD

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Senator George Sutherland, of Utah, was elected president of the American Bar association for 1917 today, defeating by four votes Walter George Smith, of Philadelphia. The vote was 26 for Senator Sutherland and 22 for Mr. Smith. Mr. Smith was put on the executive committee.

There seemed to be no doubt that George Whitlock, of Baltimore, would be re-elected secretary and that Frederick W. Wadhams, of Albany, N. Y., would be re-elected treasurer, which post he has held for fourteen years. During that time he has handled more than $66,000 of association money.

Rome G. Brown, of Minneapolis, chairman of the committee to oppose the judicial recall, directed the attention of the association in his report to the fact that practically no states are now passing such measures or considering their passage.

"It seems reasonably certain," he said, "that no state which has not already adopted such an amendment expects to do so."

Edict is Delivered at Constantinople Thursday Evening.

Berlin, Sept. 1.—(By wireless to Sayville.)—A dispatch from Constantinople says that at 8 o'clock last night the Turkish government delivered to the Rumanian minister at Constantinople a declaration of war against Rumania.

An official statement issued by the Turkish war department at Constantinople Aug. 31, says:

"On the Caucasus front our left wing completely routed two and a half enemy divisions. We took more than 5,000 prisoners and several cannon and machine guns were brought in.

WILL SOON START WORK ON SUBWAY

Property Has Been Purchased for Opening of Coombs Street.

The board of works was notified Friday, by Superintendent Hart, of the Nickel Plate railroad system, that piling is on the grounds ready for making the proposed subway at Coombs street.

Deeds for two pieces of property, laying in the track of Coombs street when it is to be joined to Cochran street, were turned over to the board of works, Thursday. The sum of $2,300 was paid for the two lots. One property belonged to Mrs. John Vesey.

Work of elevating the Nickel Plate railroad tracks and of putting in the subway, which will allow Coombs street to be extended from Wayne street to Herbert street, is expected to start soon. Inability of the railroad company to purchase dirt for the elevated tracks has been the cause of delay.

Superintendent Hart said in his communication that he believed a contract for dirt would be had soon. The Brooks Construction company is prepared to make the excavation beneath the tracks for the subway whenever the tracks have been raised and held by piling.

INDIANA LEADING IN CARNEGIE LIBRARIES

Indianapolis, Sept. 1.—Just how honestly library boards of Indiana cities have lived up to their obligations with the Carnegie corporation may be seen from a letter received recently by Henry N. Sanborn, secretary of the State Library commission. It comes from the secretary of the corporation and reads in part as follows: "It will be interesting to you to know that in the number of library buildings as well as the general attitude adopted by Indiana, as evidenced by your communications, the state is in the front rank. Indiana can now be listed as one of the states with practically a perfect record, a position more noteworthy by the large number of buildings in the state."

Carnegie libraries have been established in this state at the rate of about one each month for the last twelve months. There are now 143 in the entire state. Two of them are college libraries, one being at Earlham and the other at DePauw. The total gifts amount to $2,097,000, with the college gifts totaling $80,000. The libraries have ranged from $7,000 to $35,000 in cost.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Cooper.—Funeral services for Cornelius Cooper will be held Saturday morning at nine o'clock at the residence on McClellan street, and at 9:30 o'clock at the Cathedral. Interment at Lindenwood.

LABOR LEADERS MAY FIGHT WAGE PROPOSAL

Washington, Sept. 1.—There were indications this afternoon that the labor leaders would fight the proposal in the rail strike legislation to empower the interstate commerce commission to govern wages as the senate bill proposes, but would probably accept it if they saw congress was determined to include it in the bill.

At 2 o'clock Senator Newlands introduced the revised senate bill and it was formally referred to the interstate commerce committee. Senator Newlands said the committee would report finally within a short time and that he would seek to hold the senate in session until the whole subject was disposed of, even if it should extend the session far into the night.

Makes Favorable Report.

Senator Newlands made a favorable report from the committee at 2:30 o'clock and unanimous consent was granted by the senate immediate consideration. Senator Newlands opened the discussion.

Senator Newlands called special attention to a provision of the bill added after the original draft had been submitted, which would declare any person who wilfully delays, obstructs or hinders operation of trains, guilty of a misdemeanor, to be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 and imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both.

Mann Offers Objection.

Democratic Leader Kitchin called up the Adamson bill soon after the house met. "I ask unanimous consent for its consideration," he said. "I object," said Republican Leader Mann.

Representative Harrison, democrat, then offered the special rule and there was discussion on that. Mr. Harrison said congress, in the interest of the American people, ought to pass this bill by Saturday night and avert the strike.

Representative Bennett, republican, denounced the proposed legislation. "There are worse things than strikes," said Bennett, "and one of those things is the destruction of the American system of government. I don't propose to cast my vote with a pistol at my head."

Representative Cooper, of Ohio, republican, denied that labor was holding up congress, as Mr. Bennett charged.

"It was not the railroad men who asked this legislation," he said. "They do say, however, that if this house passes this bill today, and the senate passes it tomorrow, they will have the power to call off the strike."

Representatives Caldwell, of New York; Borland, of Missouri, and Raker, of California, democrats, urged a strong vote in favor of the bill.

General Debate Begins.

Representative Lenroot, of Wisconsin, republican, amid applause on the democratic side, announced he expected to vote for the bill. Many others spoke briefly on both sides. The rule was adopted without a record vote and general debate on the bill itself then began.

Senator Reed declared if the provision to give authority to the inter-state commerce commission to fix wages and hours of services were not abandoned the bill could not be passed in time to avert the strike. To pass the provision he said would instead of stopping the strike, absolutely force it.

After a twenty minutes session the committee of six senate republicans authorized to draft substitute legislation was informed that the majority plan is to rush through the bills it has framed at once and to stay in session all night, if necessary to pass them. The republicans adjourned without action of any kind. There were indications that the plan to draft substitute bills probably would be abandoned.

MARSHALL BALKS AT TOO MUCH FILM STUFF

Washington, Sept. 1.—A strike that threatened to be almost as embarrassing to the managers of the democratic campaign as a railroad strike would be to the public occurred when Vice President Marshall stood for eight performances as the maximum before the moving picture camera. "I have marched in front of the thing eight times and that is enough," said the vice president. "This is getting to be silly."

In vain the democratic senate leaders importuned him and Senator James Hamilton Lewis pointed out that it was "in the interest of the party."

The vice president was surrounded by democratic senators urging him to "waddle around the ring" once more while the camera man turned the crank, but he refused. The enterprise was under the auspices of the democratic national committee, which has obtained films of Speaker Clark and Representative Kitchin.

PATRICK CALHOUN.

Patrick Calhoun, former railway capitalist, once worth $14,000,000, is broke. He has filed a bankruptcy petition in New York giving his assets at $5.

The San Francisco earthquake and fire in 1906 did it, he says.

Just before the earthquake, Calhoun, who is 60, broke the San Francisco street railway strike, and after that he was depended on by other railway magnates to help them in their difficulties.

He made his fortune first as counsel for important railroads, then as one of the biggest consolidators in the country.

Even his $500,000 life insurance has been defaulted through loans, he testifies.

"For the past two years," he said, "I have not been able to contribute one cent to the running expenses of my home. I have no bank account and no safe deposit vaults."

PETITION CIRCULATED FOR EARLY CLOSING

Many Merchants Favor Movement to Continue Plan Until December 2.

The petition being circulated by Fred D. C. Wahrenburg, asisstant superintendent of the Rurode Dry Goods company, asking the merchants to continue to close on Saturday afternoons until December 2, as has been done during the months of July and August, is being readily signed. It is not at all improbable that practically all of the stores in the agreement during July and August will continue to close early Saturdays until the forepart of December.

An effort is being made to have every mercantile establishment in the city join in the movement. A leader in the project has the following to say

"Smaller cities than Fort Wayne are closing their stores at 6 o'clock. It is a progressive move. The eight-hour day movement now so prominently before the public on account of the railroad men's stand is being agitated for other lines of work. We feel the time is right now for early Saturday closing. For two months the stores have been closed at 6 o'clock on Saturday. The people have about accustomed themselves to the new idea. We feel it should be continued.

"In some of the larger cities the stores close at noon on Saturday. Our store has been closing at 6 o'clock for three years. Mr. Rurode was the first to take that step in Fort Wayne, during the hot months. Now he would like to see it extended to all stores during the other months of the year with the exception of December, when the holiday trade comes on."

SAYS HER SISTER IS ALSO BIGAMIST'S WIFE

New Albany Woman Seeking to Have Matrimonial Tangle Solved.

New Albany, Ind., Sept. 1.—Charging that her husband has never been divorced from her sister, who was his first wife, Mrs. Hazel Cleveland Humphreys brought bigamy proceedings here against William Humphreys, engineer of the excursion steamer Virginia. Humphreys was sent to jail to await the action of the Floyd county grand jury. Mrs. Humphreys declared she was married Aug. 19, on representations alleged to have been made to her by Humphreys that he had obtained a divorce from Ruth Cleveland Humphreys, now living in Indianapolis. Humphreys and his first wife were married April 7, 1914. The second Mrs. Humphreys said she did not learn until today that her husband was not divorced from her sister. The information was obtained, she said, from a letter written by the husband's lawyers, which showed that suit had been filed, but the case had not been tried. Before her marriage the second Mrs. Humphreys lived in Louisville, Ky., and did not correspond regularly with her sister, and for this reason, she said, she did not learn of the failure of the divorce proceedings.

DRY WEATHER CAUSES MANY TREE TROUBLES

City Forestry Department Kept Busy Answering Calls to Fight Worms.

The greatest army of worms that ever advanced upon the timber of Fort Wayne is ravaging the shade and fruit trees of the city. Dry weather, especially adapted for hatching the moth eggs and which weakens the resisting power of trees, is given as the cause for a large per cent of the trees in the city being infested with worms.

J. M. E. Riedel, architect, who lives on State boulevard, called Carl Getz, park superintendent, to his home, Friday, where myriads of tussock moths were attacking one of his apple trees. This is an unheard of procedure, claim men who have studied the action of the worms. The large number of worms in that vicinity is the only reason to be given for their devouring the leaves of an apple tree.

Workmen in the forestry department of the city have been busy spraying trees during the past three weeks. Greatest trouble is from the tussock moth and walnut worms. They are in the city in largest numbers ever known.

The tussock moth has two feather-like projections near its head and four little tufts of hair along its back. It is nearly white in color with a bright red head. The walnut worm is larger and is grayish black in color.

Superintendent Getz gives as the best known remedy against the damaging pests, a spray, to be showered on leaves of the trees. Arsenate of lead mixed in the proportion of three pounds of the poison to fifty gallons of water makes up the spray. The worms eat the leaves on which the poison is placed and die at once.

The tussock worms first attack maple trees, then the elms, sycamores and other shade trees. The walnut worms stay closely to walnut trees. Several trees in the city will die as a result of lack of attention since set upon by worms but trees can be saved by prompt spraying.

City Park Improvements.

A sanitary drinking fountain has been installed in Hayden park to replace the old drinking fountain on the Maumee avenue side of the park. The new fountain is in the center of the park.

Well is Repaired.

The well in Swinney park, which has been almost dry for several days, because of rusted pipes in connection with the hydraulic ram, has been repaired and is now flowing freely.

New Dressing for Boulevard.

New dressing has been given Anthony boulevard, between Lake avenue and the Maumee river. The boulevard has been coated with cinders and graded.

Advancing Work on Spillway.

Piping has been laid from the top of the reservoir to the lake in Reservoir park as part of the system to furnish fresh water for the lake and also protect the reservoir. Work will start at once of building the cone shaped sluiceway at the top of the big basin.

Flushing Water Mains.

Water mains in the region of Lakeside park are being flushed and water directed into the lagoons of the park. When the process of cleaning out the water mains is finished Friday night the water mark will have raised nearly a foot in the Lakeside ponds. Water is also being run over the dam of Spy Run creek in Lawton park. The stationary water in the park is being cooled and impurities washed away.

Building Permits.

Permits for building were granted to Albert M. Tuber, 1814 High street, residence, $3,800; A. G. W. Curdes, 1205 Lynn avenue, dwelling, $2,500; Edward Eby, 2724 Broadway, dwelling, $1,500, and City and Suburban Building company, 3504 Calhoun street, $4,500.

Birth Record.

SOCIETY

Mrs. A. V. Powers and daughter, Helen, have returned from a three weeks' trip through Ohio. Part of the time was spent at Buckeye lake.

Carl F. Reiff and two daughters, Eleanor and Selma Reiff, will motor to Waterloo and Hamilton lake today, to visit over Labor day. Mrs. Reiff will accompany them home, after a week's visit at the lake.

Mrs. Clara Thompson has returned from a six weeks' visit with relatives in Philadelphia, Cleveland and Indianapolis.

Mrs. C. Kayser, Mrs. L. Oberhelman, Mrs. Charles Kayser and Miss Clara Kayser have returned from a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. Malcom, of Rome City. The ladies have many interesting fish stories to tell from their visit at the lake.

The Vivo club was entertained Thursday afternoon by Miss Dorothy Corey, of 137 DeWald street. The club held its second election. The following officers being named: President, Miss Hazel Krill, succeeding Cecile Partez; vice president, Ruth Taylor, succeeding Katherine Combiaze; secretary, and treasurer, Miss Freda Partez, succeeding Miss Hazel Krill. Light refreshments were served by the hostess and several piano selections were rendered by Miss Hazel Krill.

Mrs. Frank Marker and children have returned from Lafayette, where they spent two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Kehler. Mrs. Kehler accompanied Mrs. Marker home and will remain here a week or two. The ladies are sisters.

PRESIDENT LEAVES FOR SHADOW LAWN

Wilson Goes to the Summer White House for Notification.

Washington, Sept. 1.—President Wilson left here this afternoon for the summer white house, Shadowlawn, at Long Branch, N. J., where he will be formally notified tomorrow of his renomination. He expects to arrive at west end station at 8:45 o'clock tonight and will be met there by a large delegation of residents of Long Branch. Mrs. Wilson, Secretary Tumulty, Dr. C. T. Grayson and a large force of clerks accompanied the president.

Before the notification ceremonies at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the president will entertain at lunch the notification committee, the national committee members of his cabinet and of the senate and house.

Arrangements were made at the white house today for sending to Shadowlawn by special messenger the bill to meet the threatened railroad strike as soon as it is passed.

Leaving Long Branch tomorrow night, President Wilson expects to arrive in Washington early Sunday morning, stay here three hours and then depart for Hodgenville, Ky., where on Monday he will accept the birth place of Abraham Lincoln for the nation.

ANIMAL FATALITIES KEEP POLICE BUSY

Numerous Telephone Calls Tell of Deaths Among Brute Population.

Fort Wayne has about 24,000 cats and 9,000 dogs and numberless other animals within its borders, according to Henry Kiel, city poundmaster. The death rate among animals in Fort Wayne jungles is very small, but sufficiently large to keep Kiel and police busy.

One-third of the telephone calls ask, "Will you send a man out to our house to get a dead cat?" There were seven such calls Friday.

The record for the month of August shows that 1242 dead cats were reported to police and were taken in charge by Poundmaster Kiel. That is an average of four and a half dead cats a day. During July there were 160 dead cats collected.

Seventy dead dogs were reported to police during August. In July there were 143 dogs carried to the crematory. Of that number police shot 65 because rabies were feared.

During the month of August the police and poundmaster also performed the last rites for 17 chickens, 18 rabbits, 4 rats and 1 colt.

Miss Ant O'Rourke has returned from a three weeks' visit with relatives and friends in New York city.

Miss Eleanor Bill, of West Brookfield, Mass., is here to take charge of the physical culture department of the Young Women's Christian association. She takes the place of Miss Melin, who resigned some weeks ago.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

PAUL, THE HERO.

LESSON TEXT—II Cor. 11:21-12:10.
GOLDEN TEXT—My grace is sufficient for thee; for my power is made perfect in weakness.—II Cor. 12:9.

This letter raises interesting questions for research and discussion, such as:

1. What is the difference between Paul's heroism and that of a soldier? 2. Is war essential to the development of heroism? 3. Which courage is higher, moral or physical?

I. Paul, the Hero (11:21-22). To a man of a sensitive nature, craving perfection, sarcasm stirs up the deepest bitterness of the soul. We do not believe Paul primarily desired to refuse these false charges—they were unworthy of him—but the knowledge of his sufferings for the cause of Christ and the truth of the gospel would augment his power to serve the church. For the sake of those whom he had reclaimed from heathenism he was willing to seem to be boasting. Literally he says: "I speak by way of disparagement (of myself) as though we had been weak," yet he adds: "Whereinsoever any is bold, I am bold also." Paul had as much to boast of as any one of his Jewish opponents (v. 21). "Are they Hebrews? (Of the purest blood, of one nation and language?) So am I." Are they Israelites, worshiping only one God? Are they of the seed of Abraham, inheritors of the ministry of the promise and the Messianic hope and the kingdom of God? Are they ministers of the Messiah, seeking to bring all men into his kingdom? "I speak as a fool. I speak as one beside himself. I am more." In labors he was more abundant; he had occupied a larger field with greater results. In stripes above measure—those inflicted by the heathen were not limited to forty blows—besides other beatings referred to in this list. In prisons oft (Acts 16:23). Frequently exposed to death and to the perils of robbers by land and sea (v. 24). "Five times I received forty stripes, save one, from the Jews" (v. 25). "Thrice was I beaten with rods; once was I stoned" (Acts 14:19). "Thrice I suffered shipwreck," evidently not recorded in Acts, for his shipwreck on the way to Rome was later. "A night and a day in the deep," this not otherwise recorded. "In journeyings often," suffering from the perils of hard travel, often on foot in uncivilized regions. "In perils of water," literally "in rivers." Bridges were rare, and floods sudden and frequent. "In perils of robbers." Every road in Asia Minor then as now was infested with robbers. "In perils of his own countrymen;" "In perils by the Gentiles;" "In perils in the city;" "In perils in the wilderness;" "In perils in the sea" from storms, rocks, pirates; "In perils among false brethren"—Judaising teachers who were self-seeking instead of making the gospel first (Gal. 2:4; II Cor., 11:13). "In weariness and painfulness," literally in labor and travail; "In watchings often;" repeated nights of sleeplessness due to anxiety or pain. "In hunger and thirst, in fastings often," hunger unsatisfied for a long time. "In cold and nakedness;" in the mountain passes badly shod and badly clothed. Besides these things which were without, innumerable other trials such as the care of or anxiety over the churches (vv. 32, 33).

II. God's Sustaining Grace (12:1-10). To Paul God gave one of the greatest tasks ever committed to man, viz., the planting of the gospel in heathen lands; founding churches; teaching them the gospel truths of the Lord Jesus. He wrote to these churches two-fifths of the New Testament, thirteen of its twenty-seven books, and this work was accomplished under the greatest difficulty, trials and suffering. To sustain and guide, the Lord gave him "visions and revelations" (v. 1). These revelations came to him from the very beginning of his Christian life and continued in every great crisis. The first was given at his conversion, twenty years before this letter was written, when he saw Jesus in His glory and received his marching orders. Again (vv. 2-4), fourteen years before, or about A. D. 43, when he was in Antioch and first entered upon his foreign missionary work. He obtained his gospel directly from the Lord. Subsequently he had other visions to sustain and guide him.

Teachers ought to study this entire section, beginning at chapter 10. Paul says that as an apostle he did not labor in the fields of others (10:14-15).

He was not much concerned by what his enemies might say.

As to his opinion of them, read chapter 10. Ashamed to boast, yet for their sakes he meets their foolish charges by giving us this record.

Because of these sufferings (v. 10) he takes pleasure in infirmities, reproaches and persecutions; "For when I am weak" (in my own strength) then I am strong through Christ who strengthens me."

He may be a fool in glorying, compelled to as he had been, yet his work had been accompanied by the signs of an apostle, and he was not to be behind the very chiefest, although himself he was nothing.

On Saturday a special representative of the manufacturers of the new McDougal Auto-Front Kitchen Cabinet will be at Hadley's to demonstrate the superior advantages of this labor-saver for housewives. Don't hestitate about coming to this demonstration even if you are not ready to purchase. However, the Auto-Front is capable of reducing your kitchen work to such an extent that no woman can afford to be without one. It makes each hour you spend in the kitchen one of joy instead of drudgery, and it takes the place of a well-trained servant for a dollar per week (for a limited period only) and then becomes your right-hand helper for a lifetime without any additional expense.

$1.00 Down Places It in Your Home $34.75 Weekly Pays the Balance of

Some McDougall Features

Glass swinging sugar bin.
Air-tight tea, coffee, cereal and spice jars.
Ample china closet.
Spacious work cupboard.

More McDougall Features

Linen drawer.
Cutlery drawer.
Sanitary leg base.

Notice the New Drop Door Feature

—It entirely eliminates the bothersome swinging doors that ordinarily swing out over the table top, and which cannot be opened or closed without removing everything that you have on the table. You simply release the catch and the Auto-Front drops down out of sight and out of the way, as illustrated above.

Everything You Need At Your Finger Tips

—No matter what you require in the course of the preparation of a meal you need only reach out and you have it within an arm's length without taking an unnecessary step. If you now feel the strain of kitchen work—if you are "simply worn out" at the end of a day—you owe it to yourself and family to investigate the McDougall.

Present Supply of McDougalls Limited

—The McDougall factory is experiencing an unprecedented rush of orders due to the efficiency of this new cabinet. Materials are somewhat scarce at present, and we have secured only a small shipment. Therefore we request that you come into the store as early as possible in order to be assured that you need not wait to have your order filled.

Remember $1 Cash Is All You Require

—One Dollar is so small an amount that you will never miss it—especially when you will enjoy the benefits of this initial payment for years to come. Then $1.00 a week for a few weeks will cover the entire cost. And the Auto-Front McDougall in your kitchen will be a source of helpful pleasure long after the cost is forgotten.

NEW HAVEN NEWS.

New Haven, Ind., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Louis Gerardot was given a delightful surprise party at her home Wednesday evening by the young ladies' class of the Methodist Protestant church. Mrs. Gerardot is assistant teacher of the class and the affair was planned by the young ladies in honor of her fortieth birth anniversary. She received many pretty presents in remembrance of the occasion. The evening was spent in music and contests. Miss Irma Schnitker won first prize in the contest work and Miss Florence Ankrum the consolation. Ice cream and cake was served the guests who were Misses Gladys Bandelier, Hazel Richhart, Florence Stark, Abbie McClure, Wilma Daniels, Amy Richhart, Gladys Burgett, Florence Ankrum, Helene Gerardot, Irma Schnitker, Lydia Bucklow, Gail and Estell Gerardot, Fern and Ruby Smith, of Fort Wayne, Messrs. Will Harper, Worden Sturms and Darwin Fry. Mr. and Mrs. L. Gerardot, and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Fullington.

The Furthmiller reunion was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bolyard. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Habig, of Huntertown; Mrs. Henry Furthmiller, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Furthmiller and daughters, Marie and Lily, and son, Leonard, of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutson, sr., Mr. and Mrs. Ethan Daniels and son, Harold, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hutson, jr., Misses Florence and Mary Hutson, Margaret Habig, Ray Hutson, Louis, Russel and Charles Bolyard.

The grade teachers for the coming year of the New Haven public school are: Miss Maud Caps, first and second; Miss Inez Gorrell, third and fourth; Miss Olive Lenhart, fifth and sixth; Miss Josephine Bennett, of Fort Wayne, the seventh and eighth. Miss Florence Harris will teach at district No. 11, Adams township. Miss Helen Gorrell at Wayne Haven, and Miss Mildred Bowman at district No. 2.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

Saturday has to pass and then at 3 o'clock Sunday the two teams will be at each other. The Payne manager writes that he is coming to clean the Clearyites. Payne's team is almost the same as it was when it played here and shut the Clearyites out 5 to 0 some weeks ago.

The team is leary that something will happen and is bringing a brother pop-bottle dodger to arbitrate with Farnan. While the visitors are not afraid that someone will slip one over on them, they want to make the contest look like a real ball game. The management states that there will be no boy's day at the park Labor day because of the ruling of the board of health.

The dark and gloomy Labor day bill caused by the Colored Giants being matched will be the big event for the day's entertainment. Comedy and good playing will be mixed in such quantities so as to make a ball game worth going a long ways to gaze at.' The game will start at 3 o'clock and the double umpiring system will be employed.

WELSH SHOWS GREAT SPEED IN BOXING

Colorado Springs, Col., Sept. 1.—Freddie Welsh ended his boxing in preparation for his twenty round championship match with Charley White here on Labor day in a blaze of glory. The champion showed himself in superb condition, and the way he threw a million or more gloves at his sparring partners made his backers sit back in amazement.

Many persons who had been of the opinion that Welsh was an all-in, down-and-outer after reading about this one and that one testing him in no decision battles throughout the east were forced to change their opinions.

Welsh, the old master of the ring, showed himself like the Welsh of old. He did everything he wanted with the boys Trainer Rose led into the ring at the Temple theater. It was a noticeable fact that only rarely did any of the trial horses land a blow. Wop Flynn, who is considered a fair boy around Denver, landed two blows in five rounds of work and was cheered.

While Welsh was working with Flynn and Battling Reddy he kept his jaw carefully guarded. Not for a single moment did Welsh forget to keep one of his gloves up high and his chin down, protecting himself from any possible damage that way when he tackles the Chicago challenger and his mighty left hook.

Exercise Rest of Week.

For the remaining days the champion will confine himself to exercises and going through the motions of boxing with his trainer. At the end of the day's boxing Welsh declared he was fit as the proverbial fiddle and felt sure he would retain the title long after Sept. 4.

White told his sparring partners, Harry Bramer and Mattie Smith, to go their fastest when he started boxing, and they followed instructions. Charley gave them all he had for eight rounds and at the end wore a scratched nose as a result of his boxing. When he had finished he stepped on the scales and tipped the beam at exactly 135½ pounds, just a half pound within the required notch.

Welsh again refused to weigh in. He declared the only time he would jump on the scales would be 9 o'clock on the day of the match, when he would be inside of the prescribed 135 pounds.

Women See Boxers Work.

It was "ladies' day" at the Temple theater. On the invitation of Promoter Eddie Pitts hundreds of women at the Springs took advantage of the free gate and were pleased with the performance. Women here have taken a great interest in the coming battle and each day the man in the box office reports heavy orders from the leaders of the social set.

Aldermen Jimmy Bowler, John Powers, and John Toleman, of Chicago, wired Nate Lewis they were coming to the battle with some friends. The work on the arena has been completed. The only thing which remains is to lay the floor of the ring. This will be done on Sunday morning.

PROMISING CANDIDATES IN SQUAD.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 1.—Promising candidates for Michigan's 1916 football eleven include Sharp, halfback; Sparks, quarter; Peach and Wieman, ends; Dunne, lineman, and Hanish, halfback. These men started with the freshmen eleven last season.

ARM THAT WON WORLD'S HEAVY WEIGHT TITLE MAY BE AMPUTATED AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT.

JIM JEF FRIES AND HIS TITLE-WINNING RI GHT ARM.

Jim Jeffries, former champion of the world, and owner of the arm, is under the care of surgeons as the result of an accident which hapened to him while on a hunting trip in the mountains near this city.

A knife Jeff was using slipped and cut deeply into his hand. Infection followed and blood poisoning set in, the hand and arm swelling to twice the normal size. Surgeons hope to save the title-winning arm but say Jeff must lose the first finger.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

SAPPHIRES.

"Red" Pierre was elected captain of the Sapphire football team Wednesday night at a meeting held to discuss plans for the coming season. The Sapphires intend to take the city champion this year and are loading up their ranks with stars from all over the city, and except to have a strong team.

CAVALIERS.

The Cavaliers are starting early to get into condition for the season's work that is before them. They will practice at the Western Gas grounds Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All the old players and those who wish to try out should report as Manager Elmer Schafer wants to see what he has to work with. The Cavaliers have obtained some new stars for their team and expect to give a good account of themselves this season.

WAGNER OUT OF THE GAME.

Series of Injuries Incapacitates Veteran Shortstop.

Pittsburg, Sept. 1.—Honus Wagner, veteran shortstop of the Pittsburg Nationals, probably will not be able to play again this season owing to a series of injuries received during the past month. He was out ten days as a result of a badly injured thumb and a lacerated finger, and when these wounds had healed twisted a ligament in his leg. This injury was improving slowly when Wednesday in the first game with Boston Wagner went in as a pinch hitter and hurt his leg again. A number of recruits will be tried out in his position.

HARD WORK FINISHED.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 1.—Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, and George Chaney, of Baltimore, virtually finished hard work yesterday in training for the featherweight championship battle at Cedar Point on Labor day. Both men are in perfect shape today and down to the prescribed weight—122 pounds.

SPORT DOPE

Financially speaking, for the baseball magnates, Sunday is the strength of the week.

If it wasn't for Johnny Evers, President Tener wouldn't have anything to do but sign the payroll.

Officials of the Merion Cricket club say the national golf tournament will be a howling success if the stock of Scotch highballs holds out.

According to Bill Donovan a difference of 50 cents ruins many pitchers. Instead of making the batters foul the ball into the grandstand they let 'em hammer homers into the bleachers.

It begins to look as though the Boston Braves and the Boston Red Sox may be able to split a can of beans in October.

There's one union in the United States that will never strike for the eight-hour day. That's the baseball players union.

BUILDER AFTER RECORD.

Algonac, Mich., [illegible] 1.—A local speed boat builder, whose products have smashed every world's record, is confident he will turn out a hydroplane which will eclipse the record of 66.66 miles an hour recently made by the Miss Minneapolis. It is understood that the builder believes his boats will attain a speed of more than seventy miles an hour. On a trial trip recently one of the boats made a long intertown journey at a mile a minute clip.

SEND INVITATIONS TO CANDIDATES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 1.—Thirty-four invitations to the fall football practice have been issued by the University of Michigan. Four more will be sent if the prospective candidates pass examinations. These men, conditioned last spring, took the summer school course in an effort to become eligible for the eleven.

INDIANA GETS STARS.

Ripon, Wis., Sept. 1.—Ripon college is to lose two of its football stars, according to reports. "Tubby" Howard, captain of the 1916 eleven, has decided to enter Indiana and will take with him McNeill, an end. Howard is one of the best fullbacks in Wisconsin.

STRIKE TO HURT FIGHT.

Colorado Springs, Col., Sept. 1.—It seemed fairly certain Thursday that the promters of the Welsh-White championship fight here on Labor day will lose money.

How much they will be out depends upon the railroad strike. But all hopes of breaking even went a glimmering today. Many who would have come from distant points have passed up the show because they could not be sure they were going to get home.

The cost of staging the mill is figured at $35,000. Approximately $15,000 is in the till, and the promoters figure this will be doubled by automobile parties and local enthusiasts, which will leave a $5,000 shortage.

Both fighters will begin to lay off in their work today. White is within a pound and a half of the required 135.

ASKS MORE MONEY.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 1.—Louis Guisto, Portland's star first sacker, who has been sold to the Cleveland Americans, announces that he will not leave for Cleveland unless he gets $1,000 of his sale price as a bonus and $3,000 salary. Cleveland had set his salary at $2,150. Guisto said he was not anxious to go to the majors for another year anyway.

One Minute Talks with Ballplayers

FRED MERKLE, BROOKLYN DODGERS.

"In leaving the Giants I want to express appreciation of the treatment Manager McGraw and the Polo grounds fans accorded me while I was a Giant. I'm not a bit sore about the trade. Maybe they chased me right into a world's series.

"I haven't been playing good ball and am well aware of it. But nobody can say that I haven't tried. I cost the Giants a pennant once. I haven't forgotten it and a lot of other people have constantly reminded me of it.

"I hope and believe that the change will benefit me. Maybe I can play winning ball with a winning team."

HUGH JENNINGS, MANAGER DETROIT TIGERS.

"The scant lead the Red Sox now hold doesn't worry me. If we return home in September three or four games behind Boston I'll be satisfied. The Tigers have played very good ball at home all year and if they will do as well when we get back this time I think the lead will change hands.

"I now have three pitchers in fine shape for a drive to the finish and if I had had them two months ago I probably would not have to make a drive. Coveleskie, James and Dauss are now pitching very good ball which is the reason the Tigers have been winning lately.

NEW NAVAL MEASURE MAKES OUR RANK SURE

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—With the passage of the new naval appropriation bill the United States navy is assured of its future position as the second naval power of the world. The general board of the navy, headed by Admiral Dewey, has prepared some data as to the relative rank of our navy at the present time and in recent years.

"There is no known method," says the board, "of measuring accurately the relative power of two navies as all elements must be considered, such as displacement, number and size of guns, muzzle energy of battery, thickness and distribution of armor and speed and endurance. Displacement, however, is a simple and convenient measure. Personnel is also a convenient measure. Using these, the following figures show when the United States navy became second in size and strength and when the United States lost the second position:

"(a.) Considering displacement of ships built, the United States advanced from third to second place in 1907 and dropped to third in 1911.

"(b.) Considering displacement of ships built and building, the United States advanced from third to second place in 1909, held this place for a short time only, and dropped to third place again in the same year, 1909.

"(c.) Considering active personnel, the United States advanced from third to second place in 1908, dropped to third place in 1911 and to fourth place in 1913. The United States advanced again to third place in the first part of 1914 and later that year dropped to sixth place, owing to the expansion of the naval personnel of belligerent nations."

How the European war awakened the American nation to the necessity for increased national defense and how the present administration has responded to this demand is best indicated by comparing the total increases authorized for the navy in the three and a half years of the Wilson administration with the increase in the navy authorized under the two previous administration. Here are the figures:

Dreadnaughts	6	6	9
Battle cruisers	..	..	4
Scout cruisers	..	..	4
Destroyers	23	26	32
Submarines	20	20	57
Auxiliaries	6	11	14
Total	55	65	121

The three naval bills passed since 1913 have authorized approximately twice as many new vessels as were authorized during the four preceding years, and about two and a half times as many as during the four years preceding that.

New construction as a measure of naval efficiency, however, is not the only indication of the progress of the navy. Special interests, intent on making profits from the navy, have done their best to cast slurs upon the administration of Secretary Daniels. It must be conceded, however, that under his regime, the navy has made greater progress than ever before, not only in new construction, but in other lines. For the first time the inducements offered to enlisted men in the navy have been such that the navy was recruited up to its full strength, and had a waiting list. Daniels placed in effect a system of education among the men that has been a great success. New opportunities for promotion were offered, and enlisted men were for the first time permitted to enter the Naval academy at Annapolis. Re-enlistments increased from 52 per cent to 85 per cent and desertions have fallen off from 216 to less than 90 per month, so that the number of prisoners has been reduced from 1,800 to 700 under improved penal systems.

Organization of the office of naval operations has resulted in better organization. A mine-laying division has been organized in the fleet for the first time in history. Additions to the store of torpedoes have been made. There has been increased production of powder at lower cost, due to government manufacture. Daniels has fought for and obtained an appropriation for a government armor plate plant which will manufacture armor at $230 a ton, instead of $464 charged by private manufacturers. A naval projectile factory has also been provided for. Increased appropriations and the development of aircraft for the navy, and the development of the best big gun in the world also represent long steps in placing the United States navy in the forefront of the navies of the world. Every navy yard has been or will shortly be equipped for building war vessels. Altogether, the navy under the Daniels administration, has undoubtedly made longer forward strides than at any other period in its history.

WOMAN LAWYER IS ACTIVE FOR CLIENTS

New York, Sept. 1.—Two men and a woman owe their lives to Mrs. Grace Humiston, New York lawyer. She saved them from the electric chair.

Mrs. Humiston read of Stielow's predicament and her sympathy for him was aroused. He is said to have the mentality of a child.

Woman's intuition led her to believe an innocent man was being held for murder. She investigated and as a result there came the arrest of Erwin King and his alleged confession of guilt. Stielow is to have another trial.

She was heard to say once: "At one place I visited recently I have pretty good reason to believe I came near being shot."

The other man indebted to the woman lawyer for his life is Genar Mezzella, now in Sing Sing on a life sentence.

The woman, Antoinette Tolla, of Kingsland, N. J., had been condemned to death for the murder of Joseph Sonta, in 1905. Mrs. Humiston saved her from the chair on the plea that she killed the man to save her honor and that of her two small children.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use almost every family."

NEW HAVEN CIVIC CLUB IS PROPOSED

Charles L. Biederwolf, secretary of the Fort Wayne Commercial club, told New Haven business men, Thursday night, the method of organizing a commercial club. New Haven will form one. Two hundred men heard the secretary.

Mr. Biederwolf related the facts of changing ideas which govern the operation of a commercial club. He said the committees on town beautification, streets, roads and street-lighting were becoming more important. He urged that the best brains of the town be put on the principal committees.

Residents of New Haven who made addresses, were Will Schnelker, R. J. Blackwell, A. M. Hartzell, J. M. Davis, Henry Freese, Herman J. C. Leitz, C. W. Speery, B. H. Smith and W. E. Bowers. Another meeting will be held a week from tonight.

FAIRBANKS VOICES FORMAL ACCEPTANCE

Nominee Devotes Address to Advocacy of Republican Doctrine.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 1.—Charles W. Fairbanks delivered his speech of acceptance here yesterday following formal notification of his nomination as the republican candidate for the vice presidency. Mr. Fairbanks followed old paths in arguing for republican ascendency.

The notification address was delivered by Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, of Illinois, and in attendance were several other republican leaders of prominence. In his address of acceptance Mr. Fairbanks said:

"I am deeply sensible of the high honor of the commission which you bring me. To be chosen as the candidate of the republican party for the vice presidency of the United States is a distinction which any patriotic American may well covet. I accept the nomination and pledge you my utmost service during the campaign. If the people ratify the choice of the convention I shall consecrate my best efforts to the discharge of my official functions. As you are aware, this is a call which was unsolicited by me; that fact intensifies my sense of duty to those in behalf of whom you speak.

"The platform adopted by the Chicago convention has my hearty approval. Carried into the public administration and written into the statutes it will insure industrial and national prosperity during the years of our ascendancy.

"This is an hour when we must put our faith to the test. We should have nothing short of the best political party in the management of the vast and complicated mechanism of our government.

"We have before us for our judgment the platforms of the political parties which are appealing for the popular suffrage. The democratic party has established an unchallenged reputation for the repudiation of its platform utterances at its will. We never know what covenants it will keep or what it will reject when clothed with power.

"Political parties have individualities by which we may easily indentify them. We readily recognize the republican party by its long and successful conduct of the public business—its efficient administration of our political concerns. It has been a pledge-making and a pledge-redeeming party. To keep faith with the people has been its supreme desire.

Prepare for Commercial Invasion.

"One of the greatest problems which presents itself for our solution goes to the very root of our national prosperity and to the contentment of millions of our countrymen. We may take counsel of our friends who are engaged in the great war. Although the hour of peace is beyond their vision, they are already planning with reference to their industrial affairs when they leave the trenches. We have given much thought to military invasion. We should prepare for commercial invasion which would paralyze American industry and blight our happiness.

"The democratic party came into power through an unhappy division within our own ranks. It represented a minority of the people, and does not today hold a commission from the majority. When invested with power it immediately set forth to force down the throats of the majority policies to which they were and ever since have been opposed. Democracy stands, as it has stubbornly stood for many years, for a free trade or revenue tariff; while the republican party stands, as it has always loyally stood, for the great doctrine of American protection. Our future industrial prosperity depends upon our choice between the two in the pending campaign.

"What protection and free trade mean we know from our actual experience; they are not in the domain of the academic.

Has Worked Damage, He Says.

"The present free trade, or tariff for revenue law, which democracy regards with such high favor, has worked infinite damage. This law, which is to be maintained if democracy triumphs, must stand or fall not by what democratic conventions say of it, but by what it has said for itself under normal trade conditions. Even before it was approved by Mr. Wilson, who took pride in the executive act, business began to furl its sails. The coming storm was apparent and prudence took possession of our people. The certainty of the law spread fear among us. Our competitors in Europe and in the Orient were filled with joy. Commercial travelers from England, France, Germany and elsewhere were put upon the road in the United States and promptly began writing orders. The slowing-down process began with a wrench. The working men who were the first to feel the blighting effects of the reversal of our great economic policy, began to lose their jobs; factories were closed: trains were taken off our railway schedules: thousands of idle cars accumulated upon the sidetracks; mines were closed: the workers in our charities received increasing appeals from the unfortunate victims of the free trade policy. That democracy was again in power was made evident throughout the republic.

"So strong was the pressure of the unemployed that the administration was obliged to organize for the purpose of securing them work and wages. This seemed like mockery. To close the field of labor's opportunity and rob them by the thousands of their chance for wage, and then to organize search for work among those who were holding fast to what they had, seemed like the very irony of fate. The best employment agencies we have had in a half century have been republican protective tariff measures, such as bore the name of William McKinley and others.

Calls Underwood Law Failure.

"With the loss of work and wages under the Wilson administration the public revenue diminished. The Underwood law proved not only disastrous to labor, but failed as a revenue producer. The melancholy experiences of the years following the repeal of the McKinley law were being repeated under the Underwood enactment; the experiences of the years beginning with 1893 were being repeated in 1913. Hope was fast dying out when all Christiandom was shocked by the European war. Demands from the belligerent nations were made upon us for urgent military requirements; our idle men were recalled to the fields of industry; our foreign commerce rose to colossal figures and the golden currents sought our shores; prosperity returned to us in many quarters—not because of democracy, but in spite of it. It is not the prosperity of peace; it is not prosperity thoroughly diffused throughout the country; it is the prosperity of war, based upon the misfortunes of others; it is a prosperity which is known to be but temporary; there is no thought of permanence in it; all is spectacular—artificial—ephemeral.

"There is no observer who does not know that when the war ceases and the contest is transferred from the trenches to the factories, an unprecedented war of markets will be on. Our standard of wages and living will be matched against the lower wage and living standards of other countries more sharply than ever in our past history.

"The protective tariff when again adopted by the republican party must prove our safeguard. The democratic free trade measure was disastrous to our industries and public revenues before the war began. Upon what theory, based upon rational judgment, can we assume that we shall have a more favorable experience when peace is again restored than we had in the midst of peace when democracy overthrew our industries?

At Our Customs Houses.

"The democratic party threw away millions of dollars at our customs houses by the enactment of their unwise law. Many millions were given to our foreign competitors without the gain to us of a dollar. This is strikingly illustrated in a number of instances. I shall advert to one of the largest. It is but a type of many others.

"We are the greatest sugar consuming nation in the world. We are sending approximately $150,000,000 annually to foreign countries for sugar which should be produced at home.

"When McKinley came into power he sought to stimulate a wide interest in the development of the beet sugar industry. A duty of $1.95 per hundred pounds was placed upon sugar, which continued for sixteen years with but little change. Nearly $100,000,000 was invested in the industry during this period. At the same time foreign sugar producers paid at the customs houses over $1,100,000,000 for the privilege of selling their commodity in the market of the United States.

"We have succeeded in developing sugar in some fourteen states. Many hundreds of millions of dollars have been distributed to farmers, laborers, railroads, etc., in the process of growing, refining and distributing it. To the extent that we have produced sugar at home we have curtailed our foreign demand for it.

"According to the opinion of James Wilson, former secretary of agriculture, we have about 274,000,000 acres suited to the production of sugar beets—more than sufficient for all of our domestic needs. A duty upon sugar is justified from the standpoint of building up a great American industry. Furthermore, in the process of creating it we shall derive many millions of dollars of revenue and to that extent relieve the tax burdens which would otherwise rest upon the shoulders of our people.

Free Sugar Provision.

"When the Underwood law was enacted, it provided that the tariff upon sugar should be gradually reduced until it reached the free list, May 1, 1916. This was a staggering blow to the great industry, and a tremendous loss of public revenue. Forced by the necessities of the administration, congress repealed the free trade clause of the Underwood sugar schedule, not because the tariff aided an industry, but for revenue only. The repeal was effected a short time before sugar was scheduled to go upon the free list. This reversal of the hostile policy of the democratic administration is but temporary; if the party remains in power it will pursue the sugar industry to its death.

"Before congress repealed the free provision affecting the sugar schedule, duties amounting to many millions of dollars, which otherwise would have been paid by foreign sugar producers, were lost to our treasury, and the deficiency was raised by obnoxious stamp taxes imposed upon the people. This was a direct injury to us, not only in the loss of revenue, but in the crippling of a great and developing industry which the republican party had carefully sought to foster during the administration of Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

Merchant Marine.

"The rebuilding of our merchant marine is one of the imperative and urgent needs of the times. Our national safety and industrial independence demands that we shall not dally further with this great question. We must enact such laws as will enable us to compete successfully with other maratime nations. We once held a preeminent position in the carrying trade of the high seas, but we have lost our place of leadership and it devolves upon us now, if we are the great people we profess to be, to regain it. It is estimated that for the ten years prior to the beginning of the European war we paid to foreign ship owners for carrying our imports and exports approximately $1,500,000,000. The annual drain since then This tremendous outgo, if properly This tremendous outgo, if properly financed would put no additional burden upon the government and would result in a large saving to the country. The war has emphasized the perils of our dependency upon other nations for the carrying of our foreign commerce. We are seriously handicapped in our effort to expand our markets into and beyond the seas because we must depend so largely upon foreign ship owners for the transportation of our products. A merchant vessel is a good commercial traveler and will search out business in all harbors for the country whose flag it bears.

"We are opposed to a government-owned or a government-operated merchant marine. Such a merchant marine is violative of sound governmental policy; it will prove expensive and serve to check individual enterprise from entering one of the most important fields of our national development. In the face of the tremendous drains upon the national treasury it is unfortunate indeed that the democratic party has seen fit to project the government into the purchase of merchant ships and to the expenditure of so vast a sum of money as it now contemplates. With favoring laws sufficient private capital will be invested to enable us to construct in American ship yards and with American labor all the merchant vessels required to give us our rightful place in the ocean-carrying trade of the world. Although we sorely need a great merchant marine we should not seek it, as the democratic administration proposes, by contravening sound national policies.

Economy.

"We are resolved to restore economy in government. Our democratic friends have repeatedly pledged themselves to economy in public administration, but when in power have been extravagant and reckless. Some of the strongest democratic leaders have denounced the extravagances of their party, but have been impotent to give us relief. Economy is in democratic platforms, but it seems to have no place in democratic administration.

"For nearly four years we have walked in darkness and doubt; we have endured stress and strain in our domestic affairs and have felt the humiliation of lost prestige in the chancelleries of the world. We are eager to put our country's domestic concerns upon a sounder footing and to lift our flag to its former pre-eminence in the esteem of the natons of the earth. We covet nothing more earnestly than the good name of America, and any political party which tarnishes it through ignorance or design forfeits the popular confidence.

"We believe unqualifiedly in the maintenance of a firm foreign policy—doing justice to others and demanding like justice for ourselves. This is the surest method of regaining the world's esteem and insuring the prevalence of honorable peace with our international neighbors.

"Our opponents pride themselves upon the assumed fact that their candidate for the presidency has kept the country out of war. Their assertion is too broad; it comprehends more than the truth. We have not been kept out of war for there has been real war in Mexico, due to our own agression. It does not redound to our credit. That it was not greater is due to the fact that Mexico is not greater. There has been no desire upon the part of any power beyond the seas, either in Europe or in the Orent, to go to war with us.

"It is not a very difficult task for any president to keep out of war if nobody wants to fight us, and when our people thoroughly believe that an enlightened, firm diplomatic policy will meet successfully all of our international necessities.

Mexico.

"We regard the dealings of the president with Mexico as vacillating. He has been given a free hand and had no one to blame for what he had done or failed to do except himself. I have tried, so far as my influence would go, to uphold his hands, regardless of whether we agreed among ourselves as to the soundness of his policy. In foreign affairs we have always been loyal to our constitutional leader. Our patience has been put to the test in Mexico. We have sharply disagreed with the president, but have stood by him nevertheless. We have seen things go from bad to worse: we have seen the butchery of our countrymen upon both sides of the border: we have seen millions of dollars worth of property destroyed, but we have steadfastly supported him, and shall continue to do so until the close of the chapter of his power. A settlement day is now at hand, not between the president and Mexico, but between the president and the electors of the United States. Our patience is exhausted and we believe our national interest requires a new deal.

"It is unnecessary to view the president's course with Mexico in detail: one or two conspicuous facts will suffice. It was our manifest duty to have recognized Huerta as the president, either de facto or de jure: he was clearly in power under the forms of Mexican law and was entitled to recognition by diplomatic precedent. He was a powerful scidier and the one man above all others in his country who was capable of establishing order. He had been recognized by the leading powers outside of the United States; but our chief executive turned against him, gave aid and encouragement to his enemies and in time effected his overthrow. We have been called upon to incur large obligations in Mexico and along the border which would have been unnecessary, in my judgment, if we had recognized Huerta. Such recognition would have given him financial credit and added strength to his arm. The interposition of President Wilson in the domestic affairs of Mexico was unwarranted in sound international policy and has proven disastrous in point of fact.

"We do not generally appreciate the importance of the Mexican problem. The relations between the two countries are so intimate that everything in honor should be done to maintain good neighborhood between them. The population of Mexico is 15,000,000. There are some 40,000 American dwellers within the republic, and upon its invitation. The wealth of the country is roundly $2,400,000,000. American investments amount to more than $1,000,000,000, or approximately 45 per cent of the total.

"The Mexican situation is a challenge to the Monroe Doctrine, the maintenance of which is so vital to the future peace and safety of the United States. It is fair to say that except for the engagement of European powers in a war at home, which involves their very existence, a protest would have come from them against the wrongs which have been inflicted upon their subjects and citizens in Mexico. The protest would have come so peremptorily that we could not have disregarded it, or have satisfied the just indignation of our European friends by a few polite notes.

"The terrible struggle will tend to intensify, rather than moderate, the spirit of nationalism throughout the world, and in the future, as never before it will be necessary for us to maintain a standard of Americanism, free from division by sectionalism, class prejudice or alien sympathy. There never was a time when it was more important to us, as Americans, to avoid creating lines of cleavage in this country based upon place of birth or occupational status. We cannot properly censure Americans of foreign birth for sympathy with the nations which once claimed their allegiance, as against the nations with which they are fighting, and the attempt to impute treasonable motives to any one class of our citizens because of their original nationality, or the sympathies which go with it, so long as these do not interfere with their paramount loyalty to the republic, or in any way infringe it, is severely to be condemned. The greatest menace in this country is not so much the man who loves two countries as the man who loves no country at all.

Preparedness.

"We stand for preparedness measured by our national needs—a strong army and navy adequate to compel respect for our diplomacy and to insure peace. Hand in hand with our physical preparedness there must go industrial preparedness, which shall insure prosperity for the millions who labor and who in the final analysis are the real source of our national strength.

"The limitations of the hour prevent me from considering all the phases and issues of the campaign Later I shall avail myself of the opportunity to discuss them.

Conclusion.

"In conclusion, my friends, I wish to say that it is a very great pleasure to me to be associated in this contest with Charles Evans Hughes—our leader. He has in the fullest degree exemplified in his life and public services the best aims and highest purposes of the American people. His election will be an assurance that we shall go forward in the enjoyment of a new era of honor and prestige abroad and prosperity and contentment at home. We rejoice that the light of a better day is breaking."

BISHOP ALERDING MAKES APPOINTMENTS

Rt. Rev. Bishop Herman J. Alerding, of the diocese of Fort Wayne, has made several new appointments which will take effect soon. Rev. Michael P. Louen, pastor of the St. Louis Catholic church at Besancon for the past eight years, and well known in Fort Wayne, has been appointed to the irremovable rectorship of SS. Peter and Paul's church at Huntington, succeeding the late Rev. William C. Miller.

Rev. George Moorman, assistant to Rev. John F. Noll at St. Mary's church at Huntington, will become the successor to Rev. Louen at Besancon. The newly appointed rector is well known in Fort Wayne, having been assistant at the Cathedral for three years.

Rev. L. Faurote, for the past two months, third assistant at the Cathedral in this city, will succeed Father Moorman.

Rev. Otto C. Peters, a native of Tipton, Ind., who was ordained in this city in June, will become the third assistant at the Cathedral of Immaculate Conception in this city. Since July 5 Father Peters has been temporarily performing the pastoral duties in Father Miller's congregation in Huntington.

New Organist at Cathedral.

Francis MacVeigh, a prominent young organist from Cincinnati, O., began his duties as organist at the Cathedral Friday morning. He succeeds Prof. M. Noll, who for more than thirty years presided at the organ. The new organist is a graduate from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, Catholic church music department.

DR. SMITH CONTINUES TALK ON "CONCEPT"

Detroit Man on Institute Program for Closing Session Friday.

Dr. A. T. Smith, of the Thomas normal training school, Detroit, spoke on "The Concept" Friday morning before the teachers of the Allen county teachers' institute at the high school building. He dealt with "fact" and "art" subjects, giving under the former classification the subjects of history, literature, spelling, primary reading and political geography and under the latter, art reading, writing, oral music and drawing.

The speaker said a subject could not be mastered alone by intellectual idealizing but by grasping the significance of a subject.

Dr. Carolyn E. Geisel, of Battle Creek, Mich., was scheduled for an address at 11 o'clock. Dr. Smith will speak again Friday afternoon, and Dr. Geisel was to close the institute program with an address Friday afternoon. Dr. Smith gave the invocation Friday morning.

Lecture to Men.

Dr. Geisel delivered a lecture before men Thursday night in the high school auditorium. She made an appeal for clean living and declared it was up to America to furnish the men of the world. She traced the destructive effects of incurable diseases through the generations.

Rogers Has Department.

O. L. Rogers, directing the penmanship department of the Allen county teachers' institute Thursday, took up the critticizing and grading of writing. His subject was "The Finished Product—Development of Form, Heighth, Slant and Spacing." The teachers obtained many valuable ideas from Mr. Roger's work.

AUTOMOBILE MEN IN PICNIC.

Thirty-five dealers of the Paige automobile, who conduct their places of business in this district, enjoyed the annual outing and picnic at Lake Wawasee, Thursday. Chester G. Schiefer, manager of the Fort Wayne branch and the northeastern Indiana district, was in charge of the event. It was an all-day affair and everyone enjoyed themselves. The program included various automobile stunts such as changing tires and hill climbing. A fish dinner was served in the evening, after which the men enjoyed a ride on the lake.

THE DEATHS.

KALBACHER.

Mrs. Jane Kalbacher, aged 71 years, widow of Andrew Kalbacher, died Thursday evening at St. Joseph's hospital. She had been a patient there only one day and death followed an operation for gallstones which she underwent Thursday morning. She had been ailing for some time but had been at Rome City since August 9.

The deceased was a lifelong resident of Fort Wayne and was born June 17, 1845, at 714 East Wayne street, in the house where she had lived all her life. She was a charter member of St. Mary's Catholic church and of the various societies of the congregation. Her husband passed away twelve years ago. She is survied by the following daughters: Mother Mary Aquinta, superior of the Academy of Our Lady, Chicago; Mrs. Thomas McKiernan and the Misses Theresa and Leonora Kalbacher, of this city. There are also one grandchild and one brother, Frank Fink.

HORSTMAN.

Henry C. Horstman, aged 76 years, died Thursday evening at the home of his son, Henry Horstman, jr., 606 East Lewis street, following an illness due to pneumonia. Mr. Horstman was born in Germany and came to Fort Wayne in 1848 and was a charter member of St. Mary's Catholic church, and also a member of the school society and St. Andrew's Catholic church. He was a veteran of the civil war and had worked for the Pennsylvania company from 1865 to 1908, when he was placed on the company's pension list. Three sons survive him: Rev. George Horstman, of St. Andrew's Catholic church, and Henry and John Horstman, of this city. There are also four sisters: Mrs. Elizabeth Metzger, of Lafayette; Mrs. Mary Niermann, Mrs. Michael Golba and Mrs. Anthony Fechner, of this city, and a brother, John Horstman, of Rome City. Nine grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services Saturday morning at 9:45 o'clock at the residence and at 10:15 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

LAUER.

Mrs. Anna C. Lauer, aged 53 years, died Thursday afternoon at the family home, 234 East Jefferson street. Death was due to apoplexy and followed an illness of six months. Mrs. Lauer was born in Fort Wayne and was educated in the parochial schools of St. Mary's Catholic church. She was a member of that congregation and of the Rosary society. Surviving she leaves a son, Paul; one grandchild, the mother and two brothers and two sisters, John, Henry, Elizabeth and Christina, of this city.

Funeral services Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church Omit flowers.

HITZEMAN.

Paul Hitzeman, aged four days, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hitzeman, who reside six miles northwest of the city on the Leesburg road, died Thursday afternoon at the family home. Burial will take place at the Bethlehem cemetery.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Llano Grande, Texas, Sept. 1.—The spirits of the Indiana soldiers ran high when news trickled back to camp of an attack made by Mexican bandits on the Minneapolis company of the First Minnesota, on patrol duty at the Mercedes pumping station on the Rio Grande. The Terre Haute, Vincennes, Crawfordsville and Princeton companies, of the Second Indiana infantry, are to replace Minnesota troops both at the border town of Progresso and the Mercedes pumping station in about two weeks, and the skirmish between the Mexicans and the Americans from this camp gives the Indiana troops hopes of getting similar experience, for which they crave.

No official order concerning the mustering out of student organizations has yet reached camp, though newspaper reports from Washington of the modified policy of the war department were circulated through the camp. Purdue battery known as battery B, is regarded as a university organization, as is also the Indiana university battery of the Second Indiana, but there is doubt of the status of company I, of the First Indiana, composed largely of Indiana students. The threatened railroad strike, however, makes it uncertain about when any soldier student may return home.

Major Glenn VanAuken has departed for his home at Auburn, Ind., on a thirty-day leave, and Col. Thomas R. Coulter, commander of the Second Indiana, is to depart tomorrow for home at Vincennes, Ind., on a fifteen-day leave. Col. Coulter suffered illness for several days and is going to the Indiana climate to recuperate. In his absence Lieut. Col. Emmett F. Branch, of Martinsville, will be in command of the regiment.

U. B. CONFERENCE AT WARSAW ON TUESDAY

Leaders in the Church to Address St. Joseph District.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 1.—Between 500 and 600 delegates, ministers and visitors are expected here next week to attend the seventy-second annual session of the St. Joseph conference of the United Brethren in Christ. The conference will open Tuesday evening and will continue over Sunday.

The opening address will be by Rev. O. E. Grubb, of Ligonier. The address of welcome will be given by Rev. A. G. Neal, pastor of the Warsaw Methodist church. Among the speakers will be Bishop H. H. Fout, of Indianapolis; Rev. C. C. Schell, of Dayton, O., secretary of education of the U. B. church; President Good, of Indiana Central university, and Dr. A. E. Foutt, of Bonebrake Theological seminary.

Bishop Fout will be the presiding officer. The first official session will be held Wednesday morning. The ordination of elders will take place Sunday and on the same day the report of the stationing committee will be read.

The St. Joseph conference consists of eighty-five charges and 256 local societies. Although the church membership is only 25,000, there are 35,000 in the Sunday schools of the district. There are twenty organized churches in Kosciusko county, with a membership of 2,500 and a Sunday school attendance of 3,000.

PRESIDENT SIGNS CHILD LABOR BILL

Washington, Sept. 1.—President Wilson today signed the child labor bill. The ceremony was witnessed by Secretary Wilson, Senator Robinson, Representative Keating, Julia Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau of the labor department, and a large group of men and women interested in the legislation.

"I want to say that with real emotion I sign this bill," the president said, "because I know how long the struggle has been to secure legislation of this sort and what it is going to mean to the health and to the vigor of the country and also to the happiness of those whom it affects. It is with genuine pride that I play my part in completing this legislation. I congratulate the country and felicitate myself."

ACCEPTED AND ON WAY IN TWO HOURS TIME

Recruit No. 1 made application at the recruiting station in the Swinney block, was accepted and was on his way to Fort Benjamin Harrison, all in the short space of two hours. Hugh Marker, of Huntington, aged twenty-one years, has the distinction of being the first man accepted by Lieut. Howard Miller, who is in charge of the recruiting work here. Four men thus far have been turned down because they were not capable of passing the physical examination.

E. A. K. HACKETT'S FORM IS BORNE TO THE TOMB

Impressive Funeral Rites Held Thursday for the Dead Publisher.

The remains of the late Edward A. K. Hackett, publisher and owner of The Sentinel, were laid in their final resting place in Lindenwood cemetery, Thursday afternoon, following funeral services held in the First Presbyterian church. Friends and acquaintances of the deceased gathered early at the church to pay tribute to the man whose memory they will ever cherish. The services were simple, but impressive. They were in accord with the wishes of the deceased.

Rev. Henry B. Master, pastor of the church, officiated. He spoke briefly. He said it was not his custom to eulogize at funeral services. A man's life would speak for itself certainly the life that Edward A. K. Hackett had led needed no eulogy, he said.

Rev. Sol C. Dickey, of Winona Lake, told of his long acquaintance with the deceased, and read a number of inscriptions which he had found written in a bible of the late publisher in his cottage at Winona Lake, Wednesday. There were many of them, he said—notations that Mr. Hackett had used to make more impressive certain passages, applicable to his own life and the lives of others. Mr. Dickey referred to these to point out the Christian earnestness and sincerity of the man in whose honor and to whose memory the services were held.

Complying with the request of Mr. Hackett made some years ago, P. P. Billhorn, noted writer an composer of gospel songs, sang one of the deceased's favorite songs. When Mr. Billhorn heard of Mr. Hackett's death he remembered the request and the promise he had made and immediately wired from Chicago that he would come. Two selections were also sung by the Hadyn quartet.

The floral offerings were beautiful tokens of the high esteem and love of those whose privilege it was to know the deceased.

Resolutions By Y. M. C. A.

Resolutions on the death of E. A. K. Hackett have been passed by the central board of the Young Men's Christian association, of which Mr. Hackett was a member. The resolutions are:

"Mr. E. A. K. Hackett has quietly and almost unawares slipped anchor and crossed the bar and as in silent sorrow we take the last look at the frail bark and bid farewell, we turn with words of regret and comfort to those friends whose loss is even greater than our own.

"Mr. Hackett was in the front beckoning on and leading the way in well nigh every good movement, offering good counsel and giving liberally of his means and forgetting not the silent petition to Him from whom comes the good and perfect gifts. He was earnest and modest, courageous and peaceable, successful in the world and a pillar in the church—a faithful, lovable Christian gentleman.

"He was continuously a member of the central board of the Young Men's Christian association from its inception, and was deeply interested in all its activities and rejoiced greatly in its recent successes. In his winter home in Los Angeles he did a great deal of Y. M. C. A. work among the prisoners in the jails and workhouses of that city, and was secretary of the department having that branch of the work in charge. He was the good Samaritan to many a weary, ill-fated traveler in life's journey, and to enumerate all of his charitable activities would only tire and sadden, and it is thus with deep sorrow and a feeling of immeasurable loss that his associates in the Y. M. C. A. work in Fort Wayne bow to the inevitable decree.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Young Men's Christian association of Fort Wayne deeply deplore the death of our good friend and worthy champion of our cause, E. A. K. Hackett, and we commend to all the world the example of his manly Christian character.

"Be it further resolved, that we extend our tender sympathy and condolence to the sorrowing family, trusting that their reflections upon his well spent life, with a firm reliance upon the Comforter, will assuage the anguish of their grief until the great tomorrow brightens with a joy that cometh with the morning."

TWO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR.

Ossining, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Two men were put to death in the electric chair in Sing Sing today. For the murder of Mrs. Julia Heitner, a Brooklyn woman who was his employer, Joseph Hanel, 35, was executed shortly before 6 o'clock. Three minutes later Jan Tybus paid the penalty for killing Jacob Schoenberg, a junk dealer in Batavia. A third man, Thomas Eambrick, convicted of killing a policeman in New York, also was to have been executed but Governor Whitman granted him a stay upon representations that new evidence had been discovered which should entitle him to a new trial.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"Miss U. S. A.," Big Musical Review, Twice on Saturday.

"Miss U. S. A.," under the direction of Mr. Francis T. Reynolds, will come to the Majestic theater, matinee and night, Saturday.

This is an exceptionally clever and fascinating musical comedy constructed upon new and novel ideas to satisfy lovers of musical comedy.

The play possesses a brilliant and interesting narrative which abounds in sparkling comedy of the better class, and a score which comprises more beautiful popular musical hits than any musical comedy of the past ten years. The firm hold the play has taken upon the public is nothing short of marvelous. The crowded houses greeting this play in every city visited is positive proof of the popularity and merits of the attraction. An added feature is Annette LaRochelle.

The costuming of this beautiful musical comedy is a revelation in originality, as every gown worn by principal and chorus is an original French creation, molded on the person wearing it.

Famous Vaudevillians Top a Remarkable Bill at Palace.

Tony Hunting, formerly of the Four Huntings, in a Fool House, and his charming partner, Miss Ethel Francis, are featuring the season's most remarkable bill at the New Palace. When it is remembered that the lovely little Violet MacMillan, the Cinderella of the Screen, in real and reel life, is on this same bill, as are MacRae and Clegg and a host of others, it will be understood what is meant by a remarkable bill. Hunting is a comedian of distinction, while Miss Francis' sweet, clear voice and her charming personal appearance give the act just the touch that raises it far above the ordinary.

Tiny Violet MacMillan, the little blonde movie queen, is presenting a novel act in which she takes some sage observations about her pictures as snatches of film plays are flashed on the screen. She also sings a group of brand new song hits and relates an amusing group of personal experiences.

Mortimer MacRae and Gertrude Clegg have a bicycling novelty that really is a novelty. Miss Clegg does most of the riding with MacRae in the role of a soused intruder furnishing the laughs. Otto Koerner and company in the comedy sketch, "The Automobile Broker," have some rapid fire business life comedy talk, while Fenton and Green, a couple of simon pure nuts, are a laugh from curtain to curtain in their absurd imitation of a magician and his partner. P. George, the musical chef, dishes up music out of a beef roast, a frying pan, a couple of skillets, a kitchen range and watever other utensils are handy.

AT THE TEMPLE.

The new Temple stock company will make its initial appearance with the opening of the season at the popular playhouse next week, when the attraction will be W. A. Brady's great New York comedy-drama, "Sinners," from the pen of Owen Davis. It will be presented under the stage direction of Maurice Jenkins, one of Fort Wayne's favorites and members of last season's stock company. Louis Wolford, the manager, has brought to this city a company of first-class artists, and will put on plays that have never before been seen here at popular prices. Miss Ann Bert, the leading lady, with a personality which has won golden opinions wherever she has played, is the leading lady in the new company formed by Mr. Wolford, and she will be supported in the opening bill of "Sinners" by a powerful cast, especially selected because of their adaptability for the roles. There will be matinees next Monday, Labor day, also Tuesday and Saturday afternoons, with attractive features and the best of dramas to please Fort Wayne's play-going public.

The last installment shows the code explaining the secret found and put to use. Dr. Burke's invention is perfected, and the United States, by obtaining it, is put into a position to whip the world in naval warfare. Cleo, the heroine, appears to have been drowned, but this is a false alarm, for she is rescued by life-savers and recovers in time to claim the fortune offered by the government, and to be married to Lieutenant Hope.

The villains are disposed of in one way or another, and through them their governments defeated. Russia lost out in the preceding chapter when Olga, the adventuress, was slain by her accomplice, Morton. Hope pushes Sarsuma, the Jap, out of a fourth story window when the latter shows his treachery at the resdezvous after Cleo has been kidnaped. The terrible secret society gets Mahlin, its agent, stabbing him when he fails at the appointed time to bring back the secret. "Hook" is true to his mission to the last, when he brings Cleo back to Hape, who had found the book, learned the secret, and set teh invention to working properly. The last flash of the picture shows the American flag waving triumphantly.

The serial following the "Secret of the Submarine" will be "Liberty" in twenty episodes, dealing with the American troops on the Mexican border.

UNEARTH TIMBERS OF FIRST RAILROAD.

In excavating for a building at Tiffin, last week, the timbers on which were nailed the strap iron of the old Mad River road, the first steam road in Ohio, were unearthed, in a fairly good state of preservation. The Tiffin Tribune, noting the finding of the timbers said: "The Mad River road is now a part of the Big Four system. These timbers were installed, perhaps as early as 1847 or 1848 and not later than 1853. The timbers were used to fasten the strap iron to and over this strap iron the trains ran, the railroad of those days being vastly different from the present manner of construction. The old line extended from Sandusky to

FOR THE INFORMATION OF THE PUBLIC:

The Railroads' statement of their position on the threatened strike, as presented to the President of the United States

A strike on all the railroads of the country has been called by the Train Brotherhoods for 7 o'clock Monday morning, September 4.

This strike was ordered from Washington while the President of the United States was making every effort to avert the disaster.

The Final Railroad Proposal

The final proposal made by the railroads for a peaceful settlement of the controversy, but which was rejected by the brotherhoods, was as follows:

(a) The railroads will, effective September 1, 1916, keep the time of all men represented in this movement, upon an 8 hour basis and by separate account, monthly, with each man, maintain a record of the difference between the money actually earned by him on the present basis and the amount that would have been earned upon an 8 hour basis—overtime on each basis to be computed pro rata.

The amounts so shown will be subject to the decision of the Commission, provided for in Paragraph (c) of this memorandum and payable in money, as may be directed by said Commission in its findings and decision.

(b) The Interstate Commerce Commission to supervise the keeping of these accounts and report the increased cost of the 8 hour basis, after such period of actual experience as their judgment approves or the President may fix, not, however, less than three months.

(c) In view of the far-reaching consequences of the declaration made by the President, accepting the 8 hour day, not only upon the railroads and the classes of labor involved directly in this controversy, but to the public and upon all industry, it seems plain that before the existing conditions are changed, the whole subject in so far as it affects the railroads and their employees, should be investigated and determined by a Commission to be appointed by the President, of such standing as to compel attention and respect to its findings. The judgment of such a Commission would be a helpful basis for adjustments with labor and such legislation as intelligent public opinion, so informed, might demand.

Statement of Executives to the President

In submitting this proposal to the President, the fifty railroad executives called to Washington and representing all the great arteries of traffic, made this statement to him of their convictions:

The demands in this controversy have not been presented, in our judgment, for the purpose of fixing a definite daily period of labor, nor a reduction in the existing hours of labor or change in methods of operation, but for the real purpose of accomplishing an increase in wages of approximately One Hundred Million Dollars per annum, or 35 per cent. for the men in railroad freight train and yard service represented by the labor organizations in this matter.

After careful examination of the facts and patient and continuous consultation with the Conference Committee of Managers, and among ourselves, we have reached a clear understanding of the magnitude of the questions, and of the serious consequences to the railroads and to the public, involved in the decision of them.

As trustees for the public served by our lines and for the great mass of the less powerful employees (not less than 80 per cent. of the whole number) interested in the railroad wage fund—as trustees also for the millions of people that have invested their savings and capital in the bonds and stock of these properties, and who through the saving banks, trust companies and insurance companies, are vitally interested to the extent of millions of dollars, in the integrity and solvency of the railroads of the country, we cannot in conscience surrender without a hearing, the principle involved, nor undertake to transfer the enormous cost that will result to the transportation of the commerce of the country.

The eight-hour day without punitive overtime involves an annual increase, approximately, in the aggregate of Sixty Millions of Dollars, and an increase of more than 20 per cent. in the pay of the men, already the most highly paid in the transportation service.

The ultimate cost to the railroads of an admission in this manner of the principle under contention cannot now be estimated; the effect upon the efficiency of the transportation of the country now already under severe test under the tide of business now moving, and at a time when more, instead of less, effort is required for the public welfare, would be harmful beyond calculation.

The widespread effect upon the industries of the country as a whole is beyond measure or appraisement at this time, and we agree with the insistent and widespread public concern over the gravity of the situation and the consequences of a surrender by the railroads in this emergency.

In like manner we are deeply impressed with the sense of our responsibility to maintain and keep open the arteries of transportation, which carry the life blood of the commerce of the country, and of the consequences that will flow from even temporary interruption of service over the railroads, but the issues presented have been raised above and beyond the social and monetary questions involved, and the responsibility for the consequences that may arise will rest upon those that provoke it.

Public Investigation Urged

The questions involved are in our respectful judgment, eminently suitable for the calm investigation and decision by the public through the agency of fair arbitration, and cannot be disposed of, to the public satisfaction, in any other manner.

The decision of a Commission or Board of Arbitration, having the public confidence, will be accepted by the public, and the social and financial rearrangements made necessary thereby will be undertaken by the public, but in no less deliberate nor orderly manner.

The railroads of the country cannot under present conditions assume this enormous increase in their expenses. If imposed upon them, it would involve many in early financial embarrassment and bankruptcy and imperil the power of all to maintain their credit and the integrity of their securities.

The immediate increase in cost, followed by other increases that would be inevitable, would substantially appropriate the present purchasing power of the railroads and disable them from expanding and improving their facilities and equipment, to keep abreast of the demands of the country for efficient transportation service.

In good faith we have worked continuously and earnestly in a sincere effort to solve the problem in justice to all the parties at interest. These efforts were still in progress when the issuance of the strike order showed them to be unavailing.

Problem Threatens Democracy Itself

The strike, if it comes, will be forced upon the country by the best paid class of laborers in the world, at a time when the country has the greatest need for transportation efficiency.

The problem presented is not that alone of the railroad or business world, but involving democracy itself, and sharply presents the question whether any group of citizens should be allowed to possess the power to imperil the life of the country by conspiring to block the arteries of commerce.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

Pennsy Employes Circulating Petition to Congress for Law Interference.

Employes of the western division of the Pennsylvania are arranging to circulate a petition among the men in this district, the idea being to secure the sigvania lines who believes matters of the nature referred to should be decided by arbitration rather than force of a strike which would throw hundreds of thousands of men who are not directly interested out of work, and would inconvenience the whole nation. The petition reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned citizens of the state of ————, employes of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, and among those comprising more than 80 per cent. of the employes of the railways of our state and country, being confronted with the possibility of the entire paralyzation of the railways of the country by the proposed general strike of the four orders of trainmen, a group of less than 20 per cent. of the entire number of railways employes, and the consequent curtailment of income to us, the more than 80 per cent., and to whom such a curtailment would be ruinous, and fully realizing that under this great government, where the ruling doctrine is "The Greatest Good to the Greatest Number"; we—the large majority, more than 80 per cent. of the people to be directly injured by such destructive methods of the few who happen to be placed in a position where they can use them—having a clear and definite right to be protected (the general public and all other industries seriously endangered also having that right):

"Do earnestly petition you, our senators and representatives, individually, and as the congress of the nation, and pray that some definite legislative action be taken, whereby the vast majority of the people of the country shall be protected from a destructive interruption of interstate commerce, due wholly to selfish action of a small group of men, and all the differences which may arise between railways and employes shall be settled by proper arbitration.

"In this you will recognize the fundamental principle of the republic, and that no group of men ought to be permitted, directly or indirectly, to conspire to an end calculated to benefit them only and, directly or indirectly, work wrong and loss among the great majority."

A similar movement was inaugurated in Pittsburg a week ago and is said to have been favorably received by the employes. Concerning the work there, the Pittsburg Post says:

"R. T. Frazier, jr., of Nashville, Tenn., was in Pittsburg yesterday in the interest of a movement among the unorganized railroad employes of the country to have congress enact legislation that will prevent a tie-up of railroad traffic through a strike. The plan promulgated by Mr. Frazier is to have petitions circulated among all the employes not included in the four brotherhoods of train operatives, and sent to the president and congress, the petitions to ask that such legislation be enacted.

"The four brotherhoods represent less than 20 per cent. of the total number of railroad employes," said Mr. Frazier yesterday. "The other 80 per cent. would be affected by a strike and have as much interest involved as the brotherhoods. We ask, in case the present controversy is submitted to a board of arbitration, that we also be requested on the board.'"

YOUTHFUL TRESPASSERS ON TRIAL

Edward Honais and John Tiezer, aged respectively sixteen and fourteen years, are on trial at Cleveland for placing obstructions on the Nickel Plate tracks and endangering the lives of passengers and train crews. One of the charges was that of breaking the locks on a heavy push car and shoving it out on the tracks at Tippecanoe. Another offense was piling brake shoes, stones and other things on the tracks at Claypool and then hiding to see the effects when a train struck the heap. Fortunately the obstructions were picked up by the pilot and thrown clear of the right-of-way without doing any damage. Capt. C. L. Bonk, of the Nickel Plate, went to Cleveland last night to attend the trial as a witness.

GETTING READY FOR CONVENTION

Up to the noon hour today fifty-one members of the Old Veteran's association of the Nickel Plate had secured berths in the Pullman cars assigned to the Fort Wayne delegation on the trip to the annual convention at Buffalo, which will be held tomorrow. There may be a few apply for berths later, but it is believed by the passenger men that the list was completed at noon. It is not quite as large as expected, many members not being able to attend on account of the freight truckmen's strike in Chicago and the threatened strike of the brotherhood men Monday. The special train carrying the vets, which will leave Fort Wayne with three Pullman cars, will run as a second section of No. 4, leaving the city about 8:30 tonight. It will take on another car at Fostoria, one at Bellevue and two or three at Cleveland. The Fort Wayne and vicinity vets who will occupy the sleeping cars, according to the reservations made, will be: Dr. J. M. Dinnen, Supt. W. F. Watterson, Special Agent S. K. Blair, Chief Dispatcher J. T. Callahan, F. Walpole, J. P. Brinkman, J. H. Yoeman, William Marks, A. A. Weaver, Joseph Groves, H. O. Wilson, Leroy Hartzler, E. F. Carroll, L. E. Runnels, E. E. Ensley, Robert Johns, J. F. Birmingham, V. McIntyre, William Link, Joseph Bracht, E. E. Cripe, John Black, A. Harris, Joseph Hale, Timothy Hennessey, Peter Eggeman, C. G. Alder, H. Carberry, R. Rodgerson, H. E. Allison, J. M. Fabring, J. Fandre, C. D. Howe, J. A. Hackman, E. W. Doelling, C. H. Titus, Thomas Baillie, B. F. Weakley, P. F. Gilmartin, Frank Shafer, Frank Figitstaller, Joseph Gear, G. F. Davis, J. H. Wilson, J. S. Bailie, S. P. Hooper, J. W. Harber, George Quidoe, Charles Bromelmeier, William Haenel and D. T. McFee. The party will return Sunday morning, on the special, arrival at CMRFDL..VTA the special, arriving at 11 o'clock.

One of the five 1,000 horse power dynamos in the power plant of the General Electric works "burned out" at 9 o'clock this morning, reducing the power facilities to the point where it was deemed necessary to cut out operations in the day time of one of the important departments. As a result the employes in the general testing room did not work today, but will work tonight and possibly tomorrow night, the power being derived from the other dynamos. This arrangement does not in the least interfere with the business at the plant, for it gives ample power for all purposes. The damaged dynamo will be repaired in a day or two.

TOO MUCH EXPRESS.

Threatened Strike Causes More Business Than Usual.

The only visible evidence of the impending strike at the railway centers this morning were massive stacks of express goods on the platforms which could not be handled by the trains. At the Pennsylvania depot at noon the Adams Express company had enough left over business to fill a car and a lot of express goods over the Wabash by the Wells-Fargo company occupied trucks on the local depot platform. In Detroit the situation is ten times worse than in Fort Wayne. No. 9, on the Wabash, this morning left four car loads of baggage and express matter there that it could not handle. The left over goods, however, is not of a perishable character. It consists in great part of merchandise and groceries, with a fair representation of crated furniture. The concensus of opinion among men on the roads and at the depots this morning was that the strike would not be called; that some way of preventing it would arise today or tomorrow.

PAID CLAIM PROMPTLY

Last night the Mutual Benefit association of the General Electric works sent a check to the mother of Fred Fink, deceased, for $600, in payment of her claim on account of the death of her son. The General Electric company also sent a check for a similar amount to the bereaved mother. Fred Fink has been employed at the General Electric works, when not sick, about a year. He had been unable to work for seven months.

ENLISTED 55 YEARS AGO

Fifty-five years ago today, on September 1, 1861, William Donnel enlisted as a private in Company G, First Ohio infantry, for three years. He served throughout the enlistment, taking part in some very important engagements, but escaped without serious wounds. Mr. Donnel is now operating the elevator in the meter department at the General Electric works. He has been employed at that factory for many years and is one of the oldest members of the Quarter Century club.

PASSES TO THE PENSION LIST.

Samuel Millhouse, for over a quarter of a century employed as a carpenter in the maintenance-of-way department of the Pennsylvania, entered the "roll of honor" this morning. He was seventy years old last week. Mr. Millhouse began work in the department May 4, 1887, and remained steadily at work since. He resides at 2321 Weiser Park avenue.

TWO MOULDERS INJURED.

Two moulders at the Bass foundry sustained more or less serious injuries while at work yesterday which will necessitate their being off duty for a few days. J. A. Riley received a painful burn on his foot when a piece of red hot iron dropped on it. Aug. Morheinke received several cuts about the eye and forehead when he was struck by a falling flask.

NICKEL PLATE OFFICIALS GO EAST.

President J. J. Berbet and General Manager A. W. Johnston, of the Nickel Plate, who had been in Chicago looking after business for the company, passed through the city in their private cars on train No. 6 early this morning. The company freight handlers at Chicago are on strike and it is presumed that this came in for a part of the attention of the officials at Chicago.

MOVING IN NEW HOME

S. A. Bickel, foreman of the tin department of the General Electric works, began a fifteen days' lay-off today. He is just finishing a new house at 521 Greenlawn avenue, and while off duty, will move his family into it. The house is one of the prettiest in the vicinity.

ENGINEER ED WOLF SICK.

Passenger Engineer Ed Wolf, of the Nickel Plate, who has been ailing for a week, is now bedfast and is quite sick. His condition, however, is not regarded as serious, but it will keep him from the throttle for some time.

PENNSY SHOP OUTPUT.

Eight engines were repaired at the Pennsylvania erecting shop during the past week. The engines which were turned out ready for service were Nos. 7735, 7466, 9209, 7176, 9221, 7024 and 9218.

H. T. Adams, a machinist apprentice at the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is off duty because of sickness.

F. J. Guiloot, crane director in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is unable to be at work because of sickness.

H. J. Kayser and E. S. Bourie have been given employment as boilermaker helpers in the Pennsylvania boiler shop.

A. H. Roembke, clerk in the office of the Pennsylvania chief clerk, is going with his wife to St. Louis to visit for a week.

J. Gochringer, a machinist at the Pennsylvania shops, has gone to Indianapolis, where he will spend a few days.

C. E. Crill, boiler inspector at the Pennsylvania shops, with his family, are going to South Bend for a short visit.

C. Hess, a machine operator in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, is off duty as a result of running a steel splinter in his hand.

H. Lowmatzsch, a blacksmith helper at the Pennsylvania shops, who has been enjoying a week's vacation at Rome City, resumed work today.

J. W. Patch, an engineer in the transformer department of the General Electric works, resumed his duties this morning, after a week's vacation.

K. Keener, wheel inspector for the Hocking Valley railway, with headquarters at Columbus, was in the city yesterday inspecting wheels at the Bass foundry.

Fred Pembleton, an inspector in the dynamo assembling room at the General Electric works, is on duty again, after an absence on account of the death of his father.

Sam Salon, who has been working in the Pennsylvania lathe machine shop during the summer, has resigned his position and will enter Columbia university in the fall.

BABY BONDS CHANGE WORKER'S HABITS

Many of Fort Wayne's workers who have started on saving Baby Bonds find it possible to lay aside a considerable portion of their wages without any inconvenience through the medium of Baby Bonds. Several of this class state that their habits have improved materially by the pruning of needless luxuries and that they now possess a number of Baby Bonds without having missed the money used to purchase them.

Baby Bonds are in $10 denominations, secured by first mortgages on local real estate and bearing six per cent. interest. There are also a few larger bonds in $500 denominations bearing the same rate of interest and secured in the same manner. For further information, call the Wildwood Sales Company, Shoaff building.—Advertisement.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Likelihood that the railway strike would be called off had a bullish effect today on wheat. The opening, which ranged from ¾c off to 3¾c advance, with September at $1.48¼ to $1.46 and December at $1.46⅝ to $1.47½, was followed by substantial additional gains.

Corn, like wheat, strengthened on account of the improved outlook for a settlement of the strike. After opening ¼c lower to ¼ advance, the market scored moderate general gains.

Oats duplicated the action of corn.

Toledo Closing Prices.

Toledo, O., Sept. 1.—Wheat: Cash and September, $1.45½; December, $1.51; May, $1.55½.

Corn—Cash, 88½c; September, 88c, sellers; December, 74¼c; May, 78c.

Y., Sept. 1.—Hogs: Receipts, 1,000 head; shipments, 1,900 head; official shipments to New York yesterday were 1,330 head; hogs closing slow; medium and heavies, $11.60@11.70; Yorkers, $11.65@11.75; one deck at $11.85; common hogs, $11.40@11.65; pigs, $10.25@10.50; pigs, $10.25@10.50; roughs, $10.00@10.10; stags, $7.50@8.75.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Hogs: Receipts, 28,000 head; market was slow; bulk, $10.60@11.15; light, $10.60@11.30; mixed, $10.30@11.30; heavy, $10.20@11.25; rough, $10.15@10.35; pigs, $7.75@9.80.

Cattle—Receipts, 12,000 head; market was weak; native beef cattle, $7.25@11.30; stockers and feeders, $4.85@7.70; cows and heifers, $3.75@9.50; calves, $9.00@12.50.

Sheep—Receipts, 12,000 head; market was weak; wethers, $6.25@7.60; lambs, $6.50@7.60; lambs, $6.50@10.90.

Pittsburg Market.

Pittsburg, Sept. 1.—Hogs: Receipts, 2,500 head; market was steady; heavies, $11.50@11.65; heavy Yorkers, $11.75@12.00; light Yorkers, $11.00@11.25; pigs, $9.50@10.75.

Calves—Receipts, 100 head; market was higher; top, $13.50.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 1.—Passing of the crisis in the railroad strike situation was followed by a renewal of bullish operations today, important stocks rising a point or more at the opening, with several new high records. United States Steel was the chief feature, 5,600 shares being taken at 96¾ to 97, a maximum gain of 1⅜. The stock sold minus its regular and extra dividends of 2 ¼per cent, which makes the maximum advance equivalent to 99¼ or within one-eighth of its high record. Mercantile Marine preferred and Kelly-Springfield tire represented the new maximum. Union Pacific, Atchison and New York Central gained a point and various specialties recorded similar advances.

Reactions of one to two points resulted from the extensive profit taking of the first hour, numerous prominent issues losing all their gains with steady pressure upon the motors. Fresh buying power appeared, however, in marine preferred, Kelly-Springfield and Inspiration Copper, all of which eclipsed previous records. Rails continued sensitive, pending the outcome of developments at Washington. Trading became apathetic at midday. Bonds were lower, with heavy dealings in Anglo-French 5s.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity (radius 20 miles): Probably local showers tonight and Saturday; cooler Saturday.

For Indiana: Probably local showers tonight and Saturday; cooler Saturday and in northwest portion tonight.

For Ohio: Probably local showers tonight and Saturday; cooler Saturday and in north portion tonight.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is high over the Atlantic coast states and a high area centered over the Canadian northwest extends southward along the eastern slope of the Rockies. A low area occupies the region to the westward of the continental divide. During the last 24 hours light local showers occurred in the Canadian northwest, and light rains have occurred over an area extending from Texas northeastward over the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys to the lake region. The weather is generally warmer than the seasonal average in the central valleys and to the westward of the Rocky mountains, but in northwestern sections it is somewhat cooler than the normal.

CONTRACTOR GIVEN A GREAT SURPRISE

Woodward Unable to Understand Wife's Improvement Until Told She Had Taken Tanlac.

"I hardly knew my wife when I returned to the city after a trip of several days," H. F. Woodward, a well known Fort Wayne contractor, of 1221 Hanna street, said on April 22. "I did not know that she had been taking Tanlac and was greatly surprised at her big improvement," he added.

"My wife's system was just completely run down," Mr. Woodward continued. "She felt tired all the time and especially in the morning. She was so weak that she could not do her housework properly. Her complexion was bad.

"Mrs. Woodward's mother had taken Tanlac and profited by it and she recommended the new medicine to her. The first bottle of the medicine brought good benefits. She began to feel stronger and better and would feel rested in the mornings. She is able to accomplish her housework properly now. Tanlac certainly has helped her wonderfully."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like and is a fine reconstructive tonic.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun streets, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.—Advertisement.

FIREMAN'S HOUSE ON FIRE.

Nathan Murphy, engineer at No. 3 engine house found his own home in flames when he assisted in answering a call at seven o'clock Thursday night. A sofa in the parlor had been fired by the seven-year-old daughter who used a match to assist in finding the small scissors she dropped back of the couch. Murphy lives at 411 West Washington street. Chemicals extinguished the fire in short order. Damage of $15 is confined to the couch and floor.

LUCILLE COVINGTON

Miss Covington has filed suit for $100,000, in New York and Chicago, against Rev. Dr. John Wesley Hill of New York, widely known as a civic, industrial and international peace speaker, charging breach of promise. She says she met Dr. Hill, who is married, in Chicago in 1910. She alleges he represented himself as a widower and asked her to marry him so his children might have a mother.

WILL SERVE HALF YEAR FOR ASSAULT

Earl Collins, Negro, Who Stabbed Friend, Will Be Free in April.

Earl Collins, negro, who stabbed James McKee, 28, also colored, in a fight over a borrowed dime, on Lafayette street, two weeks ago, will hear the spring time bird songs when he regain his freedom on April 3. He was sentenced to 180 days at the state farm and fined $25 and costs when found guilty in police court Friday of the assault on McKee. The finding against Collins totals 215 days at the farm.

McKee was able to be in court, although stitches have not been removed from his breast, where he received several long cuts from the knife carried by Collins. Joe Doolin, negro, has been held in jail for the past week as a witness in the case, but was not called upon to testify.

Collins pleaded that McKee made a rush at him when they were arguing in the alley, just off of Lafayette street, and that Collins used the knife to defend himself.

Health Violation Brings Fine.

Toney Rep, Italian, employed at an ice plant, was fined $1 and costs for not having a lid on his garbage can. The health officer testified that he found the garbage heaped up in the can back of the Rep home and garbage was not wrapped as is ordered. Rep testified through an interpreter. He said he might have received a health notice on the subject of garbage, but that he could not understand English and had probably tossed it aside without finding out what it was.

George Jaap, charged with leaving the manure box on his lot open, will be tried next week. He is away from the city.

Other Police Cases.

Richard Taylor, charged with assault and battery, will be tried September 5. Jacob Oppenheimer, arrested early Friday morning, was too intoxicated to be tried and will be held under bond for hearing Tuesday.

Victor Gregory and Gene White, charged with lotering, are held under $100 bond for trial on September 6. Alonzo Fulton and Arthur Smith, taken from the court house corner on a loitering charge, Thursday afternoon, were released with orders to leave town.
